Six Americans Killed in New Viet Battles

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Six Americans have died during the past two days of hard fighting in South Viet Nam as the Communist Viet Cong intensify their effort to overrun the country. Another American is missing.

South Vietnamese military officials believe the Viet Cong has launched its winter-spring offensive. Beginning last weekend, Communist attacks increased sharply.

Communist raids and ambushes at scattered points in mountainous central Viet Nam aroused belief that the Viet Cong hopes to drive government forces from that area, adjacent to Communist North Viet Nam.

A U.S. Army officer killed Wednesday in a battle to retake a hill raised to 232 the number of Americans who have died in combat in South Viet Nam since December 1961.

A U.S. spokesman said an

Rain and snow fell in a wide crescent from the Northwest to the Gulf Coast, and made driving hazardous in some sections of Colorado and New Mexico today.

Cold weather continued to grip parts of New England and portions of the Midwest.

The temperature ranged from zero to the teens in New England, dipping below zero in the northern valleys. The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted that sunny skies and southwest winds would raise the temperature to seasonal normals.

Harrisburg, Pa., received its first measurable snowfall, one inch, Wednesday.

Workers toiled around the clock to restore electrical power cut off Friday night in a 10-county section of eastern New York. The Niagara Mohawk Power Co. of Albany said sever-

Jury Selection Continuing in Trial of Gooch

Jury selection in the Richard Gooch murder trial entered its third day. There is a chance that a jury may be finally picked late this afternoon.

All day Wednesday more than 100 prospective jurors sat in District Court hour after hour while prosecuting attorney Bob Russel and defense lawyer Tom Gresham patiently examined, accepted and rejected jurors.

The district attorney's office made it clear that it is not asking for the death penalty but will place this heavy responsibility on the shoulders of the 12 men and women who will finally be selected to decide the fate of Gooch.

Gooch, 38, a Ft. Carson sergeant, is charged with the June 13 shooting of his wife, Gloria Dean Gooch, 32, at the couple's home, 705 Main St. Mrs. Gooch died from two bullet wounds in the heart.

He pleaded innocent July 3 and entered an additional plea of innocent by reason of insanity Sept. 4.

On Oct. 1 he was found legally sane but is standing trial on both pleas.

Volunteer Fire Company Is Given $100,000

EBENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Allan A. Barker lived in this western Pennsylvania community years ago and after he left in 1915 nobody heard much of him.

But now he's well known in these parts. He has left a bequest to the Dauntless Volunteer Fire Co.

Just how sizeable the firemen didn't know until Wednesday night when attorneys told a special meeting that Barker left the fire company more than $100,000, consisting of property in the Bradenton, Fla., area and 750 shares of stock in the First National Bank of Ebensburg.

Baker was a rancher and financier in Manatee County, Fla. He died in a Bradenton nursing home on Nov. 26 at the age of 82.

No one here recalls that he was a volunteer fireman.

Convict Admits Fatal Stabbing At Penitentiary

CANON CITY (AP) — Warden Harry Tinsley said today convict Louis A. Maestas, 24, had confessed the fatal stabbing of another inmate during a movie Sunday.

No charges were filed immediately in the killing of Ralph S. Carr, also 24, of Romeo, Colo.

Tinsley said Maestas and Carr had long been buddies and that Maestas gave no reason for the slaying except to say they had a falling out. The warden quoted Maestas as saying he did not want to kill Carr, but only wanted to "put him in the hospital."

Maestas was sentenced from Conejos County on July 21, 1963, for a 2-5 year term for burglary. He was acquainted with Carr before entering the penitentiary and they once escaped together from the Alamosa jail, officers said.

Carr was stabbed as he and about 900 other inmates watched a movie in the penitentiary auditorium Sunday evening. Guard Verle Pomeroy said Maestas was seen leaving the row directly behind Carr after Carr was stabbed. Carr got up from his seat and collapsed in the aisle.

Carr, sentenced to five years for auto theft, was scheduled for release next April.

Maestas served two terms in the State Reformatory before being sent to the penitentiary, prison records showed. His admission of the slaying came after lengthy interrogation by prison officials. Maestas was one of seven inmates placed in isolation cells immediately after the killing.

New Soviet Rulers Turn To Domestic Problems

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The post-Khrushchev Soviet regime seems to have decided that attempts to restore a semblance of world Communist unity add up to a bad gamble. Apparently it has turned inward to domestic problems instead.

The 1965 budget, unveiled Wednesday in the Supreme Soviet (parliament), and accompanying official statements appear to envision a period of relatively relaxed relations with the United States. Probably this must be at the expense of improved relations with Red China and the world's impatient ultra revolutionary Communists.

Evidently the Kremlin plans a period of marking time in the global political contest while the new regime entrenches itself and decides what directions it will take in the future.

Budget statements and pronouncements from the official press in recent days have shown a marked tendency to defy Red Chinese criticism and plug ahead on the theory that the pressing needs of the Soviet internal economy cannot be shunted aside.

The statements pay lip service to world Communist unity, but there are deviations in the Kremlin attitude to delight the sniping critics of Soviet policies.

Steps toward rational development of the Soviet economy, as outlined in the budget statements, surely will bring more anguished howls from Chinese and other critics who have accused the Kremlin of infusing bourgeois ideas among the Soviet people and leading them toward capitalism.

While Soviet budget figures for arms spending often are unreliable, hiding such items in other categories, there clearly is considerable new emphasis on spending for consumers, probably at the expense of some military outlays.

There are to be a stepup in home construction, more investment in agriculture, wage increases for factory and office

Dr. King Accepts Nobel Prize; Blasts Violence

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., American Negro civil rights leader, accepted the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize today as "profound recognition that nonviolence is the answer to the crucial political and moral question of our time — the need for man to overcome oppression and violence without resorting to violence and oppression."

In companion ceremonies later in Stockholm, Sweden, Nobel awards in physics, chemistry and medicine were to be presented to two American scientists, an English woman, a German and two Russians.

Gunnar Jahn, chairman of the Norwegian Parliament's Nobel Committee, presented the gold medal and diploma in a ceremony at Oslo University on the 68th anniversary of the death of the donor, Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite.

King got the monetary award of 273,000 Swedish kroner — $53,123 — and announced he had given it to the civil rights cause.

King, 35, is the 12th American and the third Negro to win the peace prize. He was honored for asserting the principle of nonviolence in the civil rights movement.

Jahn said that King "is the first person in the Western world to have shown us that a struggle can be waged without violence.

"He is the first to make the message of brotherly love a reality in the course of his struggle and he has proclaimed

Start of Rail Strike Is Delayed by Court

By JOE DILL

CHICAGO (AP) — A disagreement over wages that could affect traffic on more than 90 per cent of the nation's railroads has moved from the bargaining table to the bench.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph Sam Perry said Wednesday he would issue a restraining order Monday forbidding three railroad shop unions representing more than 53,000 workers from striking for at least 10 days.

The order would nullify a strike scheduled for Dec. 15. Judge Perry said the restraining order would take effect Tuesday and run through Christmas Eve.

The unions issued a strike call Tuesday after negotiations with the railroads broke down in Washington. The railroads filed a petition in federal court in Chicago asking that the scheduled strike be postponed and requesting a temporary injunction.

Judge Perry said he would hear arguments for a temporary injunction after he issues the restraining order Monday.

The carriers argued that the strike deadline is an illegal attempt to compel the railroads to bargain directly with the three unions, rather than with the AFL-CIO Railway Employes Department.

The unions, in their reply, contended the court is without jurisdiction in the dispute, the railroads' complaint fails to state a claim for relief, and the three unions are autonomous and need not bargain through the employes department.

The unions involved are the Electrical Workers, Machinists and Sheet Metal Workers.

The railroads contend a nationwide work stoppage would

Ike, Nixon Tell Barry Chairman Needs Mandate

By WALTER H. MEARS

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon have told Sen. Barry Goldwater that his hand-picked GOP chairman must have a mandate, not just a majority, to stay at the helm of the party.

Nixon relayed that word after a summit talk Wednesday with the former president and the party's defeated nominee for the White House. The three party leaders met for an hour in Eisenhower's Waldorf Towers suite. Then Nixon and the former President talked separately.

Goldwater said the three all hope the rift between GOP moderates, some of them out to oust Republican National Chairman Dean Burch, and the party's conservative wing can be healed before the national committee meets in Chicago Jan. 22 and 23.

The committee will decide then whether to keep Burch as chairman.

Both Eisenhower and Nixon said they told Goldwater the party needs a broadly based leadership in the months ahead.

Nixon put it this way:

"We feel, and Sen. Goldwater

Goldwater Still Hopes to Save GOP Chairman

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Squabbling Republican factions seem likely to be offered a policy-making voice in a unity move aimed at quieting the party moderates' protests against national chairman Dean Burch.

Sen. Barry Goldwater said after meeting in New York Wednesday with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon that they agree party leadership problems can best be solved by the national committee.

This was interpreted in Washington by some influential Republicans as indicating that the defeated GOP presidential nominee hopes to save Burch's job by having the national commit-

DENVER (UPI)—A group of Colorado business leaders want Gov. John A. Love to take immediate action to correct the state inventory tax and bring new industry to the state.

In a report to Love, the 12 businessmen said they are opposed to the tax. The men are part of the Business Climate Study Committee of the Governor's Development Council. They made a study of companies throughout Colorado

The group also suggested that Colorado join other states in offering inducements to firms to build in the state.

Security Council Launches Debate On Congo Issue

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council headed into a free-for-all debate on the Congo today after voting to hear charges from both sides in the dispute.

Russia launched a bitter assault against the United States and Belgium Wednesday night in a vain attempt to block discussion of Premier Moise Tshombe's charges that Moscow has been aiding the Congolese rebels.

After a sharp exchange between the Soviet and American delegates, the council rejected the Russian demand that it ignore Tshombe's charges that at least three African countries were shipping aid to the rebels with Russia's help.

The council voted 7-4 to take up Tshombe's charges as well as the charge by 22 nations, most of them African, that the recent U.S.-Belgian paratroop operation to rescue white hostages from the rebels was interference in the Congo's internal affairs.

The debate, closed to the public to prevent demonstrations, was expected to heat up still more after Tshombe arrives Saturday to argue his case.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko called the Congo rebellion a "holy struggle" against imperialism and branded Tshombe a stooge of the West.

Terming Tshombe's charges "an awkward maneuver," he

Colorado Bar Praises Love's Judiciary Steps

Gov. John Love's action Wednesday announcing that a non-partisan committee would name a successor to the late State Supreme Court Justice Hall drew support from the Colorado Bar Association.

Attorney Alfred Heinicke of Colorado Springs, president-elect of the state association, said the executive committee of the Board of the Governors of the bar association unanimously passed a resolution commending the governor for his action.

The resolution commended the governor for "his courage in providing a non-partisan selection" of a successor to Judge Hall.

The State Bar Association has been trying to make the non-partisan selection of supreme court judges a normal thing. At present they are appointed politically.

Second Youth Camp Urged For Colorado

GOLDEN (UPI) — Colorado needs a second youth camp for teen-age delinquents to relieve crowded conditions, according to Mylton Kennedy, director of the state's Youth Services Program.

The state is building a $235,000 youth camp in Golden Gate Canyon near Golden. Kennedy said the second camp could be built at Lathrop State Park west of Walsenburg.

Kennedy supervises the Lookout Mountain School for Boys at Golden, the Mount View Girls School at Morrison, the State Children's Home in Denver and the Juvenile Parole Department.

He said the second camp is needed to correct overcrowded conditions and to improve rehabilitation of young inmates.

Kennedy testified Tuesday before the legislature's Joint Budget Committee at the Lookout Mountain School. He requested operating budgets for his four agencies totaling about $3 million for the next fiscal year, an increase of about $500,000 over the current year.

Property Mill Levy Is Boosted

By JOHN KUGLIN
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

City Council this morning scrapped the two per cent city sales tax.

There will be no sales tax election. An election would have cost $7,000 to $8,000.

Council also upped the 1965 city property tax from 12 mills to 17.44 mills. The sales tax, added to the 12 mill levy, would have equaled a 25.4 mill levy.

Initiative petitions, signed by thousands of registered city voters, forced the City Council to either scrap the sales tax or set an election date for the people to vote on the question.

Councilmen, with the exception of Harry Scurr, who was not present, voted unanimously to rescind their approval last October of the sales tax.

"I'm not going to make any statements," Mayor Harry Hoth said after the special morning Council meeting. "It's been a bloody battle. Let's work to hold

Jenkins to Be Called Next In Baker Probe

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's stormy Bobby Baker hearings have been closed down until next year after agreement was reached to call former White House aid Walter Jenkins for questioning.

The committee also decided that the "party girl" issue that has bobbed up in the Baker probe required no further investigation.

Jenkins resigned in the midst of the presidential campaign after disclosure he twice had been arrested on morals charges. His resignation was requested by President Johnson.

Charge Against Guthrie Is Dismissed

A charge against Colin James Guthrie of sending obscene letters through the mail was dismissed Wednesday afternoon by Justice of the Peace James F. Quine.

Guthrie, 35, 520 N. Tejon St., was accused of sending a number of obscene letters through the mail to a man in California.

Police Officer Dewey Gieck appeared Wednesday for the prosecution and testified he searched the defendant's apartment Nov. 2 when he asked him if he had any pornographic literature. The officer said Guthrie handed the letters and a number of photograph albums over to him.

They were produced in court and Gieck was unable to identify each individual picture though he said he could identify one. When questioned by Judge Quine

U.S. Asks Soviets to Help To Contain Viet Warfare

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson Administration has asked the new Soviet leaders to use their influence to halt Communist operations from North Viet Nam against South Viet Nam

The request was made to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko by Secretary of State Dean Rusk in the course of a series of conferences Gromyko held here with Rusk and President Johnson. Rusk also asked the Russians Wednesday to work for peace in Southeast Asia.

Gromyko conferred with Johnson at the White House for about 90 minutes. In a show of cordiality, the President escorted him to the door when the talk ended.

Gromyko said disarmament and several other subjects were discussed in his meeting with the President and added "I think that the exchange of views was useful and the atmosphere in the course of the conversation was friendly."

He did not specify the other topics taken up with Johnson. But he did say that the President welcomed the $555 million defense budget cut which was announced Wednesday by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Asked whether Johnson and he talked about the possibility of an East-West summit conference, Gromyko brushed aside the question.

Johnson was understood, however, to have developed the line that he is deeply interested in easing tensions and improving East-West relations, particularly in the field of new disarmament agreements. He has made it clear in the past that if there were constructive results in view he would be willing to go anywhere and meet with anyone for the purpose.

Gromyko said he brought to Johnson a message of best wishes from the Soviet leaders — the men who replaced Premier Nikita Khrushchev in mid-October.

An earlier meeting between Rusk and Gromyko over luncheon at the Soviet embassy produced what U.S. officials called a lively exchange on the

Three-Way Tie In Popularity Seen on Video

NEW YORK (AP) — The major television networks wound up in approximately a three-way tie in audience popularity, according to Nielsen ratings made public today.

Research departments of all three networks found that the final statistics based on Nielsen's sampling of television homes during two weeks in mid-November resulted in total ratings of 19.4 for both CBS and NBC, and 19.3 for ABC. Each rating point represents slightly over 500,000 homes, and usually is counted as representing slightly more than a million viewers.

The report found NBC's "Bonanza" the nation's most popular show, followed by ABC's "Bewitched" and CBS' "Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C."

ABC's "The Fugitive" and CBS' "Andy Griffith Show" were tied for fourth, followed by CBS' Red Skelton, "The Munsters" and "the Lucy Show." These were television's "top 10" shows for a rating period which the industry considers critical in making any schedule changes and in planning for next year's schedule.

'I Feel Fine,' Ringo Tells After Surgery

LONDON (AP) — Beatle Ringo Starr emerged from the hospital today and issued his first nontonsiled public pronouncement to 50 adoring girls.

"I feel fine," he said.

An ecstatic gasp ran through the girls — mostly office workers on the way to work — who clustered around the private entrance to the University College Hospital.

Ringo, drummer in the thick-thatched quartet, had his tonsils out eight days ago.

The girls who waited for his exit first saw a chauffeur come out with Ringo's record player. Back he went to emerge with Ringo's suitcase. Excited squeals.

These gave way to full screams as Ringo stepped out of the hospital door.

Ringo squeezed into the car after assuring one frantic inquirer that his colleague George Harrison was still unmarried. George left Wednesday night with a girl friend, Pattie Boyd, for a holiday in the Caribbean.

To stall off souvenir hunters, Ringo ordered his tonsils burned.

FORESEES NO CHANGE

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI)—U.S. Army Chief of Staff Gen. Harold K. Johnson predicted here Tuesday that there would be no American policy changes in the foreseeable future."

Johnson, on a Far East tour, visited American military installations here.

More Generous Helpings Of Food Urged for Kids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Maybe we all would be brainier if it were not for the pernicious notion that little children are entitled to less generous helpings at the table than older children and grownups.

This thought was suggested by a paper read Monday at the International Conference on Prevention of Malnutrition in the Pre-school Child. The conference, called to summarize what is known about malnutrition and means of combatting it, is being held at the National Academy of Sciences.

Lack of protein foods—everything from milk to steak—among underprivileged peoples has been called the world's most serious public health problem. Protein malnutrition in infancy and childhood has chained whole populations to misery and poverty. The damage it does is both physical and mental.

But, according to Dr. Joaquin Cravioto of Mexico City's Infants' Hospital, this kind of malnutrition is not restricted soley to the families of poor and illiterate people in underdeveloped nations.

Even among the well-to-do and educated, there are "dangerous patterns" of food distribution which keep childern under 5, who need it most, from getting their proper share.

At the time a child is born, his brain cells are multiplying furiously, manufacturing protein materials at a great rate. To make proteins, a human being must consume protein foods.

According to Cravioto, animal tests have shown that protein malnutrition retards intelligence because of effects on the brain and central nervous system. Amogn undernourished peoples, psychological investigations appear to bear this out.

Common symptoms among child victims of protein malnutrition are apathy, slow reflexes, and a tendency to withdraw from the world.

Children undernourished in the first six months of life appear to suffer a lasting "loss in intellectual potential."

So the sooner attempts are made to correct protein malnutrition the better. After age 4 such therapy produces little rise in the intelligence quotient.

Cuban Communists Denounce Congo Action

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Cuban Communist party has called a mass meeting in Havana's Central Park Friday night to denounce the "North American and Belgian brutal aggression against the Congolese people."

A Havana radio broadcast said "the United States aggression in the Congo is part of the strategy to suffocate in bloody oppression the national liberation movements of African peoples."

Prime Minister Fidel Castro and President Osvaldo Dorticos recently termed the U.S.-Belgian rescue operation as "a new and repulsive crime against international law and the sovereignty of peoples."

Film on Ice Hard Work In Hollywood

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The ice floe slithered and slathered in the freezing water and tor-swept over four miserable occupants of the floe in the Bering Straits.

A thunderous tidal wave hit the precarious perch and flung one villainous-looking man into the sea, then another tumbled in. With a scream the beautiful girl slid overboard. And finally the fourth castaway leaped into the ocean in a comic attempt to save them all.

"Okay, cut the wind machines. Save the lights," the assistant director bellowed.

It wasn't the Bering Straits after all. The ice floe was plaster. And stage No. 7 at Warner Bros. was awash with thousands of gallons of water ringed by enormous fans, rain sprinklers and dozens of crew members, many of whom were dressed in rubber suits to keep from catching pneumonia.

Standing chest-deep in the water, drenched and miserable, were Jack Lemmon, Tony Curtis, Natalie Wood and Peter Falk.

Wetly, they watched the crew laugh and applaud their scene. But the actors weren't laughing. Beneath their costumes they wore rubber suits, but the cold and physical pounding of the scene left them drained.

They climbed back on the phony ice floe and awaited further instruction.

Director Blake Edwards, clad in dry turtleneck shirt and dapper slacks, surveyed the huge set and ordered three gigantic tanks refilled — the ones that provided the tidal wave effect.

"We're going to do it again," he announced across the water. It was necessary to use a bull horn to be heard.

His four stars bowed their heads as if they'd just been given the death sentence. Bedraggled and tired, the million-dollars worth of talent appeared to be spent. The foursome has been working on "The Great Race" for six months on a dozen locations here and in Europe. They were earning their money the hard way.

Then the big lights popped on, sprinklers spewed tons of water for the giant fans to blow, the water in the tank (almost the size of a football field) was pounded to a frothing storm at sea, and finally the ice floe began its perilous rocking motion.

Again the stars plunged into the churning waters. It was a comic ballet as each performer added a bit of his own hilarity.

But it came to a screeching halt when Falk, arms and legs flying, came down heavily smack on top of Tony Curtis' head.

Curtis, swearing like a sailor above the howling of the fans and the motors of the water agitators, headed for the edge of the tank. Everyone else looked perplexed as director Edwards held up his hand, a signal for everything to stop.

Curtis was punchy from the accident, but preparations went on for another take. It's all in a day's work — a day's movie work.

American enlisted man and an Australian officer were wounded in the same battle near the provincial capital of Tam Ky, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon. Several hundred Viet Cong overran the fortified hill before government forces fought their way back.

Earlier, the Viet Cong killed a U.S. Army officer in a highway ambush in Phu Yen Province, 230 miles northeast of Saigon along the South China Sea.

A helicopter gunner was killed and a U.S. Army adviser was missing and presumed dead or captured in fighting Tuesday for a fortified hill in the An Lao mountain valley, 300 miles northeast of Saigon. Three American soldiers were killed Tuesday when the Viet Cong overran a small outpost at the southern tip of Viet Nam.

In the Communist-infested Mekong Delta, a powerful Viet Cong force attacked a government battalion early today at Ba Dua, 45 miles southwest of Saigon.

Government forces reportedly beat off the attack in a half-hour battle, killing an estimated 50 Viet Cong. Twelve government soldiers were killed and 19 wounded. American advisers took part in the defense but none were reported wounded.

Communist charges of a sea attack on a coastal village in North Viet Nam brought a statement from a U.S. Defense Department spokesman in Washington that the department had "no knowledge of any such incident."

North Viet Nam charged that three warships under command of U.S. and South Vietnamese authorities shelled a village 15 miles north of the border early Wednesday.

Security Council Launches Debate On Congo Issue

said the council should deal only with "the action of the imperialists and colonialists and their puppets in the Congo."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson replied that the Russians were trying to throw up a smokescreen to conceal charges that they played a key role in aiding the insurgents.

Stevenson said it was "almost incredible that the council should be asked to hear a complaint against those who have not intervened in the Congo, while refusing to hear the government of the country itself against those who by their own admission have."

"The Soviet Union, which has already been reported to be resupplying those who aid the rebels, is seeking in this way to protect itself from a disclosure of the facts in this sorry situation," Stevenson declared.

The American delegate said the 22 nations who charged the United States and Belgium with intervention overlooked the fact that the paratroop operation "was purely and simply a rescue mission authorized in advance by the legally constituted government of the Congo."

The United States and Belgium also came under a biting African attack.

Foreign Minister David Gonao of the Congo Brazzaville accused both nations of acting for selfish interests rather than a humane cause.

war in South Viet Nam it was on that occasion that Rusk told Gromyko the United States hoped the Soviet Union would use its influence to work for peace in Southeast Asia.

Gromyko, according to U.S. informants, told Rusk the Soviet Union thought the United States should withdraw its troops from South Viet Nam. Rusk replied that the troops were in South Viet Nam to assist the government and people there in the defense against aggression from North Viet Nam and that the United States was fully informed on infiltration of men and supplies from the north into the south.

On another subject, Gromyko asked Rusk whether he had any new information to provide on the proposed formation of a nuclear weapons force by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The Soviet Union has campaigned against such a force on the ground that it would put nuclear weapons into the hands of West Germany. He attacked the project in his talk with Rusk as a means of disseminating nuclear weapons more widely.

Rusk replied that the United States sees the measure as one which would block dissemination because the nucelar weapons supplied to the proposed force would be covered by such strict international safeguards that no one country would be able to employ them.

Gromyko's interest in plans for the force was sharpened by the fact that Johnson concluded Tuesday two days of conferences with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson in which the nuclear weapons issue was the principal one discussed.

Gromyko flew from Moscow to New York two weeks ago to attend the opening of the U.N. General Assembly. Rusk and he held a series of talks in New York before he came here.

U.S. officials said these talks have shown no Soviet change in basic foreign policy positions. They have, however, served to strengthen the impression of U.S. policy makers that the Soviet government wants to maintain friendly relations with the West and may be ready at some point in the next year to negotiate on specific issues such as new, limited disarmament measures, settlement of Russia's long-standing lend-lease debt to the United States, and trade relations.

Start of Railroad Strike Delayed by Court 10 Days

cost them a daily loss in operating revenues of $26,752,000.

They have stood solidly behind a presidential emergency board's recommendation of 27 cents-an-hour wage increase over three years.

The unions have demanded a 36 cents-per-hour increase, claiming their members receive less pay than workers in comparable industries.

A union spokesman said members of the three unions now average $2.74 per hour.

Judge Perry said he hoped the restraining order would not have to be extended beyond the 10-day period because he wanted to bring the case "to a head" by deciding the points of law.

Talks have been recessed since discussions broke down and no date has been set to resume them.

The unions postponed a strike originally set for Nov. 23 at the request of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

A union spokesman said a walkout would tie up 187 railroads and terminal and switching companies handling nearly all the nation's rail traffic.

The railroads have settled with 8 of their 11 principal nonoperating unions and all five operating unions within the emergency board's recommendations.

The only major roads not involved are the Southern Railway and the Florida East Coast Railroad. Nonoperating rail unions have been on strike against the Florida East Coast since Jan. 23, 1963.

Ike, Nixon Tell Barry Chairman Needs Mandate

agreed, that the national committee must have broad-based support — not unanimity, but a majority of one is not enough."

He made the comment after telling newsmen that Burch's own polls indicate the chairman now has the national committee votes he needs to hold onto the post Goldwater gave him.

Nixon said neither he nor Eisenhower will say or do anything publicly to influence the committee's decision.

"We do not have a candidate for the chairmanship," he said. "I am not prejudging what the national committee should do."

Eisenhower said later, "we are going to have to have a leadership that satisfies by and large all of the sections of the party and that's the committee's responsibility."

The three GOP leaders spoke separately after their meeting while Burch waited across the hall from the Eisenhower suite. The chairman said he had wanted to be on hand in case he was needed.

Goldwater spoke to newsmen first, standing on a chair in the packed lobby of the hotel to make a statement with no questions accepted.

"We see no impossible task ahead," he said. "We feel that unity can be achieved by both sides giving in this case, and that is what the three of us dedicated ourselves to achieving in the months ahead.

"We all of us want to see no blood dropping on the ground."

Eisenhower called for flexibility on the part of all Republicans.

"If you are going to get a consensus anywhere you have got to be a little bit flexible," he said. 'You can't put a square peg into a round hole."

Eisenhower said Goldwater is the titular head of the party and must take the lead in the drive for unity.

"We were very anxious that there be no blood letting," he said, "No vindictiveness to further antagonize any portion of the party."

Mrs. Wilhelmina A. Hahan, 825 S. Hancock Ave., a resident of Colorado Springs since 1888, died Wednesday at a local nursing home.

Mrs. Hahn was born in Ludell, Kan., March 18, 1886. She is survived by a daughter, Elizabeth Ann Roe, of Nevada, Mo.; a grandchild, three great grandchildren; a cousin, Ethel E. Carter, Colorado Springs, and two sisters in Oklahoma.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at the Law Drawing Room. The Rev. C. L. Moser will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Council Scraps Two Per Cent City Sales Tax

the community together," he added.

The sales tax, and two per cent use tax on items bought outside city limits by Colorado Springs' residents, was scheduled to become effective June 1. This was before the initiative petition filed by the Consumers Opposed to Sales Tax (COST) committee.

"Street improvements next year will have to be on the basis of property owners paying the cost," City Manager John Biery told reporters after the meeting.

Elimination of the sales tax eliminated funds for Biery's proposed $8.4 million capital improvements program over the next five years for parks, public works and the fire department.

The city manager said the police department would still receive an 18-man increase in 1965. He sad 10 men would be added Jan. 1 and eight April 1.

Biery listed various items, such as $34,000 for extension of Fountain Boulevard in 1965, which will be eliminated from the 1965 budget.

The budget "has been reduced to just governmental operating cost," the Council said in a prepared statement.

The $4.8 million budget adopted this morning will depend on approval of the 17.44 mill levy by the State Tax Commission.

Biery said the new mill levy would be delivered this afternoon to the Tax Commission. If approved, it will be given to County Commissioners for final approval.

Attorney Bernard Trott, spokesman for the COST commitee, addressed the Council after the sales tax was scrapped and the mill levy raised:

"We appreciate the action that has been taken by the Council. We think this is right. We are not against capital improvements."

Trott pledged COST's support to seek additional ways of raising money or studying county-wide government.

Council urged consideration of metropolitan government for El Paso County in a prepared statement read during the meeting.

"It may be legally possible for the state legislature to adopt legislation which would ease this problem, either by extension of the city limits or by permissive authority for the county to impose a sales tax," the statement said.

ing committee left for Ann Arbor, Mich. and New York City for university rallies and a national television show.

The general of the militant Free Speech Movement — the organization that staged four rallies at the university's 27,400-student Berkeley campus — expressed confidence the students will win out.

At an airport news conference, Savio dismissed claims by a state legislator and others that the movement was Communist inspired:

"I resent the Communist party getting credit for the Free Speech Movement's action," he said.

Charge Against Guthrie Is Dismissed

he admitted he had not marked the picture, and in response to a further question replied Officer Murphy had marked them.

As Officer Murphy was "not available" the photographs could not be admitted as evidence.

Turning to the letters, Gieck said he had not read all of them nor could he swear from his own knowledge that nothing had been removed or added to them since the police had seized them.

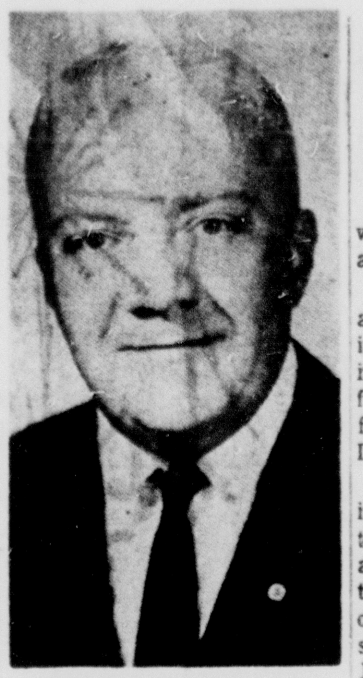
The district attorney's office represented by Bob Carvell and Dick Webster then requested the dismissal and the letters and photographs were returned to the defendant.

Bill Goodbar appeared for Guthrie.

Short Check Count Brings Woman Fine

Annette Bailey, 24, 516 Sunset Rd., was fined $15 and $12.60 costs in Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane's court Wednesday for short check.

The defendant was accused of writing a $15 short check with intent to defraud Millers Super Market Oct. 21.



RALPH WICKLUND

Ralph Wicklund Heads County Young GOPs

The El Paso County Young Republicans, at a meeting Tuesday at the Palmer House, elected Ralph Wicklund as Chairman for the coming two-year term.

Wicklund, 1316 N. Hancock St., has lived in Colorado Springs since 1952, when he arrived here after graduating from DePauw University. Married and the father of two children, Wicklund is the owner-manager of the Ben Franklin Store, in the Golf Acres Shopping Center.

A Navy veteran of World War II, Wicklund commented on his election to office that "Republicans shouldn't be discouraged by the defeat the party suffered in the recent national election, since I believe it was more a repudiation of the party's choice of candidates than of basic Republican principles."

Also elected to office were Robert T. Wilson, first vice-chairman, Miss Carolyn Bauscher, vice-chairwoman, Bob Dunlap, treasurer, and Mrs. Rose Gignac, secretary.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a recorded post-election speech by Ronald Reagan.

Rain and Snow Fall Over Wide U.S. Areas

al lines, including a 23,000-volt transmission line broke Wednesday after ice thawed and the lines snapped back into place.

Some 14,000 upstate New Yorkers remained without power.

Temperatures were in the 20s during the night in the Midwest, but were expected to warm during the day.

Kentucky, still short of rainfall for the year, was spattered with intermittent precipitation.

Alamosa, Colo., registered a 24 below zero.

The Weather Bureau said a storm that brought snow to the western and northwestern areas would spread into the eastern section. Mountain passes were snowpacked.

Reclamation Bureau Awards Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1,491,599 U.S. Bureau of Reclamation contract for a 54-mile, 230,000-volt transmission line from Glenrock to the Glendo area in southeastern Wyoming was awarded today to a Denver firm.

The Malcolm W. Larson Contracting Corp. was the lowest of 10 bidders.

The bureau said construction of the line will provide additional transmission facilities needed for growing loads of electric power in that section of the Missouri River Basin System.

Parking Meter Moratorium Set

RATON, N.M. (AP) — The City Commission declared Wednesday a moratorium on all parking meters until Dec. 28.

The action was taken to accommodate Christmas shoppers. Some merchants put Christmas wrapping paper over the meters in front of their stores.

In a similar period a year ago, $450 was collected from the city's 320 meters.

Woman Pleads Guilty To Shoplifting Count

Mildred Miller, 25, 124 E. Costilla St., pleaded guilty in Justice of the Peace James F. Quine's court Wednesday to shoplifting and was fined $25 and costs of $7.80.

According to the information filed against the defendant, she stole goods worth $1.65 from Simms Super Market Nov. 28.

with whom he had been closely associated for 25 years.

The Senate Rules Committee announced no date for questioning Jenkins as part of its probe into the outside business and financial dealings of Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Jenkins' name was brought into the inquiry months ago in testimony by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, about the purchase of advertising time on an Austin, Tex. television station controlled by President Johnson's family.

Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., the committee chairman, said he would issue a statement later on decisions taken at a closed meeting Wednesday that lasted for four hours.

Disclosure that Jenkins would be called for questioning came from Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., at the start of a public hearing following the closed meeting of the committee.

Cooper said he felt compelled to reveal the committee's decisions since he had been informed that Jordan had told newsmen he thought the Kentucky senator was 'happy" about what had taken place at the meeting.

Jordan said in reply he had not intended to infer that Cooper had agreed with the actions taken by the committee's Democratic majority.

Cooper said that except for calling Jenkins, he had not been in agreement with the committee's major decisions and, in fairness to him and other GOP committee members, the record should show this.

Reynolds testified earlier this year that, at Jenkins' request, he had bought $1,200 worth of unwanted advertising time on the Johnsons' Austin television station.

This was before Johnson became president. Reynolds had sold him two $100,000 life insurance policies.

Jenkins, in a sworn statement to committee investigators, denied knowledge of the arrangements for Reynolds' purchase of the television time. Republican committee members repeatedly demanded, however, that Jenkins be called for questioning. They were outvoted by the Democrats.

A committee member said that Jenkins' condition will have a major bearing on when he will be questioned and whether a public or closed-door hearing will be held. Jenkins was hospitalized with what his doctor described as "nervous exhaustion" when his arrests became known. Later he left the hospital and returned home.

Cooper said the committee decided over his protest that the "party girl" issue would be dropped. He referred specifically to FBI files obtained by the committee on Mrs. Ellen Rometsch, a West German beauty who has been linked to the Baker circle.

Cooper said he tried unsuccessfully to have a decision on this issue deferred until the two other Republican members of the committee, Sens. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, could be present.

In addition, Cooper said, he was voted down when he offered a motion to take testimony on what he called allegations of unlawful political contributions by officials of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Left open until a later meeting, Cooper said, was a decision on whether the committee should probe into charges made by Reynolds last week in secret testimony. One committee member has described the testimony as "pretty lurid."

"The Colorado Bar Association takes great pride in its continuing effort to improve the courts and the judicial process in the State of Colorado and greatly appreciates the governor's endorsement of the association work by instituting at this time the presently proposed system of judicial selection," Heinicke said.

Love said he would announce the names of the selection committee at a later date.

workers and substantial increases in the light and foood industries.

There are increases in social-cultural outlays, for health and education, and in pensions which, according to the announcement, will raise the number of Soviet pensioners to more than 30 million.

Planning henceforth will be on the basis of customers' orders not only in the consumer industries but in other branches, the regime said. Restrictions on private garden plots of farmers will be lifted and material incentives for production will be increased.

In the field of foreign policy, Premier Alexei Kosygin vowed continued Soviet support for revolutionary movements in Asia, Africa and Latin America. But at the same time he plumped for developing better relations with the United States and other Western nations. He laid heavy stress on developing trade with the West over a long period.

Goldwater Still Hopes to Save GOP Chairman

tee set up an all-faction leadership council to voice party policies.

Burch, who represents Goldwater's conservative views, thus would be subordinated as a spokesman for the party.

Committee members confirmed reports that Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee, have kept the phone lines hot trying to drum up support for Burch at the forthcoming Jan. 22-23 showdown meeting of the committee in Chicago.

Miller, who preceded Burch as national chairman, denied he was making any canvass of the committee.

"I'm just practicing law," he said.

Republican governors already have proposed setting up a policy council. Such a move has been approved by House minority leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has indicated a willingness to consider the proposal.

Although some of the governors have called for the replacement of Burch, they thus far have been unable to find a candidate willing to have his name put up as a rival.

Charles Percy, defeated in the governors' race in Illinois, was reported to have rejected suggestions that he offer himself as a replacement for Burch.

Ray Bliss, Ohio state chairman and national committeeman, has said he would accept the job only if it were given to him unanimously, a circumstance not likely to evolve.

Ohio's Robert Taft Jr. has said he isn't interested in the chairmanship. Former chairman Leonard W. Hall also was said to have signaled disinterest.

In these circumstances, Goldwater's critics may have to settle for compromise that would mute Burch's policy pronouncements but leave him in charge of the party machinery.

At 9:18 a.m. today firemen went to the new K Mart to wash gasoline from the pavement where a car had overturned.

Tire, Tools Stolen From Parked Car

A car was burglarized of a tire and tools worth a total of $48, police reported.

Lubin Quintana, 814 S. Weber St., told police his car had been burglarized while it was on the street in front of his house. He said he couldn't lock the back door of the station wagon.

Gyps Are Still Operated in Yule Gift Buys

By LEROY POPE
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Christmas shopping season is also the annual golden harvest season for the gyp artist, President Kenneth B. Wilson of the National Better Business Bureau warned today.

Some of these sharp operators make so much money in the Yule season by trimming the unwary that they don't have to work the rest of the year.

Some of their shoddy merchandise rackets and outright thefts are carried on the year around—but activity is stepped up between Thanksgiving day and Christmas.

Wilson warned folks to watch out for these swindles, always prevalent this time of year—

Street corner hawkers peddling cheap watches, fake perfumes, ramshackle toys and other shoddy goods.

Mail order ads or telephone solicitors offering well known branded merchandise at suspiciously low prices. When the goods finally come, they turn out to be cheap imitations.

Hustlers who harass business men who buy Christmas gifts in quantity or solicit orders at factory gates.

Solicitors of gifts for phony charities.

Some of the rackets are outright theft—such as the "delivery man" who tries to get you to pay the C.O.D. charge on a package for your neighbor who isn't home. When the package is opened it contains waste paper.

"Perfume rackets are the biggest Christmas swindle headache," Wilson said, "because perfume is such a popular gift."

Water Resources Plann'ng Is Urged

DENVER (AP) — A committee of the Interstate Conference on Water Problems urged today passage in the next Congress of the Water Resources Planning Act.

The conference opened a two-day meeting. The policy committee recommended the conference reaffirm its support of passage of the planning act.

Harold G. Wiln, commissioner of conservation in New York, is chairman of the committee.

The conference is an adjunct of the Council of State Governments.

Rep. Wayne NM Aspinall, D - Colp, in an address to the conference stressed the need for such legislation as the planning act. It provides for joint federal-interstate river basin planning and coordination of efforts through a federal water resources council, plus a grant program to help the states.

Aspinall, chairman of the House Interior Committee, said "in recent years we have begun to realize that water supplies are not limitless and that many factors are combining to reduce plenty to scarcity."

He described the planning act establishing a uniform policy as well as making the best use of a limited resource.

Ike Makes Slip In New York Speech

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had Republicans on his mind while speaking in New York before an insurance group Wednesday. It was prior to his summit meeting with Barry Goldwater and Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower's text read at the end: "To be the kind of American that will make his fellow citizens proud of him." He inadvertently substituted "Republican" for "American," quickly caught himself and commented amid laughter:

"The subconscious sometimes will break through."

Acheson Blasts 'Moralism' in Policies of U.S.

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson says moralistic maxims should be eliminated from the conduct of United States foreign policy.

He said they often confuse a decision on "such complicated matters as the multilateral nuclear force, a common grain price in Europe, policy in Southeast Asia, or exceptions and disparities under the Kennedy Round of tariff negotiations."

Examples Acheson gave of moralisms and slogans were the concept that the United States should refrain from using force in all circumstances, the principle of self-determination applied to all situations and the idea of foreign aid as "sharing brotherly love."

His criticism came in a speech at an Amherst College symposium Wednesday.

"Only the end can justify the means" in foreign affairs, he said. But, he cautioned, "this is not to say that the end justifies any means, or that some ends can justify anything."

Morals and ethics have their place in foreign policy, he said, but they "must be used with discretion."

Acheson said the United States has the goal of preserving and fostering an environment where free society can exist and flourish. And in fostering that principle, he said the ends are often called upon to justify the means.

As secretary of state to President Harry S. Truman from 1949 to 1953, Acheson said he was advised to oppose development of the H-bomb.

"I was advised then that our nation should perish rather than produce such a devastating weapon as the thermonuclear bomb," he said.

"As a compassionate human I could understand the reason for the advice," Acheson said, "but as a public official I had to reject it and support the development."

In foreign affairs, Acheson said, an excess of moral and ethical ideas can lead to a preoccupation with how a country does things rather than what a country does.

"This is a major pitfall of moralists in government," he said. "Cautiously, we are surviving by using threats of death against those who threaten to topple our system." He added:

FURTHER EXPANSION

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although strikes in the auto industry had a significant impact on business in October and November, the underlying strength of the domestic economy appears sufficient to support further expansion, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York said Wednesday.

Factors supporting further business expansion, the bank said in its December business review, include expectation of record Christmas sales, continued advance of personal income and employment.

Restoration of Adjutant General Being Sought

CHEYENNE Wyo. (AP) — A civil action asking for the restoration of Maj. Gen. George O. Pearson as state adjutant general has been filed in the Wyoming Supreme Court.

Pearson was fired from his post as head of the Wyoming National Guard Nov. 25 by Republican Gov. Nliff Hansen, who charged him with malfeasance in office.

The civil action was filed by former Gov. and Sen. J. J. Hickey and Henry Burgess of Sheridan, both attorneys for Pearson.

Hickey said Pearson was removed from his post without benefit of a hearing before a military tribunal. He called the firing "an unwarranted move of power."

The court action seeks a writ that would prohibit the governor from removing Pearson as adjutant general.

Hickey said Hansen had failed to comply with specific provisions of the statutes that apply to military personnel in state government.

The statute quoted by Hickey states that officers appointed in the National Guard shall hold their positions until they have reached the age of 64, unless retired prior to that time "for cause to be determined by a court martial or efficieney board."

Hansen had used a statute stating that the governor has the power to remove any official appointed by the governor in cases of malfeasance.

Pearson was appointed to the top military post in 1962 by acting Gov. Jack Gage, a Democrat.

Pearson was charged with falsifying and fabricating official records, and misappropriating funds belonging to the state.

British candidates for office do not have to live in their constituency.

Bank in Savannah Restores Its Rate

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — The Citizens Southern National Bank, originator of a movement to hike prime interests rates, restored its lending rate today to 4½ per cent.

The bank raised the cost of borrowing money to 4 3-4 per cent late in November and two banks, in Boston and Los Angeles, followed suit.

President Johnson expressed concern over the move, saying it might slow the country's economy. The First National Bank of Boston rescinded its hike last Thursday.

Officials of the Boston bank said they acted in deference to the President's wishes.

Mills B. Lane, president of Citizens Southern, Georgia's largest banking chain, was asked whether he had been requested by the President to take today's action. He said he had not.

His only comment was "we have restored the prime interest rate."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee has decided to pursue a broad investigation next year into the administration of justice. It will examine, among other things, wiretapping, bail procedures and the press, radio and television's effect on trials and pretrial examinations.

The subcommittee, meeting Wednesday, scrapped the terms of the earlier resolution that fixed the scope of its inquiry as an investigation of the Department of Justice, particularly the prosecution of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa.

State Branch Banking Law Will Be Tested

GOLDEN (UPI)—A $22.5 million suit filed by a Denver area bank to test the state's branch banking laws was on file today in Golden District Court.

The suit was filed by the Westland Industrial Bank. It charges Delta Acceptance Corp. Ltd., of London, Ontario, Canada, with operating in Colorado illegally, five Denver-area industrial banks of branch banking and Colorado bank commissioner Frank E. Goldy of failure to enforce the state's anti-branch banking laws.

Defendants are Goldy, Delta Acceptance, the five Denver-area industrial banks and 20 officers of the Canadian firm and the Denver banks.

The suit asks $15 million in actual damages and $7.5 million in exemplary damages.

Denver attorney Francis P. Salazar represents the Westland Industrial Bank, which is protesting the granting of a charter to the proposed Lakewood Colorado Industrial Bank.

Goldy's records show an application for the Lakewood bank was filed several weeks ago.

Better Lighting Proposed For White House Grounds

By WILLIAM J. EATON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House: A new plan to light the White House at night has been advanced without great hopes of approval by President Johnson.

The Chief Executive insists that he has not ordered a single outdoor light turned off since he moved into the Executive Mansion. But his lights-off directive applied to the indoors has given the White House a darker appearance to passers-by.

A local newspaper (Washington Star) recently gave prominent display to an interview with William J. Locklin, described as an electrical engineer from Redlands, Calif., who specializes in what he calls "nightscaping."

Locklin recently spent a few days in the capital to look over the White House grounds and visit illuminated public buildings. He came up with a plan of low-intensity lighting that he said would bathe the presidential mansion in a pale glow similar to moonbeams.

He would use hundreds of lights, scattered around the White House grounds, to illuminate the mansion with reflected light.

"There would be no big searchlights directed on the house," Locklin told the newspaper. "I can't imagine anything worse . . . this is a man's home and we cannot invade his privacy. But, in a sense, it belongs to all of us, and we can reasonably ask him to share it with us."

He calculated it would cost $100,000 to arrange the White House lighting and about $1,000 a year to keep the lights turned on from dusk to midnight the year around. This compares to an original cost of $205,000 for illumination of the Washington Monument and $132,600 to pay for the permanent lighting installation at the Jefferson Memorial.

Despite this no-glare proposal, however, there is little reason to believe that Johnson favors additional illumination at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. And the timing—in the midst of his multi-billion dollar budget-paring campaign—is not the best.

75 Attacks on U.S. Libraries Abroad Noted

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's become increasingly tempting in certain circles abroad to register a protest by sacking the nearest U.S. Information Agency library and burning its books.

Since 1947 there have been 75 violent incidents involving American libraries. This year there has been a new high — 16 incidents in 10 different countries, according to the agency.

Brazilian students disapproved of an increase in bus fares so they smashed the windows of the USIA library. In Cairo, Egyptian mobs protested the U.S. landing of Belgian paratroopers in the Congo by wrecking the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

Bolivia tops the list with five library wrecking demonstrations this year. Indonesia is next with three. Other countries include Panama, Cambodia, Colombia, Pakistan, Ceylon and the Sudan.

The fiery trend has aroused Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who warned Wednesday that "these violent acts cannot but affect relationships between nations."

In a public statement that did not name countries, Rusk said while the United States promptly files protests and asks for apologies and reparations "this is not a satisfactory substitute for prevention."

"The U.S. government has noticed the tendency of these violent assaults to recur in certain countries," Rusk said. "And it is especially concerned about violent acts which appear to be connived at or acquiesced in by authorities of the host state, or in which the authorities are slow in taking action to control mobs of rioters."

U.S. Information Agency Director Carl T. Rowan was more blunt in a speech this week in Cleveland:

"I have been beset by anger, and then pity, as I have read of the senseless mobs in the UAR (United Arab Republic), in Indonesia, and other places smashing library buildings and destroying books.

"Many times these last few days I have remembered John Milton's warnings: 'As good almost kill a man as kill a good book; who kills a man kills a reasonable creature, God's image; but he who destroys a good book kills reason itself.' "

The USIA operates 178 libraries and 66 reading rooms. It supports 148 binational centers around the world where the United States supplies the books and periodicals while the staff salaries of the librarians are paid for by the host government.

The USIA budget includes $1,436,000 for information centers and $3,480,000 for low-priced books.

The U.S. library centers are in competition with extremely heavy book programs of the Soviet Union and Communist China. But the Soviet and Chinese Communist program has not drawn the fire of student demonstrations. For one thing, the Communists distribute their books through local booksellers who make them available at cut-rate prices.

The USIA has estimated in testimony to Congress that the Soviet Union produces 40 million books a year for distribution abroad and orders another 100 million books and pamphlets printed and distributed in foreign lands.

Building of the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City, Utah, required 40 years, from 1853 to 1893.

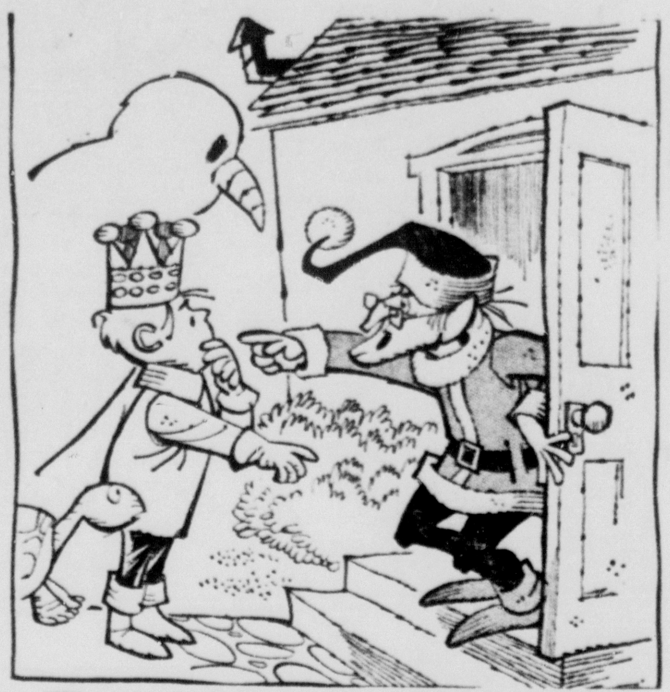
SANTA and the SINGING TURTLE

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Prince Chad, the Singing Turtle, and the Snowman arrive in Santa Land to attend the Christmas Music Festival.

CHAPTER SIX
PATRICK TWEEDLEKNEES



"Who are you anyway?" Tweedleknees said fussily.

"Santa Land" read the big sign on the snow station.

"We're really here!" exclaimed the Prince. "I can't believe it."

"I can," said the one-eyed Snowman, taking in deep breaths of the icy air. "I feel better already. Why in this climate, I will last ten thousand years!"

"But where are the musicians?" wondered George. "I was sure I would hear them practicing."

"Let's go see!" cried Prince Chad.

He darted away from his slow, plodding companions and raced across the snow-covered fields past row on row of workshops, barns and stables. He came to a little red-shuttered house with smoke curling from the chimney. He knew this was it — Santa Claus' house.

He walked all around it and peeped through the curtained windows. He tapped softly at the door. There was no answer.

George and the Snowman finally arrived. George said impatiently, "Knock louder, for goodness' sake!"

The Prince knocked and the Snowman pounded with his heavy fists and George tapped with his little tail. Suddenly the door flung open.

There stood Patrick Tweedleknees, a crooked-legged, bent-backed, near - sighter elf who clearly had just been awakened from a very fine sleep and did not at all like being disturbed.

"Stop that Hullabaloo " he shouted. "Can't you see I'm working?"

The Prince was so astonished he stepped backwards, tripped over George and fell off the porch. The elf peered at him and said fussily, "Who are you anyway and what's that thing on your head?"

"I am Frederick Chadwick Anthony Matthew Christopher John," stammered the Prince. "The thing on my head is a crown because I am soon to be King of Razenpie. Could we see Santa Claus, please"

"Santa Claus!" He's gone to the Music Festival, as you should certainly know if you are about to be a king."

"The Music Festival!" cried George in alarm. "But we have come here to the Music Festival. I am to sing!"

"Sing if you wish but no one at the Festival will hear you," Snapped Tweedleknees. "The Festival is in Fairyland. It begins tomorrow and you can never get there in time."

George was stunned with disappointment. He pulled his head inside his shell. Then he pulled his feet in and his tail, too.

"Now see what you have done," said the Snowman towering over the elf. "You've broken his heart!"

"Me!" protested Tweedleknees angrily. "I'll have you know tomorrow is Christmas Eve and I have my hands full getting everything ready, doing all the work, taking all the responsibility while Santa's away having all the fun. Then you come along and blame me because you came to the wrong place! Well, I say pooh to you." With that the elf went in the house and slammed the door.

The three visitors sat on the steps. The Prince said, "I never thought Santa Land would be like this." And the Snowman said, "I don't even want to stay here any more." George said nothing, but two big tears rolled out from under his shell.

Suddenly the door flung open and Patrick Tweedleknees was back. "I can't stand this racket," he grumbled. "I'll send you to Fairyland. Make your racket there."

George's head darted from his shell. "You mean — you can get us there in time for me to sing"

"I can see it's the only way I am to have any peace." snapped Tweedleknees. "Meet me at workshop number six in two hours and I will give you boots that will get you to Fairyland before tomorrow's dawn."

"Oh," said George gratefully. "I will sing for you now!"

"Spare me!" retorted Tweedleknees. "It's the least you can do." And turning on his heels he stalked off to workshop number six.

Tomorrow: A Day in Santa Land.

Out-Patient Mental Care Is Proposed

WHEAT RIDGE (UPI)— Due to crowded conditions, the Colorado Institutions Department wants the Legislature to appropriate $250,000 for mentally retarded persons outside state institutions.

Dr. Wesley White, chief of the Division of Mental Retardation, said the pressure on the State Home and Training School at Wheat Ridge and another institution at Grand Junction would increase greatly during 1964.

He said combined waiting lists at the two institutions is more than 300, of which 125 are considered "acute emergencies."

The requested appropriation would pay for space in foster homes or other community facilities.

White made the request as the legislature's Joint Budget Committee held a hearing at the Wheat Ridge institution.

He also requested $4.3 million to operate the Wheat Ridge school in fiscal 1965-66—an increase of $900,000 over the current year—and $2.8 million to operate the Grand Junction school, an increase of $700,000.

Patricia Priest Joins Monster Series on TV

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Ivy Baker Priest was treasurer of the United States during the Eisenhower administration. Her daughter Pat has joined the cast of a monster series on television.

While mother's signature may still be found on U.S. currency, daughter will be seen in "The Munsters," replacing Beverley Owen as the only member of the regular cast without a green face.

Pat is blonde, blue-eyed, aristocratic and absolutely beautiful.

During her years in Washington, D.C., Pat was queen of everything in sight: Queen of the President's Cup Regatta, queen of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, queen of the First International Azalea Festival, and, well. . .like that.

She was also one of the most dazzling debutantes in memory of the political and diplomatic set.

And now look, she's surrounded by a pack of monsters.

Televiewers won't get a look at Pat until Dec. 31 when she makes her debut on the CBS-TV series. Her appearance among the dimbulbs on the show may come as something of a shock to her old classmates at Marjorie Webster School for Girls — not to mention her distinguished mother.

"Fortunately people don't associate me with my mother here in Hollywood as they did in Washington," Pat said during lunch in the Universal Commissary.

"Back East they made a fuss over me and my sister Nancy because mother was treasurer. I never resented it because her fame opened up a whole world to us. I even had a television show back there."

Pat's show biz career began at age 16 when her mother was directing a church group road show in Utah.

"We lived in Bountiful, Utah, (population: 5,000)," Pat admitted unself - consciously. "And when we moved from that little place to Washington, D.C., it was something like the 'Beverly Hillbillies' moving from the sticks to Beverly Hills.

"But I hated to leave the little town because I was madly in love with one of the local boys."

When Pat was chosen queen of the Regatta her escort was a young White House aide, Navy officer Pierce Jensen—and he's been escorting her ever since. The Jensens live in Thousand Oaks, Calif., and have a sharp pair of sons named Lance and Pierce.

Jagan to Fight For Survival In Guinea

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — Charging irregularities in the general election that cost him his legislative majority, Marxist Premier Cheddi Jagan maneuvered today to remain in the government of British Guiana.

Jagan made clear he would fight attempts to install a coalition government made up of Forbes Burnham's Negro People's National Congress and Peter D'Aguiar's ultra-conservative United Force.

Instead, Japan, leader of the British colony's East Indians, proposed that he and Burnham join forces in a coalition as "the quickest way to achieve national independence and economic and social peace."

If Jagan achieved such a coalition, and with the East Indians outnumbering the Negroes 3 to 2, he would be in a good position to win the next election.

But the possibility of Burnham agreeing to a coalition with Jagan was considered remote. Jagan telephoned his proposal to Burnham and the latter replied, "If you send me a proposal in writing, then I'll study it."

Burnham, a moderate Socialist, has refused to team up with Jagan before.

Burnham said he had talked with D'Aguiar in general terms about a partnership. He said he anticipated no difficulties in getting together with the conservative leader.

The final official count from Monday's election showed Jagan's People's Progressive party received 109,332 votes, or 45.8 per cent, and 24 National Assembly seats. Burnham's party had 96,657 or 40.5 per cent, worth 22 seats, and D'Aguiar's forces got 29,612 or 12.4 per cent, and 7 seats.

The Burnham-D'Aguiar coalition favored by British Gov. Sir Richard Luyt would have a five-seat margin over Jagan's party.

Jagan achieved a vote plurality, just as he did in becoming the colony's first premier in 1961. But he did not get a majority, which was necessary to stay in power under the proportional representation system the British adopted to get Jagan out.

Jagan met all day Wednesday with the executive board of his party, then issued a statement charging that widespread use of proxy votes "had a decisive effect in the results of rigged and premature elections."

Jagan said the question of his resignation from the premiership was under discussion with his legal advisers. "I can't say what they will do just yet," he said.

Mrs. Lee Trott celebrated her birthday Nov. 29 with a family dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Jean Nunn, of Bridgeport, Neb., were here for the occasion.

This Wednesday, Dec. 9, the Pine Cone Club will hold their meeting for this month and have an early Christmas dinner. The meeting will be held at the 4-Mile Hall with Mrs. Art Bumgarner and Mrs. Willard Werley serving as hostesses.

The annual Christmas program will be held at Four-Mile Hall Friday, Dec. 18. The children in the community will take part in presenting a Christmas program then Santa will arrive with his gifts and bags of candy and nuts. Everyone is invited to attend.

It snowed all day last Thursday but melted as soon as it fell. Friday morning we awoke to find about two to three inches of snow on the ground and some of the surrounding areas received closer to four inches of snow. Temperatures have fallen to the coldest so far this winter. The last few morning, the thermometers have registered anywhere from zero to 10 degrees below, and the mercury did not rise very much during the day.

Just two weeks ago, we reported the Smith house in Guffey was completely destroyed by fire. Now another old landmark has burned. The house on the Witcher unit of the MacDannald ranch was burned to the ground early Saturday morning. This ranch unit was located on the south side of the 11-Mile reservoir. The Clolinger family had lived there just a few months.

There were three more who celebrated their birthdays here last week. December 3, Nancy West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde West, celebrated her 17th birthday. December 4, was the birth date of both Mrs. Louise Hyde and George A. West.

After the hundreds of deer hunters that were in this area during hunting season we hardly expected to see many deer left, but this morning there were three bucks in our back yard. A large bobcat was spotted here a couple of days ago.

The Mother-Daughter banquet was held Monday night, Dec. 7, at the Canon City high school, at 6:30.

Automation Creates Jobs, Wirtz Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz told a manpower conference Wednesday night that he is convinced automation makes more jobs than it destroys.

But, he said he is "equally convinced that, given automation, or more precisely, given the maximum anticipated rates of increased productivity and economic growth, the unemployment rate in the United States would very probably continue at substantially 5 per cent or more in the absence of an affirmative manpower policy."

Driver Gets Warning on Signal Lights

Judge Allan Asher Wednesday in Municipal Court converted a traffic signal violation against Lorin Wilhelm to a warning but cautioned the 75-year old man that the amber light at Pikes Peak and Hancock Avenues remains on only three seconds.

The width of Pikes Peak, he pointed out, is 100 feet and said it is almost impossible to clear the intersection when entering on the amber light.

Wilhelm, 703 N. Foote Ave., was cited Oct. 21 by Patrolman Victor Morris who testified that he was parked on Hancock observing traffic. He said Wilhelm was more than 100 feet south of the intersection when the light changed to amber, made no attempt to slow down or stop, and went through the intersection on the red light.

Wilhelm claimed the light was yellow as he drove over the crosswalk, going north on Hancock, and he had no choice but to continue through as he would have been hit by cars going east and west on Pikes Peak.

Judge Asher said he would make the ticket a warning as the man has no previous record.

David Honea, 24, 743 High St., was found guilty of a traffic signal violation and was fined $25 because it was his third traffic charge this year. Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac's motion for a charge of following too close against Honea was dismissed for insufficient evidence.

Mitchell Pullman, Ft. Carson, was found not guilty of displaying a for sale sign in a parked car.

Fred Sorensen, 2206 Parkview Blvd., had a $5 bond ordered forfeited on his failure to appear for his trial on a charge of parking against a yellow curb.

Two youths, George Harper, 17, 2808 N. Tremont St., and Allan Osgood, 18, 917 Carlisle St., received fines of $40 on traffic charges because it was their third each this year. Both pleaded guilty to speeding charges.

The judge suspended $25 of Harper's fine and $15 of Osgood's on condition they attend a traffic lecture Dec. 16 in the City Auditorium, and have no further violations for the ensuing year.

Charles Baker, 19, Ft. Carson, was fined $50 on his guilty pleas to careless driving and failing to yield the right of way.

A $15 fine wss levied against Mrs. Margaret Jackson, 34, 918 Del Monte St., on her guilty plea to following too close, and a $25 fine was levied against Ronald Wagoner, 17, 310 Sunset Rd., on his guilty plea to careless driving.

Robert Kidwell, 52, Imperisl Hotel, pleaded guilty to being drunk and was fined $25. William Okerberg, Yuma, Arizona, pleaded not guilty to breach of peace and drunk charges. His trial was set for today

Bethany Baptist To Give Popular Church Cantata

A dramatic production of one of the most popular of contemporary church cantatas, The Night of Miracles, will be presented at 7:30 p.m., Sunday, at the Bethany Baptist Church, 1930 W. Colorado Ave., it was announced by the Rev. C. L. Moser, pastor of the church.

The event will be produced with special lighting effects, with special narrator, and special dramatic arrangements, with choir and soloists.

The event, the Rev. Moser said, will offer an opportunity for the Colorado Springs audience to hear a cantata which has been phenomenal in its popularity in the United States. The work, composed by John W. Peterson, has already sold 600,000 copies, and is expected to reach the one million mark in a year or two, which makes it perhaps one of the most remarkable church cantatas in America.

The Bethany Baptist, which has a city-wide congregation, is offering the cantata as a gift to the community. The concert will be open to the general public free of charge.

The music will be presented by the church choir of thirty voices, under direction of John Fetler, Director of Music. Organist will be Betty Sperry, and Helen Hensen as pianist. Joyce Nelson will be the soprano soloist; Bill Schleif, baritone, and Bob Gordon, baritone.

The narrative portions of the cantata will be narrated by Roland Marts. The lighting design will be by George Chisholm, with Steve Sperry and Roger French in charge of the lights. The amplification system will be operated by Carl Sperry.

New Zorach Sculpture Milestone in City's History

By JOHN FETLER
ARTS CRITIC

A sculpture group by one of the world's most famous sculptors, William Zorach, will be dedicated at 10:30 a.m., in front of the Columbia Savings and Loan Ass., downtown in Colorado Springs. Civic leaders and officials will attend the dedication ceremony, which brings to Colorado Springs one of the major works of the world of art. The addition o fthis sculpture group, entitled "The Family," is a milestone in the art history of the Pikes Peak Region.

It is quite remarkable that the businesss firm has seen fit to acquire the Zorach sculpture group, and to place it in a large niche, facing Pikes Peak Ave., right downtown where thousands of people will see it every day.

True, the acquiring of a Zorach sculpture is a wise and fine investment by any business firm, and investment in art of this kind is being done more and more by outstanding bsuiness firms in the country, specially in the East, and also on the West Coast.

But in the interior of the United States, the trend has not yet reached significant proportions. Therefore, the placing of such statuary in Colorado Springs is a historical, as well as artistic landmark, and Columbia Savings and Loan is pioneering in an elightened philosphy of art patronage, which is complementary to the idea of the service to the public which the business firm conducts.

I went to see Zorach at the Broadmoor the other evening, after he returned from a side trip to Leadville. He is a genial, older gentleman, whose rugged face and hands show the lifetime of work which he has dedicated to the art of sculpture. He can be called the grand man of sculpture today.

Zorach has been an artist for 60 years now. And he has exhibited his work for over 50 years. Reminiscing about his lifetime of work, he remarked somewhat wistfully: "I'm one of the last of the traditionalists."

His style could perhaps be divided into two groups: The one which he uses for such monumental figures as Benjamin Franklin, and monumental statuary as at the World's Fair; and the other, which is more intimate, and which reflects his interest in all things human.

"Art," he said reflectively, his gaze steady as a rock, his hard-working, sinewy hands relaxed on the arm rest of the couch, "art is a sort of mystical thing. But nobody who is successful in art comes into the world full-blown. We have our ancestors."

By that he means that every artist has to know, and draw on, the accumulated spirit and knowledge of the past, from the earliest ages to the present.

He explained: "The artist must have an innate discrimination in taste to choose his own ancestor.'" The artist with innate taste will seek out the finest, the most profound, in the art through the ages so that the artistic influence can continue to grow through him, so that he can leave something of the same for future ages.

He explained that through all of the art of the great ages there runs a "red thread."

He was explicit in explaining that it is not a matter of copying older works. "You have to get the sense of the quality, the eternal quality," he emphasized. For, art is a revelation. It comes at moments of receptivity. We must know when this receptivity works in us."

And from where does this art come? Zorach used his words like he might use the hammer and chisel for one of his marble or granite sculptures. "The work of art emanates from life. The power comes from the artist. Art is a seeing in nature and life an element of magic. The artist expresses the emotional and the eternal. Art is a vision. Art, basically, emenates out of love. Love for everything, for humanity, for nature. Art is a feeling. If it is not, it is only a decoration."

Asked about how to become a successful artist, Zorach gave a look in which was expressed a life-long accmuulation of work. "Work like a horse," he said. Then he addded as an afterthought: "You must have a strong back, and you must be able to bounce back. Every time after a setback."

The sculpture which will be dedicated Friday, with the world famous sculptor present, in a way symbolic of the vast commercial task in which the Columbia Savings and Loan enterprise is engaged.

"It is a lyrical family group," said H. Eugene Combs, assistant vice president and managing officer of Columbia Savings. "The mother is reading to her youngest child, while the father and son stand protectively behind them.. The sculpture is 8½ feet high, and rests on a granite base four feet high and six feet square."

It is indeed a monumental work, which has been added to the Colorado Springs scene. As Combs explained: "'Colorado Springs is a city where beauty and the fine arts are deeply appreciated. This interest inspired Columbia Savings to present to the people of our city a bronze of distinction by the world's most renowned sculptor since Rodin. It is our belief that businesss firms have a responsibility to contribute to the cultural attributes of their communities."

The wonder of life and nature always have entered deeply into Zorach's work. At one time he wrote: "In the growth of every blade of grass and flower, every child and animal, every breeze and storm, is the significance of the greater mystery around us." And this is expressed in his monumental family group at Columbia Savings downtown in Colorado Springs, endowing this bronze sculpture group of family life with tenderness and dignity

Vandals Delay Ice Rink Opening

Vandals have delayed opening of the Security Park and Recreation District ice rink by about two weeks, according to Paul Morris, superintendent of the district.

He said they caused approximately $80 damage this week when they broke up new ice and damaged a plastic sheet under the ice. The plastic sheet covered the entire 50 by 80-foot rink, located in the rear of park headquarters at 805 Main St.

Morris said the Sheriff's Office was contacted on the vandalism.

If there is continued cold weather, he said the rink may be in operation in less than two weeks.

"I feel the hockey team as well as the public would like to skate before Christmas," Morris said.

According to Deputy Sheriff Larry Holien, the tack room had been forced open and the equipment then loaded onto a vehicle which was parked on the highway.

There is one out-of-state hunter who will return home with memories of his greatest hunting thrill as well as a prize trophy.

The proud hunter, Mike Bowersox of Jonesville, Mich., stopped at the Fremont county clerk's office in Canon City Monday morning to register his prized kill — a nine-foot long mountain lion, weighing more than 200 pounds.

Bowersox, using a 30-30 rifle, shot and killed the lion early Saturday morning in the mountains 15 to 20 miles northwest of Cotopaxi in Fremont county after an all-night vigil near an outdoor fire in sub-zero weather.

The lion was treed in darkness late Friday, but in order to get a good shot at the animal, and to take pictures, Bowersox wailed all-night with his longtime friend and guide, Bob Peters of Rifle, Colo.

The men had cleaned the lion and were transporting it on top of Bowersox' car. Bowersox wailed all-night with his ned to travel to Denver to collect a $50 bounty on the animal before he headed for home in Michigan. He added that he intended to have a rug made from the lion's hide.

Peters, who said he had not hunted in the Cotopaxi area before, noted that the lion was the largest in more than 100 others he had been involved with in captures or kills.

The men were on horseback when Peters' three dogs picked up the scent of the lion about 4 p.m. Friday. Peters went ahead of Bowersox, and was two hours ahead of the Michigan hunter when the dogs treed the lion.

Peters said he waited for Bowersox, while carefully watching the lion to see if it would jump from its perch in a small tree in an attempt to outrun the dogs.

"Ordinarily," the guide said, "you can expect a lion to jump from a tree several times, but this lion only jumped once. Mike and I built a fire and sat around it all night. Evertime the lion stirred the dogs were up, barking and jumping."

Bowersox said the animal had been trapped at timberline. He noted that he had been hunting for 12 days before his prize kill. Peters said the animal would no doubt be listed in the Boone and Crockett records of exceptional kills.

The Michigan man commented that he has come to Colorado the past several years to hunt during his vacation time. He added that the trophy he will take home this year has provided him with his greatest hunting thrill.

Five Youths Caught in Stolen Car

Five youths, all under 18 years of age, were apprehended Wednesday when they attempted to drive from Colorado Springs to Pueblo in a stolen car, police reported.

Police said the youths stole a car from the lot of Wade Mullins Used Cars, 14 S. Spruce St., at approximately 4:30 p.m. Tuesday. They attempted to steal another car in the lot, according to the report, but could not get it started. They left the lot with one car and drove around town, then came back to the car lot at approximately 9 p.m. Tuesday and got another car.

At 11 p.m. Tuesday they abandoned one of the cars and the five of them then drove one car to Pueblo and spent two or three hours there, arriving back in Colorado Springs at approximately 3:05 a.m. Wednesday. Police said that the youths slept in the car on a dirt street that runs off Santa Fe Street until about 7:30 a.m. Wednesday.

At this time they went home, then later in the day began to drive to Pueblo again in the stolen car. The State Patrol stopped the car and apprehended the boys, returning them to police officers, according to the report.

Personal Injury Suit Filed This Morning

A $43,000 personal injury suit was filed in District Court this morning by Gayle Dixon, 1225 W. Kiowa St., against Randy, Walter E. and Hazel A. Jones.

It is alleged that on March 20, 1964 Randy Jones drove a car in which the plaintiff was a passenger, carelessly and recklessly and that on North Nevada Avenue the vehicle ran into a tree. It is further alleged the plaintiff received serious and permanent injuries.

County Planners Deny Zone Change Petition

The El Paso County Planning Commission Wednesday unanimously disapproved a petition by Attorney Montell Dunn, acting in his own behalf, and Stanley L. Sall to change an R-1 residential area to an R-2 residential area in order to construct "high class, luxury, deluxe-type" multi-family dwellings. The area is located in Austin Bluffs.

Ellen Chestnut, an attorney acting on behalf of residents of that area produced a petition against the request. She said that the purchases of houses in that area relied on the neighborhood's remaining strictly residential.

She also said that the homes in that particular area are high-priced, and the area is considered "exclusive."

She requested that the Commission disapprove the petition so that a precedent of spot zoning would not be set, and suggested that the property in question be developed to conform with the residences in the surrounding area.

Also disapproved was a petition by London F. Sample and Max W. Hueftle to change an R-2 residential district, located at the northeast corner of Circle Dr. and Dale St. to a C-2 suburban business district.

Upon questioning by the Commission, it was revealed that the property is under a VA covenant that prevents the change of the use of the land within a 25-year period. Sample was told that even if the zoning change were permitted, the VA covenant would prevent him from putting the land to a commercial use.

A final plat before the commission requesting the resubdivision of an area south of Morrison St. and west of 29th St. was tabled so that the title can be cleared.

Francis Staggs, the present owner of the property, which is in Staggs Industrial Development, said that a deed passing the title from the former owners to himself does exist, but that he did not have it with him. The Commission moved to table the matter so that the deed could be examined a the next regular meeting.

A preliminary plat, previously tabled, concerning Mountain View Estates, was unanimously approved. The area in question, owned by E. C. Sledge and C. V. Gordon, is located in an unzoned area adjacent to Peyton Rd. and three quarters of a mile south of Peyton, and contains approximately 100 acres. In answer to a question by a member of the commission the spokesman said the area would be divided into five-acre tracts and the individual owners would supply their own water.

A public utilities petition was also passed by the County Planning Commission. Put before the Commission for approval of location only, was a proposed sewage disposal plant to be located near Woodmen Valley Rd. on Cottonwood Creek. There were no objectors present, but a spokesman for a nearby tract development said that his firm also intended to construct additional sewage disposal facilities. The Commission commended both the firm representing the proposed public plant and the representative of the developer for their plans as no sewage facilities currently exist.

A petition to vacate Dorothy Place between Polo Dr. and Maple Ave. in the Broadmoor area was recommended to the County Commissioners by the Planning Commission.

A previously tabled preliminary plat concerning Pine Valley Estates was pulled by the petitioners prior to Wednesday's meeting and will be withheld from the agenda until further notice.

Carson Unit Takes Care of Delta Explosives

Discovery of frozen dynamite near a house in Delta, Colo., sparked the latest trip by Ft. Carson's 94th Ordnance Detachment Saturday.

Lt. Ronald G. Horner, 94th commander, and Spec. 6 Stephen P. Shirley disposed of 170 lbs of explosives and 10 non-electric blasting caps during this 600 mile round trip from Carson. The 170 lbs of explosives included two cases of TNT, two cases of tetryol and 44 sticks of dynamite.

The frozen explosives were spotted by an alert soldier, on leave, and reported it to the Delta Civil Defense director, Joe B. McDonald.

Ft. Carson explosive disposal experts were called by the Civil Defense director. The experts have trained law enforcement agents in handling explosives and lectured school groups throughout the Delta area for several years on the dangers of explosives and what action to take if they find them.

Another call from Hank Brewer, of the Colorado Springs Water Department in Northfield, led to the removal of two sticks of frozen dynamite and 50 electric blasting caps, Monday, Dec. 7.

Answering this call were Spec. 6's Murven Walker and Earl Ensor, both technicians with the 94th Ordnance Detachment.

War souvenirs and explosives reported by civilians are constantly being investigated by the 41st and 94th Ordnance Detachments. They ask that requests for help be made through the nearest law enforcement agency.

Frozen and deteriorated dynamite is found regularly near old mining operations and on ranches in the Pikes Peak region. War souvenirs may turn up anywhere, particularly in private homes. Any item in these categories should be checked unless definitely known to be inert. Approximately 80 per cent of all explosives checked are active and dangerous.

Spec. 6 Murven Walker, Explosive Ordnance Disposal supervisor, said, "We are always ready to check out explosives in order that a life may be saved."

Sharp Increase In Mugging Cited by Chief

There is a sharp increase in muggings in Colorado Springs Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick said Wednesday.

He spoke at the luncheon meeting of the Colorado Springs Civitan Club.

"These muggers don't care how hard they slug you. First thing you know we will have a murder on our hands," he said.

Aggravated assaults in the city tripled in the last year, according to police records.

The chief said muggers usually operate in gangs of four or five and move in from out-of-town during the first 10 days or so of each month.

One of the gang slugs a victim, then all of them surround him, relieve him of his valuables — then the muggers scatter in all directions and meet later.

McKissick said the muggers represent a "real serious problem to the entire community," because as muggings increase people become more appehensive about going from place to place during night hours.

"We have spent a lot of time on these muggings in the past year, and intend to spend a lot more in the coming year," the chief said.

McKissick said the police department, as a whole, was well trained and doing a good job. However he warned that the department was spread too thin because of the mushrooming population and rapidly growing size of the city.

He said department policies were affected by great growth in areas outside city limits.

Another problem, he said, was the estimated two million tourists in the city this past year. He noted that "paper hangers, con men and burglars always follow the tourist crowd."

The chief said the department should have an absolute minimum of 1.5 officers per 1,000 population. "We have only 1.2 men per 1,000," he said.

Navy Captain To Address League Meeting

In addition to the Navy's presentation, Reginald Sinclaire, a member of the Navy League National Advisory Council, will report on a recent Ninth Naval District Regional Meeting.

This conference involved Navy League presidents throughout the district. Sinclaire represented League President Joe Reich at this affair.

War Vets Get Handcrafted Korean Gifts

Handcrafted gifts were presented this week to Korean War veterans at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Fort Lyon.

The 78 gifts, individually wrapped, were presented to the veterans as a token of friendship from the people of Korea.

Dr. Daniel Atoman, hospital director, said the Korea Committee Relations Center International, with headquarters in Seoul, has sent gifts to 11,885 hospitalized United States veterans of the Korean conflict.

The mementos donated by Korea's president, prime minister, national assemblymen, servicemen, students, wounded veterans, and citizens have also been sent to veterans at 20 hospitals in Canada and to 59 Philippine veterans in Manila.

U.S. Air Force planes were in charge of the shipment of the gifts.

Security Hockey Pond Damaged by Vandals

Vandals caused $80 damage to the hockey pond in Security Park, the sheriff's office said Wednesday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Wayne King, the park had been flooded to freeze and some unknown youngsters started playing on it before it was frozen and ripped the plastic sheet under the ice.

Boy Will Get Artificial Legs For Christmas

By LUCILLE HENDRICKSON

MANDAN, N.D. (AP) — It took some doing to get that old fellow from the North Pole going so early — but Santa had a special job to do for one Mandan boy this year.

So, for his Christmas, Ronnie Jeerez has a new pair of legs well in advance of Dec. 25.

There were two operations for the 4-year-old. Ronnie spent last Christmas in the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children in Minneapolis, the victim of a congenital defect known as myelomeningo-cele, a rare illness that paralyzed the lower part of his body.

After months of hospitalization with casts on both legs as doctors fought to beat the illness, Ronnie's folks got the bad news.

Physicians told Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Jeerez that their son's legs would be useless. The doctors said the limbs would be a hindrance and should be amputated.

"On the brighter side, they explained that removal of his useless limbs would permit the fitting of artificial legs so he could walk," said Mrs. Jeerez. "That made us sure that it was the right thing to do."

Ronnie wasn't so certain. He had accepted his condition rather cheerfully and had learned to pull himself around the house by his arms.

The Jeerezes took Ronnie to a special showing of a film depicting a 7-year-old walking confidently on artificial legs after having been similarly stricken.

Ronnie was sold.

The two operations and a lot more time in the hospital followed — but always with cheerfulness on Ronnie's part.

"Now I'm going to have legs," he told the nurses. "And I'm going to walk just like Allen (the lad in the film) and I'm going to walk all the way home to Mandan."

Mandan is nearly 500 miles from Minneapolis.

Ronnie made it, but not afoot.

He is mastering the use of the new limbs with the help of a walking frame at his home.

The wheeled gadget bears the sign, "Ronnie's Go-Cart" — and with the "Go" in capital letters.

Kremlin Tries To Avoid New Agonizing Choice

MOSCOW (UPI) — Kremlin threats to aid Communist North Viet Nam against possible American military action are aimed at avoiding an "agonizing choice," diplomatic observers said today.

The Russias would be faced with such a choice, the Moscow observers said, if the United States steps up its efforts against the Hanoi regime and the guerrilla war in South Viet Nam is escalated into a full-scale military confrontation between America and North Viet Nam — and possibly Communist China.

U.S. officials have indicated there is no intention of widening the conflict in Viet Nam. But Soviet anxiety, as reflected in the press, has been mounting because of North Vietnamese allegations of American sorties against its territory.

In the event of hostilities the Soviets would be morally obligated — as the Kremlin now claims it is—to come to the aid of a "brother" Communist state.

But to do so could involve the Soviet Union in a conflict with superior American sea and air forces in jungle terrain far removed from Russia.

The logistical problem would be overwhelming, Western military observers said.

The observers also ponited to another factor in the situation: The festering ideological dispute between the Soviet Union and Red China.

North Viet Nam supports Peking in this dispute. Therefore any Soviet participation in a Viet Nam conflict could have the effect of pulling Peking's chestnuts out of the fire.

Yet not to come to North Viet Nam's assistance would lay Russia open to Chinese charges of cowardice and softness in the face of "American imperialism."

This could hurt Russia in its competition with Red China for influence in the Afro-Asian world, the observers said.

In Africa, the ties of family, clan, house and tribe are all-pervading. The tribe cares for widows, orphans, the sick and the aged. It never lets a fellow tribesman go hungry.

Boaters Fight Proposals For Licensing

By JACK WOLISTON
United Press International

Most pleasure boatmen for more than a decade have been fighting proposals to require motorboat operators to be licensed.

Chief argument of proponents is that licensing of operators, which would involve a series of tests to determine their abilities at the helm, would make for safer boating.

Many of these proposals would set an age limit for operators. These are designed to keep juvenile "hot - rudders" from behind the wheels of high-powered motorboats.

The subject of licensing operators came up again late last month at a meeting in Clearwater, Fla., of the Southeastern Association of State Boating Law Administrators. In a resolution, adopted unanimously, they voiced opposition to such proposals.

Members of the group, representing the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Mississippi, Tennessee and Virginia, stated in the resolution:

"Boating accident statistics . . . fail to show that involvement in accidents is, in fact, related to factors which any system of licensing would substantially reduce or eliminate."

"The problems of administration and enforcement posed by any such licensing system would outweigh any benefits that might accrue," the resolution added.

It recommended that "greater emphasis on boating safety education and more extensive enforcement of existing boating laws would be more fruitful (than licensing) in furthering boating safety."

Fred B. Lifton, executive director of the Outboard Boating Club of America, one of the strongest anti-licensing groups in the country, termed the resolution "a significant blow to proposals that would impose additional restrictions on boatmen who have proved that such laws are unnecessary and unjustified by maintaining an outstanding record of safety and responsibility."

A number of bills proposing licensing in one form or another have been introduced in Congress in recent years. The last three introduced in the House were referred to the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries and died there.

Several states have enacted licensing laws, but these mostly are concerned with juveniles.

Whether licensing would cut down on boating accidents and fatalities is indeed a moot question. Statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. reported recently that from 1958 until 1962 there had been a noticeable downtrend in deaths from water transportation accidents.

For example, fatalities in 1958 totaled 1,653, compared with 1,445 in 1962. However, U.S. Coast Guard figures for 1963 showed an increase of 112 fatalities over 1962. But an estimated 1,050,000 more persons and 210,000 more boats were involved in pleasure boating in 1963 than in the preceding year.

The Metropolitan report made this recommendation:

"Unsafe practices contributing to water transportation accidents can to a considerable extent be eliminated through safety education."

Increased Cotton Production Noted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department today estimated the 1964 cotton crop at 15,356,000 bales.

The final 1964 report compares with 1963 production of 15,334,000 bales and the five-year average crop of 13,905,000 bales.

The crop reporting board estimated cotton yields this year averaged 524 pounds of lint per acre compared with last year's 517 pounds and a five-year average of 454 pounds.

The board estimated farmers harvested 14,058,000 acres of cotton this year out of 14,343,000 acres planted.

Farmers will vote Dec. 15 in a national referendum whether to accept marketing quotas for the 1965 crop.

The cotton carryover Aug. 1 was 12.4 million bales. The department has estimated the carryover on Aug. 1, 1965, will be 13 million bales.

Salk Institute 'Democracy' Is Instituted

By RALPH DIGHTON

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — When polio vaccine inventor Jonas Salk got the idea of bringing some of the world's great scientists together for a broad assault on the remaining diseases of man, there were some who wondered:

1. Would the impatient genius of such people allow anyone to tell them what direction their research should take?

2. Would they be any more successful working together than separately?

After several shakedown months in cramped temporary laboratories while a $16 million institute is being built on a hill overlooking the Pacific, Dr. Salk and his associates have found answers to both questions.

First, Salk told newsmen Wednesday, he and the staff of the Salk Institute have worked out a democratic system he believes is virtually unique among research bodies.

In some institutes the director has absolute authority.

At Salk Institute each top scientist, or fellow, as he is called, is recognized as an authority in his own field, capable of determining what line of investigation should prove most rewarding.

He governs expenditures for budgets allotted him by the board of trustees, hires and fires assistants and can even nominate new fellows subject to final approval of the board.

The board, made up of prominent business and professional people, generally relies on advice from two committees. One is a guiding committee of three resident and three nonresident fellows working to co-ordinate the efforts to watch for possible duplication.

The other is a policy committee of three fellows and three board members, which examines mutual goals and problems.

Institute funds come largely from the March of Dimes, with which Salk was associated in fighting polio.

How well has the philosophy of democracy in science worked so far?

"Extremely well," said Salk, who is a fellow as well as director. "We notonly have the value of close communications between independent scientists, we have found that sharp minds tend to sharpen each other."

The resident scientists are all working generally in the broad new field of molecular biology.

Dr. Edward Lennox and Dr. Melive Cohn are concentrating on how animals and humans form antibodies which fight disease.

Dr. Renato Dulbecco is probing the mechanisms by which viruses turn healthy cells cancerous.

Dr. Leslie E. Orgel is studying the origin of life from simple chemicals and Dr. Jacob Bronowski is concerned with the impact of modern-day science upon people.

Ike's Surrender Was Not That, Story Declares

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's 1952 breakfast meeting with Sen. Robert A. Taft at which he obtained the political blessing of his defeated rival for the Republican presidential nomination became known as Eisenhower's "Morningside Heights surrender."

From the time he won the nomination at the GOP nominating convention, Eisenhower had sought the support of Taft but it was not easily obtained. After a post-convention vacation, Taft met Eisenhower on Sept. 12, 1952, at the general's Columbia University residence in New York's Morningside Heights district.

Following the meeting, Taft read to reporters a statement endorsing Eisenhower and saying he agreed with the GOP nominee's Republican "philosophy" except for some "differences of degree" on foreign policy.

Some political observers of the era said that after Taft lost the nomination to Eisenhower he withheld his support for the best deal he could obtain — a dominant role for Taft in the Eisenhower administration and a promise from Eisenhower to sidetrack some Republican "liberals" such as New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Paul G. Hoffman and Massachusetts Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge.

Democrats and some Republicans denounced the meeting as an Eisenhower surrender.

Women Leaders

FORT SCOTT, Kan. (AP) — The chairman of both the Republican Central Committee and the Democrat Central Committee in Bourbon County are women. Mrs. Betty Hixon heads the GOP while Mrs. Ernest Brennan has a similar post with the Democrats. Both live in Ft. Scott. Both are married and both have children.

Club Asks Suggestions For Youth Service Award

The Pikes Peak La Sertoma Club, in accordance with La Sertoma International, a women's service organization with clubs throughout the United States, Canada, and Mexico, once again will proclaim February as "Youth Service Award month."

A citation award will be presented to some young person for outstanding services in leadership in home, school, or community.

La Sertoma feels it is important to emphasize leadership ability in youth today in an effort to overcome the great amount of publicity given improper actions of a small percentage of teen-agers. The young people of today are our future leaders, and in order to give some praise and encouragement to the youths who are setting a pattern of leadership in their own communities, La Sertoma will honor and present a citation to some young person at the February meeting.

Any one knowing of a boy or girl rendering outstanding services in his or her home, school, or community is asked to submit a nomination, by Dec. 20, to the committee chairman, Mrs. Vergil R. Johnson, 3104 Mesa Rd., or contact the committee for further information by calling Mrs. Earl Carlson, 634-6458; Mrs. Don Esch, 634-3803; or Mrs. Johnson, 632-1664.

A tablespoon or two of tomato paste usually benefits a beef stew.

An egg beaten with one-third cup of milk or light cream makes an excellent dipping mixture for French-toasted sandwiches. Cheddar cheese (sliced) or tuna fish salad will make good fillings for these sandwiches.

Society and Club Activities

By GLAD MORATH

Hockey Week Will Also Be Gala Social Period

Colorado Springs and Denver socialites are enthusiastic about the International Hockey Week at the Broadmoor from Dec. 26 through 31, when Russia, Canada and Czechoslovakia will compete in a six-game tournament.

Many are making up parties to dine at the elaborate gourmet buffet to be served in the Broadmoor's main dining room preceding the games. Exotic foods from many foreign countries will be featured.

A number of Denver clubs are chartering buses to bring their members here for the hockey week festivities. A group from the Denver Athletic Club will make an overnight stay at the hotel to enjoy the buffet and hockey. Cherry Hills Country Club has chosen the night of Dec. 29. The University Club has made tentative reservations for dinner and the game on Dec. 30. The Pinehurst Country Club also will be here for dinner and the game on Dec. 30. A number of buses have been chartered for members.

Other Denver clubs making similar arrangements for their members are the Denver Country Club, Columbine, Green Gables, Lakewood, and Valley Country Club.

Besides the hockey games at 8:15 each night, the Broadmoor has scheduled a week of special events which are free to all holders of International Hockey tickets. Two figure skating exhibitions are set for 3:30 p.m. at the World Arena on Dec. 28 and 31; Denver and Colorado Springs Young America hockey teams will battle it out the afternoon of Dec. 29. A special ski exhibition is set for 11:30 a.m. Dec. 29. Sports films for the entire family will be shown in the hotel theatre at 2:30 p.m. Dec. 30, and the Colorado Speed Skating Finals are set for 3:30 p.m. in the World Arena.

There will be special fashion shows in the Penrose Room Dec. 29 and 31, and a gay New Year's Eve party will follow the hockey game of Dec. 31.

Royal Family

—When Miss Susie Richardson was crowned homecoming queen at a football game at Pittsburgh high school recently, she was keeping up a family tradition. A few years ago when her brother, Jack, was a senior he was crowned homecoming king. And when their mother was in the same high school some years ago she, too, was homecoming queen.

Safety Sitting

— Parents play as big a role in making baby-sitting safe as do the sitters themselves, leaders of a free baby-sitting clinic sponsored by the Portland Fire Bureau and Portland Association of Insurance Agents believe.

Want to give that white bread (made with yeast) an herb flavor? Add a little nutmeg and thyme. Herb bread is delightful to use for toasted cheese sandwiches.

For that odd-shaped or odd-sized window, try using what is called an hour - glass curtain. Hem a length of curtain goods any kind of suitable cloth. Slip a curtain rod through both the he middle. To make the belt, cut a strip of material about three inches wide, stitch it together on the wrong side, then turn and press it flat. Put around the center of the curtain, drawing the curtain so that light comes in from both sides, yet prevents people on the outside from looking in.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

It's Not Logical, Lady!

DEAR ABBY: For two years I was a widow with five children under 12. Then I married a man who claimed he loved me very much, but he acts like he has someone on the side. He was married before, and told me he divorced his wife because she was so cold. Believe me, he can't use that excuse about me. He has the kind of job that he can leave any time. He seems to have so many unscheduled and late business appointments that I am suspicious. I've never found any proof, like lipstick on his clothes or telephone numbers in his pockets, but I've got a feeling there's somebody else. Could it be my imagination? —SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: It must be !Any man who, after one unsuccessful marriage, tries it again with a widow with five children (under 12 yet!) has got to be mad about the woman.

DEAR ABBY: This has happened to me twice already and I want to know the reason. I have been invited to and have attended two bridal showers. Both were very very nice, but I was not invited to the main event — the wedding. Is this proper etiquette? Or is it just plain ignorance? I know some other ladies who have received the same treatment. Both these brides had big church weddings and receptions following, but some of us who were invited to showers were not good enough for the main event. Sign me —NOT GOOD ENOUGH

DEAR NOT: Some "showers" lately have degenerated into a big "collection" in which nobody seems to care who gets soaked. If you were "good enough" to be invited to the shower, it seems to me that unless the wedding was limited only to family and a few very close friends, you should have been "good enough" for the wedding.

DEAR ABBY: With all the modern packaging, why is it that when a person buys a pound of brown sugar it has to be repackaged immediately after it has been opened or the next time you want to use it you'll have a block of brown "cement"?

DEAR ABBY: There's a telemy finger with a hammer trying to break up a block of brown sugar. I am sure the brown sugar package has not changed in 100 years. Please print this, Abby. It might wake up the people who package it. —KAY

DEAR KAY: This is not a household hints column, but if you transfer the brown sugar into an airtight jar, put a little wad of damp paper toweling in the jar, and keep it in your refrigerator, you'll not have any problem.

DEAR ABBY: There's a television program for kids with a talking goldfish who gives advice. He is sort of the DEAR ABBY of television but, of course, they don't call him that. Why do you suppose anyone would write to a goldfish for advice? —ROBB ROSS

DEAR ROBB: I'll bite.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR CHRISTMAS

Colo. Springs: Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra® spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at Neustetters, Foundation Department, Third Floor adv.

U.S. Commission Urges Assault On Illnesses

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission called today for an unprecedented national assault on the three greatest killers of Americans — heart disease, cancer and cerebral strokes.

Among its major recommendations is creation of a national network of 540 new treatment and other centers.

The blue-ribbon group urged immediate implementation of its "realistic battle plan," saying nearly $3 billion in federal funds over five years would be needed as a starter. A spokesman said considerable additional funds and other aid from states and cities also would be required.

The 23 physicians, editors, businessmen and others said, in their report to President Johnson, that immediate results could be expected. Up to several hundred thousand lives a year are "now needlessly sacrificed" because available knowledge is ont propertly utilized, they said.

The commission was appointed last March by Johnson — victim of a heart attack in 1955 — to recommend steps to reduce the incidence of the three diseases from which he said two-thirds of all Amercans now living would suffer or die unless something is done about it.

The commission also said it strongly endorses the conclusions and recommendations of the Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health which termed cigarette smoking a hazard to health.

The commission called for a $10-million appropriation to the Public Health Service over a three-year period "for a comprehensive national program of education and public information regarding the hazards of cigarette smoking" — including creation of a national network of "smoking control clinics" to help people who wish to give up smoking.

Columbus's Santa Maria was probably America's first "rent-a-ship." The 110-ton vessel was leased by Columbus from Martin Alonso Pinzon, a Spanish ship owner.

Colorado Springs Lodge No. 76, AF&AM, at its annual meeting held in the Masonic Temple Tuesday elected Paul V. Speer to serve as its Worshipful Master for 1965. Speer is a life-long resident and has been employed several years with Hibbard & Co. He and Mrs. Speer live at 1403 N. Franklin St.

Other officers elected to serve the year 1965 are; Arthur G. Fenton, senior warden, George E. Murray, junior warden; Wayne K. Clark, senior deacon; Dale L. Thompson junior deacon; Henry F. Mallett, senior steward; Frederick C. Borst treasurer; Alan H. Brennan, tiler, C. B. Kearnes, secretary, Claire W. Kelsey, chaplain; J. Earl Patterson, marshal.

December 15, Charles L. Thomson, Grand Worshipful Master of Masons of Colorado, will be present at the Masonic Temple to install the elected officers of seven Masonic lodges of this area, assisted by other Grand Lodge officers of Denver.

City Suggests Parking Tips For Shoppers

City Traffic Engineer Don Smith has suggestions for relieving traffic congestion in the downtown area.

He said shoppers driving cars could park them in an off-street lot.

Whenever possible, Smith said, "Avoid using Tejon Street as a through street between Bijou and Cucharras Streets."

He suggested that motorists vacate parking meters promptly when time has expired rather than "feed" them.. "This will permit more persons to use the space and reduce the circulatory congestion," Smith said.

The Traffic Engineering Department has been counting cars. They calculate that 3,150 vehicles an hour travel the streets bordering the block where Neusteters and the First National Bank are. About 40 per cent of them make right turns.

On the four streets bordering this block, Smith said, there are 88 on-street parking spaces. "This is only one space for every 36 vehicles. Not very goood odds."

Smith's other suggestions include:

—Observing and obeying traffic signs, signals and markings. This includes observance from pedestrians.

—Shopping during the day when possible, to assist night shoppers.

—Not stopping in inside lanes of moving traffic except to permit a parked vehicle to vacate an on-street parking space.

—Using public transportation or sharing a car with friends. This will cut down the number of cars in the downtown area.

—Practice of the "'goodwill toward men" philosophy in driving and walking, in the Christmas spirit. "Mutual cooperation when driving and walking will do much to help the usual Christmas rush," Smith said.

Rudolph Show Sheer Delight, Reporter Says

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — For the past six or seven years, this dedicated television watcher has been president and founder of an organization aimed at the network rationing — no more than once an hour — of "White Christmas" and "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Imagine then the misgivings involved when tuning in an NBC special called "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" during Sunday's children's hour.

It was a program of sheer delight — for young and old.

The writers imaginatively enlarged on the well-known lyrics of the over-used holiday song. Actors were enchanting puppets.

Rudolph, whose nose glowed a glorious living crimson, was a sweet, little buck reindeer, with the charm of Bambi. He suffered horribly from his unusual affliction. Eventually he met Herbie, one of Santa's elves who also was a misfit — Herbie didn't like to make toys; he wanted to be a dentist. Along with a prospector named Cornelius of the Yukon, they managed to conquer and reform, the fearsome Abominable Monster. Eventually, of course, Santa used Rudolph's illuminated nose to guide him through snowy skies.

Burl Ives, the voice of a puppet snowman who looked exactly like Burl Ives, told the tall tale, underlining its gentle moral, with exactly the right inflections.

The story was full of delightful adult wit and a bit of satire. To illustrate the plight of the world's misfits, one character was a ferocious pirate handicapped by two good eyes and unable to sport a black eye-patch. Santa himself was an irrasicble, pompous tyrant kept within bounds by his soft-spoken wife.

The title song was sung only once — at the end, and in a way to be appreciated. NBC should add this one to its growing list of programs to repeat each year.

ABC says that Bing Crosby — who started the whole "White Christmas" thing in 1942 — will sing his famous number in the Dec. 21 episode of his current comedy series. If it comes off as well as "Rudolph," maybe rationing won't be necessary.

Richard T. Ely, a courageous ecnomics professor who defended the right to teach all sides of a question, even the unpopular sides, was the subject of Sunday night's NBC "Profiles in Courage."

The 19th century university instructors was not among the heroes included in the John F. Kennedy boook, basis of the series, but the selection of Ely and a few others to make 26 shows was approved by the former president. The treatment of the Ely story was dramatic, inspiring and made some contemporary points.

Col. Completes Harvard Course

Col. James A. Bower, Air Force Academy deputy chief of staff, civil engineering, is graduating Friday from the 46th session of the advanced management program at the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration, Dec. 11.

The advanced management program, one of the oldest senior management development courses conducted by a university, has been in continuous operation since 1943.

The 13-week course offers a concentrated program of study in six major areas of prime interest to today's top management.

Prior to joining the Academy staff in August 1963, Col. Bower was base civil engineer at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

Muslim Acquitted Of Speeding Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Malcolm X, the former Black Muslim leader, was acquitted Wednesday of an eight-month-old speeding charge.

A motorcycle patrolman said he had clocked the Negro official going 55 miles an hour on the Triborough Bridge, which has a speed limit of 40.

Leaving the courtroom, Malcolm X, told newsmen: "I told the truth; the truth always will win out."

Chefs Create Sculpture That Is Edible, Too

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Good restaurant chefs often have tremendous creative forces seething within them. Many great chefs are frustrated artists.

For that matter, I suppose that many great artists are frustrated cooks. Which may explain why so many paintings look like something that was thrown out by the kitchen.

Anyway, the Epicurean Club of Washington recognizes that chefs need an outlet for their artistic taelnts. It recently sponsored what was billed as a "salon of culinary art."

It invited the Rembrandts of the range to create works of art, such as paintings and sculpture, and exhibit them a the salon.

They were allowed to express themselves as they saw fit, but with one restriction: the objet d'art had to be edible.

I'll admit right off that I'm no judge of such things. All I know about art is what I had for supper last night. But I thought the exhibit reached a high cultural level.

There was an abstract-impressionist suckling a pig that would have done credit to Picasso. There was a cakefrosting landscape like Grandma Moses used to make.

A turkey created from lobster tails had a smile that reminded me of the Mona Lisa. A chaud froid de cote de porc en bellevue had a lot of the charm of Whistler's mother.

But the masterwork that I found most impressive was a piece of sculpture by Pierre Fort, executive chef of the Sheraton Park Hotel. He carved an almost lifesize, semi-nude statue of Napoleon Bonaparte's sister out of lamb fat.

Entitled "Pauline," it shows her reclining, bare from the waist up, on a sort of chaise lounge. I asked Fort, former head chef for the French Lines, how he had managed to achieve such subtle textures and poetic lines with anything so prosaic as lamb fat.

He said it was because he used only the fat from the kidney. At least, that's what I think he said. Fort's English isn't too good. And neither, for that matter, is mine.

Fort didn't know how many lamb kidneys it took to supply enough fat for the 120-pound statue, but he said he had been saving the stuff for a year.

It took him about a month to carve it, using spatulas, spoons and other kitchen utensils for tools. He estimated it would last a year or two at room temperature.

Fort also said he had never had an art lesson in his life. Which figures. I doubt that Michelangelo ever attended cooking school.

Ft. Carson Important CAP Center

Fort Carson is becoming increasingly important as a Civil Air Patrol center with Emergency Services Group headquarters, one emergency services squadron and the Security Cadet Squadron.

An inspection Nov. 20 by representatives of Civil Air Patrol national headquarters and the Denver wing impressed officials with the emergency services program and communications and rescue capabilities according to Maj. Leo Wells, group commander.

Eight vehicles and seven planes from various squadrons in the group were involved in the search for Chet Mason of Colorado Springs who was killed recently on a flight between Twin Lakes and Colorado Springs.

Carson also participated by supplying fuel for the Air Force helicopter in the search and by putting up headquarters at Antero Junction and Walsenburg.

The squadron is looking for qualified candidates for membership. Men interested may contact captain Mark Engel, at Special Services Craft Shop, Ext. 787, after 1 p.m.

NEW RESEARCH STATION

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Tobacco Co. is building a new research station to cost from $5 million to $6 million on a 196-acre site at Bermuda Hundred on the James River near Richmond, Va., the company said.

The station will be used for research in both tobacco and non-tobacco products, President Robert B. Walker said.

CAPITOL STUFF

By RICHARD McGOWAN

WASHINGTON — After the assassination of President Kennedy, a furor arose over the ease with which anyone — madman, juvenile or criminal — could buy a gun. A year has passed and, despite the pressure for legislation to tighten gun laws, it is as easy as ever for a prospective killer to obtain a gun by mail.

The Warren commission report in September and release of its testimony last Monday have spotlighted this fact anew, adding sound and fury to a new furor. And Congress is expected to be flooded with gun control bills when it convenes in January. Critics call any such proposals unrealistic and unenforceable.

The real donnybrook will occur when the National Rifle Association clashes head - on with Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.), longtime advocate of new gun control laws.

Dodd began studying the problem five years ago as chairman of the Senate juvenile delinquency committee. He introduced one bill in 1963 aimed at controlling mail - order gun traffic. But it died in the Commerce Committee a year later.

Dodd declares the bill was killed because of the protests of people "misinformed or bamboozled" by those with financial interests in importing mail-order guns and those "cloaked under the false cover of anti-Communism."

Lee Harvey Oswald assassinated Kennedy with a cheap Italian - made carbine purchased from a mail-order house in Chicago. He killed Dallas police and J. D. Tippitt with a .38 caliber revolver also purchased by mail from a Los Angeles firm.

Dodd is now threatening to ask for new investigations by the Senate into all gun traffic and laws. This time he wants to link it with a probe into the gun-dealer lobbyists and the right wing extremist groups he blames for the defeat of the 1963 bill.

DEALERS ACCUSED OF SEEKING QUICK PROFITS

Dodd openly links many gun dealers under the title of "unscrupulous gun - runners" seeking a fast buck and lists these figures to support his anti-gun argument:

—During 1963 there were 8,500 willful killings. Firearms were used in 56 per cent of all murders and 13 per cent of all assaults to kill.

—In the same year firearms were used in 53 per cent of murders in cities, 62 per cent of murders in suburban areas and 68 per cent in rural areas.

—And from 1953 through 1960 criminals killed 168 police officers, using 131 hand guns and 31 rifles or shotguns. The reat were slain with knives, motor vehicles or clubs.

—Of 2,630 weapons shipped by one amil - order firm into Chicago over a three-year period, more than 2,500 were not registered with police, as required by state law.

The Dodd report concludes that "there is little sense in outlawing the sale of guns to certain types of people within a state if they can be legally shipped to the same person from outside the state."

Rep. John Lindsay (R-N.Y.) also has proposed changes in gun laws.

The general argument of those opposed to Dodd's contention is that he is attacking the wrong end of the problem.

The National Rifle Association in particular points out that cars kill more people on a typical holiday than are killed by guns in a year.

"So why not outlaw cars, or axes, or hammers, or sleeping pills or razor blades" one official asked.

The NRA has stated that it will not oppose laws prohibiting the sale of firearms to convicts, fugitives and mental incompetents. Nor will it oppose laws making the sale of guns to juveniles subject to parental consent.

But it vehemently adds that firearms legislation "is of insufficient value in the prevention of crime to justify the inevitable restrictions such legislation places upon law - abiding citizens."

Even law enforcement officials disagree on the value of such laws.

"Whoever heard of a hood going into a store to buy a gun" an NRA official remarked today. "They steal them, and there is no earthly way to keep accurate records on the number of firearms in this country today."

Tshombe Talks With Pope Paul In Vatican City

By GERALD MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP) — With a heavy police escort to protect him from possible Communist demonstrations, Congo Premier Moise Tshombe came to the Vatican today for a 20-minute audience with Pope Paul VI.

No demonstrations marred Tshombe's trip through Rome to the papal city-state, however. He had arrived four hours earlier from Leopoldville.

The Pope appealed to the Congolese people to cease their warfare and work together for the common good of their nation.

'In this painful moment," the Roman Catholic pontiff told Tshombe, 'we implore our sons and all mankind to employ all their means and powers to carry on this work of peace."

Tshombe's six-car motorcade was preceded by three cars of Italian plainclothesmen, followed by three trucks carrying uniformed Rome police, and flanked by police on motorcycles.

Vatican officials said it was the first time any visiting dignitary had arrived for a papal audience under such heavy guard.

Tshombe and members of his party wore white tie and tails. The premier's coat gleamed with medals.

Communist tirades against him and a demonstration in downtown Rome Wednesday night protesting his visit caused the special security measures.

The controversial Congolese stopped in Rome en route to the United Nations for the Security Council debate on the rebellion in the Congo and the U.S.-Belgian paratroop operations to rescue white hostages from the Communist-backed rebels.

Several hundred leftists marched toward the senate building to protest Tshombe's visit, but police cars closed in. Seven demonstrators and three scuffling.

Police arrested more than 70 of the demonstrators, charged them with taking part in unauthorized demonstration and released them. Among them was Maria Malagoli, 18-year-old adopted daughter of the late Palmiro Togliatti, longtime leader of the Italian Communist party.

When Tshombe arrived in the chilly predawn, only newsmen, police and officials were at Rome's Ciampino military airport.

A Methodist educated by American missionaries, Tshombe said he would ask for the Pope's advice and prayers for the turbulent Congo.

Tshombe praised Congolese-Italian relations, then denounced what he called enemies of his country. He accused Algeria, Ghana, Mali and the United Arab Republic of supporting the Congolese rebels.

The Italian Communist press had denounced Tshombe's visit.

L'Unita, the Communist party organ, called Tshombe 'the bloodstained puppet" and 'the Belgian-Congolese Quisling."

The Vatican daily L'Osservatore Romano said a papal audience was normal whenever a recognized chief of government asks for one.

It added: 'This visit will offer to the august pontiff the opportunity to renew even more directly and effectively his urgent appeal for the return of peace in the troubled Congolese nation."

City Juvenile Unit Handles Ninety Cases

The Juvenile Bureau of the Colorado Springs police department handled 90 juveniles last month, which was eight more than during the same month in 1963.

Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick said 75 of the juveniles were boys ranging in age from 6 through 7 while 15 were girls in their teens.

Sixty-three of the juveniles were referred to juvenile court and the probation office, four were referred to the state juvenile parole office, 22 were released to their parents and one was held for another agency.

Offenses cleared by the bureau involved assault, auto theft, burglary, burglary from motor vehicles, grand larceny, indecent liberties, larceny of motor vehicles, malicious mischief, petit larceny and robbery.

Juveniles comprised 51 per cent of department offenses cleared by arrest during November.

Middle-Aged Distrust of Santa Shown

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — A middle-aged man believes in Santa Claus just as much as a child does.

But he views the annual visit of the jolly old saint with considerably more misgiving. Experience has taught him a certain distrust of people bearing gifts.

On Christmas Eve, the child slips into a heavy-lidded sleep with with mixed feelings of terror and delight.

Has he been a good enough boy to please Santa? Will Santa bring him all the bright new toys he yearned for, or merely leave a lump of coal in his stocking to show disapproval?

But he smiles in his dreams, for deep in his small heart he knows he won't be let down, that on waking he will find under the bright, shining tree all the treasures he wrote about in the letter he sent to the North Pole. And usually his faith is well rewarded, prosperity being what it is.

The middle-aged man, on the other hand, goes to bed on Christmas Eve with a feeling of forlorn apprehension amounting almost to resigned despair. All night he tosses restlessly, haunted by nightmare visions not of sugarplums but of the gifts he is about to receive and will have no use for.

Sure enough, when the middle-aged man arises on yuletide morn, his worst fears are confirmed.

Without opening his packages, he knows what they will contain:

Six pairs of socks, three of which are of a startling plaid variety that would frighten a scarecrow out of a cornfield.

Two mufflers. He already has 12 mufflers leftover from previous Christmases.

Three pairs of size 36 polka dot shorts. Can't anyone remember he hasn't been able to get into size 36 shorts since coming back from World War II?

A 50-cent white handkerchief from the apartment house superintendent, who will expect in return a bottle of scotch and a $10 bill.

Anywhere from two to half a dozen dazzling neckties of the kind bought only to send to middle-aged men at Christmas.

Glumly surveying the loot that Santa has left him, the middle-aged man wonders dazedly what he can do with it.

A practiced glance tells him that he can use three pairs of the sox, the handkerchief, and maybe half the neckties. But what about the rest?

The middle-aged man realizes he can do only one thing with his loot — grin and wear it.

"Just what I wanted!" he cries with false gladness, as the tears roll down his timeworn cheeks. And the only thing that cheers him is the realization that Santa won't come again for 365 more days.

Batterton Named to Civil Service Office

DENVER (AP)—Former Denver Mayor Richard Y. Batterton, a Republican, will serve a full six-year term on the three-man Colorado Civil Service Commission under a new appointment from Gov. John A. Love.

Batterton was named to the commission last summer by Love to fill a vacancy. At the time the governor said it was probable a reappointment would be given for the full term.

The new term will begin Jan. 1 and ends Dec. 31, 1970.

The other commissioners are President Cy Burress, a Republican, and William R. Welsh, Democrat.

Love made the appointment last Tuesday, along with three others. They were:

Stanley White of Grand Junction to be a member of the Colorado Apprenticeship Council for a term ending July 1, 1967;

Mrs. Helen Bush of Arvada to serve a new term as Public Trustee of Jefferson County, ending Dec. 31, 1966; and John E. Towle of Aurora to be a member of the Board of Registration for Professional Sanitarians for a term expiring Dec. 31, 1968.

Love announced the resignation of John Wheeler, Greeley Democrat, as a member of the Real Estate Commission, effective Jan. 1, so he can accept the post of state representative, to which he was elected from Weld County. The governor said he will fill the vacancy soon.

Desegregation Problem Seen On TV Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "CBS Reports" cooly and without implicit editorializing illuminated Wednesday night the problem of segregation in the North by documenting the hunt of an educated, middle income Negro family for a $30,000 house in an integrated neighborhood.

Corbett Rachal, a maker of high fashion wigs, started househunting last summer in the vicinity of the family's old home in Teaneck, N.J. He has not yet found one.

"CBS Reports" crews put a camera in a disguised truck, attached microphones to Rachal and his wife, Sally, and followed them around as they tried to persuade real estate brokers to show them houses.

We never saw the brokers and "CBS Reports" concealed the names of unwilling house sellers. But some sounded almost hysterical as we heard them attempt to persuade the soft-spoken Negro couple that they would not like certain neighborhoods or that prices were too high. Even the help of a community fair housing committee was unable to break through the invisible barriers, although white "testers" sometimes found brokers who had houses to show customers whose skin was the right color. The same brokers could find nothing suitable for the Rachals.

At midprogram, the scene shifted to a section of expensive homes in New Rochelle, N.Y., where 114 white families, 59 Negro families and 2 oriental families are happily living and where, as one of the white residents carefully pointed out, property values have not declined.

It was a thought-provoking hour, made poignant because the Rachals were temperate and thoughtful people.

Dave Garroway, who quit NBC's "Today Show" after the death of his wife some four years ago, now has decided to drop his two per-day New York CBS radio programs soon. Garroway said "pressures of other business commitments" contributed to his decision. He has many outside interests, including a half-finished book on an early French physicist, astronomy and classic automobiles. He is also eager to leave New York, he said, for the sake of his young son's health

NBC will present its first "White Paper" in many a moon on Jan. 5, with a 90-minute program, "The Decision To Drop the Bomb."

The bomb, of course, is the first atom bomb and the program revives the discussions and arguments that surrounded the event 20 years ago. Among persons who will be interviewed are former President Harry S. Truman, who made the decision; scientists Edward Teller, Leo Szilard and Robert Oppenheimer, and copilot Robert Lewis of the plane that carried the weapon to Japan.

Jay North, who at 14 was retired from television when he became too old and too big to play "Dennis the Menace," has not joined a geriatrics colony. He recently costarred in a movie, "Zebra in the Kitchen" and has been signed for a second film role.

Recommened tonight: Danny Thomas variety special, NBC, 8:30-9:30 EST — with Jimmy Durante, Eddie Fisher and Joey Bishop as guest stars.

Four Men Will Face Extortion Charges

DENVER (AP) — Four men charged with trying to extort $65,000 from a disbarred Colorado lawyer will be tried starting Jan. 19.

The date was set Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Judge Alfred A. Arraj. He had delayed the trial, originally set for Sept. 9, because of the illness of one of the defendants, Ruby Kolod, 54.

Kolod is a Las Vegas, Nev. gambler and hotel owner. He and Willie Israel Alderman, 62, also of Las Vegas, are free on $25,000 bonds.

The other defendants have posted $100,000 bonds. They are Felix Antonio (Milwaukee Phil) Alderisio, 51, and Americo Di Pietto, 50, both of Chicago.

All are accused of transmitting in interstate commerce "threats to injure and murder Robert Sunshine of Englewood, Colo." Sunshine is serving a four-to-eight year sentence for embezzlement. Taken first to the Colorado State Penitentiary, he was transferred to the federal prison at La Tuna, Tex., last March after officials said they were afraid an attempt might be made to kill him in the state prison.

Family Given Log Cabin for Christmas

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — One hundred logs are too bulky to fit under a Christmas tree but they fit around one just fine.

That is what Fairbanks folks are giving the Chuck Garrett family for Christmas — a log cabin to house their Christmas tree.

The Garretts and their four children lost all their possessions when fire destroyed their home two weeks ago.

The "Give a Log" drive is being co-ordinated by University of Alaska students. Eighty logs, at $5.60 each, have been donated.

Professional builders have pledged their time to build the 24 by 38-foot house. The house raising bee is planned next week.

Italian Journalists Called Out on Strike

ROME (AP) — Unions called 11,000 Italian journalists out on nationwide strike today, plunging the country into a seven-day news blackout.

The government radio-television network and weekly magazines also were hit by the contract dispute. Only foreign-language dailies were still publishing.

The newsmen are seeking a five-day week, one day less than at present, and higher salaries based on length of service.

Higher Farm Wages Denounced by Group

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Farm Labor Committee for California and Arizona growers has rejected proposals for higher farm wage rates and called for the extension of the foreign farm labor program.

Growers marshalled most of the witnesses in Tuesday's testimony at Labor Department hearings in San Francisco. The hearings continued today and Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz will decide on the basis of the testimony what restrictions should be placed on importation of foreign farm laborers under the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act.

Ninety - eight witnesses paraded before chief examiner Clifford Grant. Twenty - four others just filed their testimony with the examiner.

Spokesmen for the growers insisted on the continuation of an act, which expires Dec. 31, allowing importation of Mexican contract laborers —Braceros—into the United States.

Switzerland Names Its New President

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Hans-Peter Tschudi, minister of the interior since 1959, was elected president of Switzerland today for 1965.

The election by a joint session of the two houses of Parliament was a formality. The presidency rotates annually among the seven members of Switzerland's vice president this year, was next in line.

Tschudi is 51 and a Socialist.

29 Persons Killed In Train Accident

PATNA, India (AP) — A passenger train smashed into a bus Wednesday at a crossing 75 miles northwest of Patna, killing 29 persons and injuring 72.

All the dead and all but two of the injured were aboard the bus.

The locomotive was derailed. The engineer and fireman were hurt. None of the injured was reported in serious condition.

RACING WORM

ASCOT, England (UPI) — Worms may do racing fans here a good turn.

A Dutch soil specialist has suggested more worms be imported to provide the extra drainage channels which would prevent the cancellation of races due to soggy tracks.

Congressmen Told About Closing Bases

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — In case the new Democratic congressmen didn't already know it, they have now been told:

It is painful to have to explain to your constituents why an administration of your party has closed a military base in your district.

But the Democratic national committee, having discussed this fact of life with the freshmen, is prepared to help.

Among the materials given nearly 70 newly elected Democratic representatives at a briefing session Wednesday was a kit relating to the decision by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to close installations now employing about 63,000 persons.

The kit includes a sample five-minute radio or television script adaptable for use by any congressman about any base and a similar news release. They emphasize annual savings of nearly $500 million claimed for the McNamara action; arguments that the closings will not impair defense, and descriptions of the department's actions to maintain jobs for career employes.

Much of the script is devoted to telling how Presque Isle, Maine, not only survived closing of a base three years ago but developed private industries on the site that now hire more people than worked for the military.

The proposed news release announcing the telecast begins: "Congressman —— said today that 'imaginative businessmen' can make recently closed military bases 'tax-payers instead of tax-eaters.' "

The congressmen were told they could make a five-minute film clip for about $12 at the House recording studio.

Ann Miller Learns to Be Dancer, Again

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "For three and a half years, I enjoyed being a girl," says Ann Miller. Now she's learning to be a dancer all over again.

The results can be seen Saturday on ABC's "Hollywood Palace," and previews indicate Ann Miller still has that great tapping style that made her a leading figure in movie musicals for 20 years.

"Boy, I worked hard enough!" she exclaimed. "For a month and a half I practiced with David Lichine and his wife, two Russian ballet experts who made me stretch my muscles and get back in shape. Then I had three weeks of rehearsals with Nick Castle — all for one number.

"I lost 13 pounds doing it. But I also found a whole new career, and I'm as giddy as a starlet, starting in all over again."

Ann never had much chance to be a girl. Troubled with rickets as a child, she studied dancing in her native Houston, Tex., to help straighten her legs. They grew — and grew, until by 12 Ann was her full height of 5 feet 5. She had been playing in vaudeville, then made her film debut in "New Faces of 1937."

Ann danced through RKO films, later switched to MGM as replacement for Cyd Charisse. Ann stayed almost 14 years.

After a few television appearances, she quit the dancing game.

"I hung up my dancing shoes, the whole works," she said. "I had been working all my life, and I figured I wanted to spend some time just being a girl. It had never happened to me before.

"So for three and a half years I was a girl, dressing in furs and feathers, going out on dates, traveling about the world. Fortunately, my mother had saved some of the money I made along the way, so I could afford to.

"But a few months ago I realized that just being a girl wasn't enough. I needed some reason for living, and that meant work."

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made an irregular recovery in active trading early this afternoon.

Following Wednesday's sharp setback there was selective buying in a fairly wide range of issues which had been battered down.

Plenty of stocks declined, however, and the gain on balance was very slight.

Steels and rails rebounded moderately. Rails continued to take some heart from the court-ordered delay of the threatened rail strike. Investment buying supported the steels in spite of the concern over the approaching union contract negotiations.

The tone was generally higher among motors, farm implements, nonferrous metals and utilities but chemicals were lower and the pattern was mixed among tobaccos, airlines, drugs and rubbers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 322.5 with industrials up .2, rails up .3 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .33 at 864.14, still a little below the so-called reactionary low of 864.43 set Dec. 1 — a level which has been regarded as an important test area.

Bethlehem, Republic and U.S. Steel all made fractional gains while Jones Laughlin spurted well over a point.

Comsat opened late on a block of 20,000 shares, declined more than 2 points, recovered to show a fractional net gain, then slipped into fractional loss. Trading in Comsat was very heavy.

IBM recouped 4 points.

Prices were generally higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were slightly stronger.

No Agreement Seen On Defense Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Was there an agreement between the United States and Russia to cut down on defense spending?

"No agreement whatsoever," White House press secretary George Reedy said Wednesday after Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin announced in a Moscow speech that Russia was cutting its defense spending by $555 million. He also said Washington was expected to reduce its military budget.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said he hopes to hold defense spending next year below $50 billion — at about the level for the current fiscal year. That would be about $1.25 billion below the previous fiscal year. Reedy said these figures may have been the basis of Kosygin's statement.

New Steak House Holds Grand Opening Here

HomeSTEAK number three, at 3940 N. Nevada Ave., is currently holding its grand opening. The new steak house is an off-spring of HomeSTEAK, at 303 E. Pikes Peak Ave., formerly called Mr. Steak.

The third restaurant, which will be called number two because it was planned before the North Nevada location, will be located in the Circle Fair Shopping Center, Airport Road and S. Circle Drive. Opening is planned in the spring.

Ray Bliese, 24 N. Garo St., is owner of the three HomeSTEAKs. He has been in the food business for the past seven years.

Bliese opened the first Mr. Steak, 303 E. Pikes Peak Aye., on Nov. 19, 1962. Last January, two of his partners went their separate ways to open some new Mr. Steak restaurants. Bliese then, per agreement, changed the name of his steak house to HomeSTEAK.

HomeSTEAK features an exclusive method of processing and preparing steaks. They are bought in volume and some 300 to 400 steaks are sold each day at the number one location.

The new steak house is not self - service as is the first one. Table service has thus forced slight hikes in the steak prices, about 10 to 15 cents on most. Number three features T-bone, chopped, filet, sirloin and club steaks, along with a complete menu of sandwiches.

The new outlet also features a breakfast menu, while the number one location doesn't.

Number three has room for 120 customers at both booths and tables. The first restaurant seats 80.

Before its opening, number three was completely remodeled and painted. It has two large separate dining rooms, one of which has wall to wall carpeting.

The newest HomeSTEAK is open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., seven days a week.

Bliese employs approximately 20 people in his two restaurants.

He and his wife, Delores, have three children; Pauline 12, Ann 10, and Mike 7.

The Nevada Avenue location is directly across from Cragmor Road, the access road to Rocky Mountain Kennel Club.

Donald Bauman Receives SWAP Sales Award

Donald Bauman, Daniels Motors Inc. salesman, was chosen this week by the SWAP Club to receive its "Outstanding Salesman" award.

Bauman was presented the award by Gordon Shouse, of Shouse TV, at the club's Monday morning breakfast at Ruth's Oven.

Shouse said in his introductory speech that Bauman is a typically successful salesman in that he finds selling a prosperous challenge and treats it as a profession, and like any other successful profession adheres to the policy of the study of his particular field and applies an honest day's work to it.

A native of Indiana, Bauman attended college under a General Motors' scholarship at the General Motors Institute, Flint, Mich.

His automotive career began on the wash rack and he worked his way through all the service departments to the parts departments.

After graduating from college he became a parts manager. After a tour of military duty he came to Colorado Springs in 1963 and was employed as a salesman with the Daniels Motor Co.

He has reached 307 legion points this year and the year's required quota of points to belong to the Chevrolet Honor Society is 270.

The points are based on the number of new and used Chevrolet cars and trucks sold.

Bauman attributes his success to working hard and to the cooperation of all personnel at Daniels Motors.

His increase in sales over a year ago is approximately 25 per cent.

His goal in the car and truck business is to work into a management job with the thought in mind of eventually owning and managing his own dealership.

Bauman is married and the father of two children. He is a member of the Bethel Church, its choir and is presently serving as the Sunday school superintendent. He is also a member of the Colorado Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Dampier Puts Kentucky Cagers Back on Stride

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Louie Dampier is turning out to be one of the star sophomores of the college basketball season.

The six-footer from Indianapolis exploded for 37 points to lead the ninth-ranked Kentucky Wildcats to a 100-74 victory over Iowa State Wednesday night.

"He did a tremendous job," veteran coach Adolph Rupp said after Dampier, aided by another soph, Pat Riley of Schenectady, N.Y., put the Wildcats back on the winning side after their road defeat to North Carolina Monday.

Dampier got his 37 points on 17 field goals and three fouls while Riley contributed 18 points including a three-point play that put Kentucky ahead for good at 17-15.

"I haven't the slightest idea just how far we can go this season," said Rupp last week. Glendon Anderson, the Iowa State coach, was more positive after the game in Lexington, Ky.

"Kentucky looked much better than the Minnesota team that beat us 63-53," Anderson said. The Gophers, sixth-ranked, are unbeaten in four games compared to Kentucky's 2-1 record.

Michigan's Wolverines, the country's No. 1 team in The Associated Press rankings, crushed Indiana State 102-64 and the second-ranked Wichita Wheatshockers made it two straight with a 73-55 romp over Texas Western. Both were home court victories.

Cazzie Russell's 27 points led the unbeaten Wolverines to their fourth straight. Dave Stallworth also scored 27 points and put on a spectacular defensive performance in sparking Wichita.

In a couple of one-point decisions Ohio State edged Butler 67-66 on Al Rowley's basket with 12 seconds left at Columbus, Ohio, and Cornell's Big Red invaded Syracuse and surprised the Orange 73-72. Two free throws by Jim Maglisceau on a one-and-one situation with 19 seconds on the clock won for Cornell. Massachusetts also scored a road victory over Rhode Island 79-67.

Connecticut, which surprised by beating Temple and Princeton in the NCAA playoffs last March, came from 10 points back to defeat Harvard 78-63 behind 26 points by soph Wes Bialosuknia.

In other home court victories, Oklahoma State downed Arkansas 66-52, North Texas beat Houston 60-48, Fairfield took Seton Hall 83-73 and Oregon State whipped Arizona State 66-52 as Jim Jarvis scored 31 points.

Broncos Want Speedie

DENVER (UPI)— Denver Broncos coach Max Speedie, interim coach of the losingest team in pro football, will take over permanent duties for at least one more year, and possibly two.

Cal Kunz, president of the American Football League's cellar team, said he and prinicapl owner Gerald H. Phipps want Speedie to retain the job. The six-time all pro end of the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, is expected to sign a contract this week.

"Something will be done very shortly, within the next few days," Kunz said. "I'm sure that he will be our next coach."

Speedie took over as interim coach after Jack Faulkner was fired. The Broncos lost four straight under Faulkner this season. The team is last in the AFL's Western Division with a record of 2-9-1.

Kunz said he and Phipps talked about Speedie Wednesday, but the discussion centered on the Broncos' draft choices.

Denver added two more prospects to their camp. The signees are East Tennessee quarterback Jim Baker, a Little All-America selection in 1962 and 1963, and Giovachino (Jack) Mauro, a 250-pound lineman from Northern Michigan University.

Giovachino attended the University of Wyoming in 1959 and 1960.

Baker was injured this season, but in three previous seasons, he had 3.996 yards in total offense and scored 151 points.

Cadets Find Top Combo In Comeback Over MU

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

Any coach listing a roster of a dozen players with six juniors and five sophomores has to expect a certain amount of mistakes and a period of experimenting before finding a harmonious combination.

That's the situation this year at the Air Force Academy as Coach Bob Spear aims for the future with a pea-green squad and a fairly rugged schedule in basketball. And against the University of Missouri in a Wednesday afternoon contest, he may have hit on the combo that could make beautiful music together this winter.

The obvious heroics of the Falcons' 82-76 victory over their visitors from the Big Eight Conference were the boys who poured in the most points. That would be junior Sam Peshut, who finally seemed to hit his stride after three mediocre early games, and touted sophomore Fred Budinger. They had 21 and 17 points respectively.

But the Cadet who really deserves the plaudits for that game has to be Ed Sullivan, a shining example of the most improved player on the Air Force team. It's been plain that the Falcons were facing an extreme shortage of pivotmen on this year's squad, but Wednesday Sullivan slipped over from his usual forward position to fill the all-important slot in the middle of the famed shuffle offense and the results were impressive.

The 10 points pumped up by Sullivan were below his norm for the other three games this season, and he picked off only three rebounds wher he had been averaging over 10. But still his work on the hub of the wheeling attack more than made up for the lost ground in the numbers game.

If "Sully" remains at the post, feeding his driving teammates and presenting a definite threat at the top of the keyhole, watch for the Falcons to surprise more than one or two opponents this winter. His passing was nearly flawless and the team seemed to move around him with flowing motion.

Actually, the victory over Missouri on Wednesday could hardly fit into the category of a major upset. This Tiger team was a shade below the talent of most Big Eight members and if they continue to make as many floor mistakes as against the Falcons they probably will find it difficult to dig their way out of the cellar.

The Air Force, too, was prone to too many miscues and they could have proved deadly against another foe. But the late drive headed by Sullivan, Budinger and Peshut broke open the game in the final two minutes and they eased away on free throws as Missouri had to play the catch-up game.

Again the Falcons got themselves in deep trouble with a sputtering start that resembled a Model-T trying to get moving on a sub-zero morning. As was the case last weekend when they fell behind Colorado U. in the first half of a Mile High Classic contest with a goose-egg from the firld in the first seven minutes, the Cadets could find the range against Mizzou. This time they went for nearly six minutes before scrappy guard Scott Etnyre potted the first layup.

From then until the middle of the first half they trailed the Tigers by as much as nine points, but a full-court press defense finally paid off with Peshut, Jerry Yankee and sophomore John Olive hitting six fielders to but two from the Bengals and they tied the score for the first time with 7:04 to play.

The game see-sawed through the rest of the first half, with the Falcons holding a slim 39-36 lead, and it was tied four times through the first nine minutes of the second half.

Air Force pulled away by six on a driving layup by Budinger, a 6-4 sophomore from Tolono, Ill., who has the ability to play any position on the floor, but the spurting Cadets went cold again from the field and Missouri caught up with 3:30 to go on a follow shot by big George Flamank, one of a trio of Mizzou forwards who muscle their way toward the hoop with 200-pound-plus bodies.

But then Budinger hit a jumper and Sullivan dropped in a couple of free throws to pull out by four. Missouri's Gary Garner, who topped both teams with 22 points on a variety of drives and jumps, connected from the corner and the AFA lead was cut to two.

Then Sullivan meshed with one of the most crucial buckets of the game, taking a nifty pass under the basket from Etnyre. There was but 2:11 left and four points usually is enough for the Air Force to finish the game with keep-away. The delay was not needed this time, however, as the aggressive Missouri quintet battled for the ball and accuracy at the free throw line widened the margin at the end.

Besides Garner, the Tigers relied on another guard, Charles Rudd, for a dozen points and husky Ned Monsees chipped in 11 more from close range.

The Air Force could claim to be an honorary member of the Big Eight this week as they again face one of the league's members in Iowa State this Saturday night at the Cadet Gymnasium. Tipoff time is slated for 8 p.m.

Both the Falcons and Missouri now stand at 2-2 for the season, with the AFA losing two last weekend in the Mile High Classic to Colorado State U. and CU, while Mizzou fell to No. 1 ranked Michigan early this week by 30 points.

Spear Says Team's Hustle Paid Off Against Tigers

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The Air Force dressing room was a scene of controlled excitement Wednesday afternoon as Bob Spear's youthful Falcons toasted their first big win of the new basketball season with a few bottles of pop and a good many words of optimism.

'We're on our way now," was the feeling expressed by several of the principals in the AFA's hustling 82-76 win over Missouri of the Big Eight Conference. The Tigers, although not usually considered a basketball power, had nevertheless opened the campaign with impressive victories over Washington U. of St. Louis and Arkansas before being hacked up in the Michigan meat-grinder Monday night.

"That was a good win wasn't it?," beamed Spear as he accepted congratulations from several of the team's top supporters. "It was just a case of hustle, hustle, hustle all the way and it sure paid off."

Spear, who had seen his club lose two straight over the weekend despite excellent efforts against in-state rivals in the Mile High Classic, acknowledged that the experience gained by his many sophomores and juniors in the Denver games was already beginning to pay dividends.

"The kids are playing a little better all the time," he said. "With the large number of players we have with limited experience, we're trying to work with different combinations for different teams. But when we find teams we can match in heighth (as was the case with Missouri), it makes the job a lot easier."

Actually, the game presented some interesting similarities and contrasts with the Falcons' battles against CSU and Colorado last weekend. The Air Force again showed the tendency to be a slow starter, a trait that was fatal in the CU contest last Saturday. In that one the Falcons went some seven minutes into the first half before coming up with their first field goal and against Missouri it was nearly six minutes before the first two-pointer was recorded. In both instances there was a sizeable lead to overcome by that time.

But the Air Force pulled a switch in one area that proved crippling over the weekend. In both of the Mile High defeats, it was a splurge of free throws shooting in the final minutes that wiped out the Falcons' chances. Tom Vidakovich of CSU sank seven in an overtime period to crumble the Air Force hopes Friday and the Buffaloes' Bob Joyce matched that number in cutting off a Falcon rally the following evening. Wednesday, however, the Cadets used that same ammunition to explode a brief missouri flurry. In the final 2:58 of the contest the AFA ran 10 charity tosses through the nets to seal the triumph.

Spear, who has enjoyed excellent performances from a number of his youngsters already, was treated to another Wednesday when sophomore Pat Dowling came off the bench to contribute eight points and excellent floor play. "We had a nice surprise in both Dowling and Peshut (Sam)," Spear said. "Of course, we knew all along Peshut could do it. It was just a matter of when."

The Air Force coach admitted he was surprised by the deadly outside shooting of Missouri's fine guard tandem of Charlie Rudd and Gary Garner. "They've been trying to move the ball to those bigger men (Flamank and Monsees) in earlier games," Spear said. "And we didn't realize their guards were such good shooters."

Asked if the Air Force's Sudden surge on the backboards in the second half was a key factor, Spear agreed. "Missouri started to get a little tired," he smiled. "After all, that was a pretty brisk pace. But our kids just did an all around good job. If they keep it up, we're gonna win some games."

K-State Picks Symons On All-Opponent Team

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI)—Colorado end Bill Symons is a member of Kansas State's all-opponent team.

Symons was named as an offensive end. He was the only Buff named on the offensive and defensive teams.

Defensively, the Wildcats spread their choices among six Big Eight Conference opponents. On offense, four Big Eight teams were represented.

T-Birds End Terror Win String at 20

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Silence — that awful hush composed of fatigue and bitter defeat rolled like a chill London fog from Palmer's dressing room Wednesday night, almost drowning out the jubilant shouts of Wasson's hockey team, the second T-Bird team ever to beat the Terrors' defending City Hockey League champions.

Mike Metcalf celebrated his birthday as the Thunderbirds' junior wing took a pass from Dan Britton and whipped the puck through the unprotected side of the net to break a 2-2 tie at 3:46 of the second period.

Fountain Valley	0	2	.000	2	10

WEDNESDAY'S RESULT

Wasson 3, Palmer 2

TONIGHT'S GAME

Fountain Valley vs. Widefield, 8:15 p.m.

Palmer tried desperately to come back and tie the score, but the spirited Thunderbird defense held fast.

"We may not have the best players," coach Harry Whitworth said happily, "but we have that desire to win. That's what won it for us—Palmer played very well."

"Wasson deserved to win," Palmer coach Tommy Brennan commented. "They played a hustling game.

"But we'll meet again," he reminded.

The defeat broke a string of 20 straight victories for the Terrors, dating back to mid-1963. Palmer went undefeated in 14 games last year.

With the loss to Palmer Cheyenne remained alone atop the league standings with a 2-0 record. The Terrors and Indians will meet Dec. 21 for the first time, the same two teams who fought for last year's league title.

Bruce Mahanke scored his fifth goal of the year for Wasson to open the scoring as he slapped a waist-high shot past goalie Don Astley. But the Terrors cameback before an estimated 2,000 fans (who remained standing throughout the match) as wing Stan Traxler took a bouncing puck on the left side and drilled it past the crease at 1:30.

Palmer went ahead at 8:48 as center Greg Good outskated the T-Bird defense from the blueline and pushed through a 20-footer. Hugh Wallnutt tied the count at 9:19 as he skated unhampered from the blue line, challenging Astley and emerging victorious.

Neither team played its best, if only because the keen interschool rivalry weighed heavily on each player. But both squads checked harder than any team has done this year, with most of the players landing at least once on the cold ice of the Broadmoor World Arena.

In the end, it was Wasson's defense which spelled the difference, upsetting sure scoring patterns and stealing the puck from the Palmer line.

Two losers meet tonight hoping for their first league win. Fountain Valley takes on Widefield at 8:15 p.m.

Ex-Gladiator Doesn't Mind CSU Benchwarming Role

FORT COLLINS — Ever feel sorry for the football player who always rides the bench, never gets into a game, and sees action only in weekday intrasquad scrimmages?

Don't waste your concern, advises a man who should know — Colorado State University senior Harry McCluskey of Security, a suburb of Colorado Springs.

The former All-Pikes Peak League guard at Widefield High has logged all of two or three minutes of varsity game playing time in his three seasons at CSU. But this doesn't bother him a bit.

"Of course, I would have liked to play more," McCluskey admits. "A few minutes against Utah State during my sophomore year was the only action I saw. It was tough to take all the knocks in practice day after day without looking forward to playing in the games. But I definitely feel it has all been well worthwhile.

"It will help me in my coaching after I graduate in June. The things you learn in actual experience, even though just in practice, can't be learned from books," McCluskey points out.

Ram head coach Mike Lude concurs completely. "No one on our squad has worked harder than Harry," he says. "He has really studied the game and has played every line position — end, tackle, guard and center. He is sure to become a better coach than some of our men who have had lots of game experience."

Another big reason McCluskey has continued to stick with the squad is, simply, that he genuinely enjoys playing football; and to do this he has had to hustle.

Unlike the majority of college gridders these days, McCluskey received no financial aid. So to support his wife and three-year-old son, as well as his education, he has handled a variety of jobs, including work at a bowling alley, a creamery and as a roofer.

It will be a hard-won degree McCluskey will receive next spring.

The 13-6 victory over the Universiyt of Hawaii last weekend at Honolulu climaxed a strong finish to the 1964 season for CSU. They won three of their last four games and wound up with five wins in 11 games for the entire campaign. It was the best gridrecord since 1959 when the team posted a 6-4 mark.

With the Rams losing only eight seniors from this season's squad and some substantial help expected from the freshman ranks, the outlook figures to continue to brighten next fall.

This season saw the Rams continue their steady march back up the ladder of success under Lude and his staff. The team was 0-10 Lude's first year in 1962, they won three of 10 games in 1963, and then hiked it to the 5-6 standard this term.

Hull Fails to Score But Assists Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a night for the unexpected in the National Hockey League.

In New York, Bobby Hull, who specializes in goal scoring, battled defensive shadows all night long but found time to set up three Chicago goals in a 6-1 Black Hawk victory over the Rangers. That was surprising.

In Toronto, Maple Leaf fans, disappointed by their club's 3-2 loss to Montreal, had plenty to talk about though when big Frank Mahovlich skated out for his first game action in almost a month. Considering early hospital reports on the Big M's mysterious ailment which remains undisclosed, that was amazing.

The Rangers kept close tabs on Hull, who has scored 20 goals in 22 games and appears on his way to a record-breaking season. But two goals by Ken Wharram and a flurry of four third period markers—three set up by Hull—broke it open for the Hawks.

Denis DeJordy, filling in for the resting Glenn Hall, benefited from some tenacious Chicago checking which stifled the Rangers effectively. The victory snapped a five-game winless streak for Chicago and left the fifth place Hawks four points back of fourth-place New York.

While Hull was held scoreless, his three assists extended his scoring lead to four points over Detroit's Norm Ullman and Chicago's Stan Mikita who had two assists in the Hawks' romp.

Rookie Fred Stanfield, defenseman Al MacNeil and veteran Doug Mohns all scored their first goals of the year for the Hawks.

Meanwhile, Montreal took over second place but the victory was overshadowed by Mahovlich's return to the Leafs' line-up.

The rangy left winger, who missed 11 games because of an undisclosed illness that hospitalized him in mid-November, said after the game he felt winded. "But it's great to be back," he added.

Goals by Claude Provost and Dave Balon countered one by Ron Stewart for a 2-1 Montreal lead after one period. Montreal's Gilles Tremblay scored what proved to be the winning goal in the middle session and Don McKenney hit for the Leafs in the finale.

Sno-Jets Plan Christmas Dance This Weekend

The Sno-Jets' annual Christmas dance will be held Friday, Dec. 11, at the Patty Jewett Golf Course club house, according to President Dick Eller. Admission is free to club members and a small charge will be made for non-members. A combo band will play, from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

The first weekend trip of the season was held last weekend as over 50 beginning skiers made their way to Cooper Hill near Leadville. Classes in fundamentals were held both Saturday and Sunday, and the only injuries reported was a sprained ankle or two, and several stalled cars in the below zero weather.

Aspen City Fathers Taking Steps to Remove Skiniks

ASPEN — Skiniks, winterland's equivalent to beatniks, will soon find the shoulders of Aspen fathers a good deal colder than the snow-covered slopes of this resort.

Mayor Harald (Shorty) Pabst, scion of the Pabst beer family, made clear to police, city council, the board of education, county commissioners and some 280 generally irate citizens that the "freeze" is on the play-now, work-never element thronging the streets of Aspen as never before.

Pabst told the overflowing meeting this week:

"Adequate laws are on the books to handle the situation. And it will be handled."

The situation the mayor referred to was brought to a head recently by an accusation of forcible rape in Aspen and a large shipment of marijuana allegedly destined for the resort which was seized by authorities in Glenwood Springs.

Then the 6-4 Pabst spelled out methods to rid Aspen of the skinik problem. Included, he said, would be a new foot patrolman — equipped with walkie-talkie radio and a trained police dog — added to the city police force.

Other measures would be extra deputies and plainclothesmen, another patrol car, tighter enforcement of vagrancy laws and tougher sentences and fines for the guilty.

Terrell Named Top Contender

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Terrell of Chicago was named No. 1 contender for the world's heavyweight title by the World Boxing Association Wednesday.

The WBA declared the title vacant last summer after stripping Cassius Clay of his championship.

Former champion Floyd Patterson of New York was listed second in the latest monthly ratings. He was followed by George Chuvalo of Toronto and Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore. Clay was not listed in the top 10. Neither was Sonny Liston, whom Clay defeated for the title.

Terrell was to have fought Cleveland Williams for the WBA heavyweight title, but Williams was shot and wounded during a fracas with a policeman in Houston Nov. 29. He has been removed from the ratings for an indefinite period.

Piccolo Wins Grid Crowns

NEW YORK (AP) — Brian Piccolo of Wake Forest has officially been awarded major college football's 1964 rushing and scoring titles — after making the longest climb of any double winner in history.

Piccolo won the rushing title with 1,044 yards gained in 10 games to 1,004 for runner-up Jim Grabowski of Illinois, who played in nine games. Piccolo scored 11 points on 17 touchdowns and nine extra points, edging Howard Twilley of Tulsa by one point.

In 1963, Piccolo finished 119th in rushing and tied for 251st in scoring with 367 yards and 22 points.

Piccolo's 11 points this season were eight more than the entire Wake Forest team scored in all of 1962 and 1963 combined.

Browns' Abraham Abraham Is Known To Cleveland Buffs as Loyal Fan

CLEVELAND (AP) — Win or lose, Abraham Abraham will always be a Cleveland Browns' fan. So who's Abraham Abraham?

He's nearly as familiar to Browns' home fans as Jim Brown.

Abraham ("Just call me Abe"), is unofficial cheerleader and self-appointed catcher of the ball on extra points after Browns' touchdowns. "I don't want to shag for the other team," he says.

His official job is keeper of the pass gate, where working press and guests come into Municipal Stadium. Abe, 57, checks everyone through. Then he adshes for the field—the same dash he has made for every home game since 1946.

Browns' fans have no trouble picking Abe out on the field. He always wears the same suit—a bright seal brown—the team's official color.

"People ask me if it's the only suit I have," Abe says. He changed once and was turned away at the gate. A policeman didn't recognize him. He's been wearing the same suit now for 14 years and it has become a familiar trademark to fans in the huge stadium.

Back in 1946, Abe was an assistant cigar store manager in the same building where the Browns had their offices. An official of the Browns asked if he had ever seen a pro football game. Abe said "no" and got invited to one.

After a half-hour wait to get into the game, Abe told former Browns' owner Mickey McBride that he "needed an assistant." So McBride hired Abe.

"One day I was walking across the field (behind the end zone) delivering a message to a doctor," he recalls. "Lou Groza was warming up and the ball hit me in the chest. I tried to catch it. I decided I'm going after that ball every time." And he has.

After he catches the ball, Abe sometimes dashes with it like a halfback, flips it into the air or tosses it behind his back to his son, Louis, 19, now serving with the Navy in Jacksonville, Fla.

Talking to Abe is like making a survey of how the fans feel about the Browns' game with the New York Giants Saturday. He owns a restaurant on the west side and the chief topic between short-order meals is football.

"I think the boys are more anxious to win this one than anything else," he says. "Some of the customers are a little disappointed but most of them are behind the team. There are some pretty good arguments but I'm the chief referee and settle them quickly.

"This is our home town team and we have to stick by them. Most of the customers feel the same way."

Abe says he signs about 15 to 20 autographs after each game. "I just make sure it isn't a check."

In 1955, the last time Cleveland won a National Football League championship, Abe had a flag made which read: "Cleveland Browns, Champs," and met the team at Cleveland Hopkins Airport.

The Browns can't win the championship Saturday, but can take the Eastern Division title with a victory over the Giants. It doesn't matter to Abe. He and some customers plan to be at the airport Saturday night.

They're taking the flag along.

Colt Coach Don Shula Voted NFL Coach of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Shula's job of leading the Baltimore Colts to the Western Conference title of the National Football League in his second year as head coach earned him recognition today as the league's Coach of the Year by an Associated Press panel.

Shula won by a landslide in the voting of the 42-man group, three from each league city. The Baltimore coach had 38 votes to three for Blanton Collier of Cleveland. One committee member did not vote in this category.

The 1963 winner was George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears.

Under Shula's direction, the Colts bounced back from an opening day 34-24 defeat by Minnesota and streaked through 11 straight games before they lost to Detroit last Sunday. Enroute they clinched the Western crown and whipped the favored Green Bay Packers and defending champion Chicago Bears twice each. The first Bear game was a shocking 52-0 rout.

Shula, 34, came to the Colts as successor to Weeb Ewbank after the 1962 season, following a career as a defensive back in the NFL and three years as line coach for the Detroit Lions under George Wilson.

Drafted by the Cleveland Browns in 1951 after a fine career at John Carroll University, Shula came to Baltimore in 1953 in a 10-for-5 player swap. He played with the Colts' defensive backfield through 1956 and finished his active career with Washington in 1957.

Shula's first coaching job was as an assistant at Virginia in 1958. He was an assistant at Kentucky in 1959 and moved to the Lions in 1960.

Under Shula's direction in 1963, the Colts got off to a wobbly start while breaking in rookies and filling in for injured regulars. Baltimore came with a rush at the end and won five of its last six to finish in third place.

A sensational comeback by Lenny Moore, an inspired year by Johnny Unitas and the addition of rookie Tony Lorick to share the fullback job with Jerry Hill gave the Colts a potent offense. The return of Gino Marchetti, who had announced his retirement, fine play by Bill Pellington at middle linebacker helped solidify the defensive unit.

In Ewbank's final years at Baltimore there was much criticism of the coach for playing Moore as a running back instead of using him outside as a flanker. However, Shula followed the same plan, except in emergencies.

When Shula took the job he said, "I favor one quarterback. When you've got a good one, you stick with him." He has followed that rule with Unitas who is having a sensational year, now that he has some running power to balance off his passing.

Shula is an intense, active man who makes his feelings known on the practice field and along the side lines during the games. Although Shula is quick on the emotional trigger and outspoken at times he has developed poise and confidence.

Collier, also a second year coach at Cleveland, did a fine job with the Browns who are only one game away from their first Eastern Conference title since 1957.

Swimmers Lone Victors For Tigers

It took until the final game of the season for Colorado College's football team to claim its first victory this past fall, and CC's hockey squad is still looking for an initial win after five games. But the Tigers swimming squad switched this losing trend in their opening meet.

Now Coach Jerry Lear has until the middle of January to remain the only undefeated varsity squad on the Tejon campus. At that time the CC tankers will have a re-match with Colorado Mines, next time at home in Schlessman pool.

Last weekend the Bengals splashed head-to-head with the Miners in Golden, and then pulled out the 49-46 victory in the final relay of the meet. In addition, three new CC records were set.

Page Whyte, a returning letterman from CC's first swim team, won the diving event with 180.2 points. Les Gifford set a new mark with 6:17.9 timing in the 500-yard freestyle that chopped nine seconds off the old record, Mike Lester set another record with a 0:55.1 clocking in the 100-yard freestyle, and Bruce Johnson got a third record in the 200-yard breaststroke with 2:41.8.

"Everyone worked together real well as a team," Lear said of the dual with Mines. "And because everybody did his job, it would be hard to single out any of our swimmers."

The year 1949 saw the largest win of National Football League champions over College All-Stars 38 to 0, with Philadelphia winning.

Farm Bureau Plans Voter Strength Drive

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation is starting a grass roots drive designed to prevent farmers from losing voting strength in state legislatures.

Platform writers at the big farm organization's annual convention today called upon its members and leaders to campaign to set aside — through a constitutional amendment — a recent Supreme Court ruling which would reduce rural voting power in legislatures.

The ruling held that representation in state lawmaking bodies must be solely on the basis of population. In most states having bicameral legislatures, membership in one body has been based on other factors, mostly on areas, and the other on population.

The Farm Bureau leaders see in the court ruling a big shift of legislative seats away from rural areas to urban areas — a development which already has virtually destroyed the influence of farmers in Congress.

The farm population has been declining sharply in many states. Because of tax matters, rural zoning, highways, education and other state and local problems, Farm Bureau leaders consider it essential that farm strength be maintained in legislatures.

Philadelphia May Ban Noisy Radios

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The mayor's Committee for Noise Abatement has come up with a solution to the problem of loud radio playing in public places.

It suggested the radio fans use earphones.

The recommendation follows the filing of assault charges against a college history professor accused of hitting a woman bus passenger with her radio when she wouldn't turn it down.

Student Violence Can Topple Governments

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A teen-age boy brandishing a stick or hurling stones is no fearsome sight.

Multiply him by thousands, abandon him and his brethren to unscrupulous and opportunistic leaders, and he can bring down governments.

In the wave of student violence in Asia, Africa and Latin America, the participants' ages ranged from preteens to overripe maturity. In the mass they are not just kids on a rampage, but an explosive political force.

How many of the outbursts are spontaneous? How many are provoked by legitimate student leaders? What impels students to violence?

Stormy student participation in politics is an old European custom, transplanted as a heritage of colonial times to Asia, Africa and most of the Western Hemisphere.

This tradition has not taken root extensively in the United States, probably because in a nation blessed with more freedom and opportunity than the Old World ever knew, students had less time for or interest in politics.

But the fever is contagious. There are occasional offshoots of it in the United States, such as the current incidents at the University of California at Berkeley.

The Old World idea — strong in Latin America and prevalent in much of the rest of the world — is that the grounds of the university are sacrosanct, beyond government authority and are indeed practically autonomous.

In the prenuclear age, when the world was not so compressed a package, the university was the training ground for future leaders through exposure to problems of political and social justice. The tradition persists, but today it is an explosive agent in a time of intense global contest. The student — member of the elite and a potential future leader — becomes a prime target of opportunists of right or left intent on power.

In the intellectual violence around the world, there are several types of students involved.

One is "the perennial student." Often he is a Communist. Often he is in his 30s or older, but he styles himself "youth leader."

Then there is the captive student.

In many Asian, African and Latin-American countries a noisy minority of young intellectuals made themselves the backbone of extremist strength. They are persuaded to believe themselves on a rampage against their elders, that they are members of the elite which will rule because, unlike its elders, it knows all the answers in advance.

What these students do in reality is submit to regimentation. They march stolidly through city streets, paced by strutting, self-important and often over-age student leaders.

In a non-Communist dictatorship, tame students are herded into street demonstrations to chant prefabricated phrases. In Communist dictatorships, when a government wants to make propaganda from some development such as the recent Congo events, "spontaneous" demonstrations break out before embassies. Police are myopic until the show has served its purpose.

Finally, there are the frustrated students. In many countries they have genuine, or what they believe to be genuine, grievances. They face the frustration of living in countries so backward that real democracy is a dream.

In Southeast Asia, a student told me he believed the rich always would support the rich, and since Americans were rich, there was little hope that U.S. aid would bring reforms.

All over the world, in countries whose development has been slow, there are impatience, anger, deep cynicism among students about the virtues and advantages of American-type democracy.

"Why do we do what we do?" a young man in South Viet Nam once asked me. "Look around you and see. What do we have to lose?"

Girl Allergic to Marriagable Men

NORWICH, England (AP) — "I think," said pretty Margrethe Larsen, 17, "I'm allergic to marriageable men.

"I've only got to look at a boy I like, and break out in spots."

They appear on her neck and chest.

"It's terribly embarrassing. If a boy walks me home from a dance, I can guarantee that I'll break out in a lot of spots the following day," she said.

Margrethe is a stenographer.

"I hate to think how I'd react if I ever got a steady boy friend," she added.

A skin specialist at a local hospital said it sounded like a nervous complaint, an exaggerated form of blushing.

House Demos Try to Weaken Rules Group

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats trying to weaken the power of the Rules Committee were confident today their efforts had the support of Speaker John W. McCormack.

Although McCormack has not committed himself publicly, sources close to the speaker say he favors adoption of a rule that would prevent the Rules Committee from holding up a bill more than 21 days.

McCormack, as majority leader, actively supported such a rule when it was adopted in the 81st Congress in 1949. It was rescinded two years later in the 82nd Congress because the late Speaker Sam Rayburn didn't like it.

The 21-day rule tends to weaken the power of the speaker, as well as the Rules Committee, by letting the chairmen of legislative committees take directly to the House floor measures that have been bottled up in the Rules Committee for three weeks.

It is not uncommon for the speaker to request the Rules Committee to hold up legislation he considers undesirable.

Despite this potential dilution of his authority, however, the speaker has shown no backing away from the position he took as majority leader.

McCormack also is believed to favor another rules change aimed at the Rules Committee. It would prevent the committee from blocking a House-Senate conference on bills passed, in different versions, by each body. Late in a session, such power has been used to kill bills opposed by the Rules Committee chairman.

The two proposed changes are a key part of a package of revisions a group of House Democratic liberals hopes Congress will adopt when it convenes in January.

McCormack has given no inhication yet how he stands on other suggested changes, which would liberalize procedures to discharge bills from reluctant committee chairmen, and alter the Democratic-Republican ratio on committees to reflect the bigger Democratic majority elected Nov. 3.

The proposals were endorsed by a steering committee of the Democratic Study Group, which is currently canvassing the rest of the Democrats for support.

The loosely-organized study group has been largely a frustrated minority among House Democrats since it was launched during the Eisenhower administration in 1956.

Punch Card Stool Pigeon, Detectives Say

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Detectives credited automation today with cracking its first case. A punch card was a stool pigeon.

The case began when a man handed Gloria Ferguson, a cashier in a telephone company office, this note:

"I have a gun in my belt. Don't make me use it. Give me all the bills at once. . ."

She gave him $76 in bills but, as it turned out, he gave her a bill, too. A telephone bill.

That's what the threatening note was written on. But the name of the person billed had been torn away.

That was last month. In jail today, booked on suspicion of robbery, is Arthur C. Moore. Police say Miss Ferguson identified Moore from photographs as the man who robbed her.

What led detectives to Moore's door? The bill, officers said.

They explained that although the name was torn off those little punch-card holes remained.

Detectives took the bill to the telephone company computer, and, with a buzz and a whirr, it clicked out the name and address that had been torn away.

Officers picked up Moore Tuesday night.

Moore denied robbing Miss Ferguson.

Blind Children 'See' Department Store

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Eighteen youngsters who visited a downtown department store Wednesday were just like thoudands of other children at this time of year.

They read their Christmas lists to Santa Claus and were thrilled by a tour of the toy department.

There was a difference. Their Christmas lists were in braille, the authors blind.

The children are third graders at the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind. Their teacher, Norman Anderson, said:

"Our students can't walk into a toy department and perceive everything in the way that normal children do. Instead of sight, they touch, smell and hear to perceive what toys are like."

Anderson, too, is blind.

Crawford, a reenlistment NCO for the 5th Division, won the medal while serving in Italy. On Sept. 13, 1943, the Sgt. single-handedly assaulted a number of enemy machine gun nests, without regard for his own life. Strangely enough, the Medal of Honor was presented posthumously to Sgt. Crawford's father, the late George H. Crawford of Pueblo. At the time, Crawford was believed to have been killed in action.

Bandit Caught After Chase By Helicopter

By TOM CHASE

ATLANTA (AP) — The gunman "made no bones about the fact that he would kill us if we didn't cooperate," the bank officer said quietly.

"I told him if he just wanted the money we would cooperate, but if he planned to harm the children he might as well go ahead and shoot us," said Ray B. West, 30. His wife and two small girls were close by.

The masked man with the 45-caliber pistol snapped, "take it easy, take it easy. Everything's planned," West said.

Police and FBI agents confirmed Wednesday that everything was planned — up to a point.

The plan called for holding West and his family as hostages to get into the suburban Buckhead branch of the Citizens and Southern National Bank, a bomb hoax to force obedience, and swift flight by plane to Switzerland.

But there were no provisions for a suspicious bank employe, fast police and a traffic helicopter doing detective work.

The plan failed. No money was taken and a man was arrested.

FBI agent Joseph Ponder said Keith Donald Moore, 24, of Atlanta, was charged with attempted robbery and also with the $23,200 robbery of the same branch bank June 26.

Moore, a free lance photographer, was held without bond for the grand jury.

Investigating officers said Moore and his wife went to Switzerland some time after June 26 and she remained there when he returned to Atlanta about a week ago.

The FBI said Moore had in his possession a plane ticket for Pully, Switzerland, by way of Paris, and a valid passport. His flight left Atlanta just minutes after police bullets and the helicopter halted his escape attempt.

But that was many hours after West's verbal exchange with the man with the mask and the pistol.

Police Capt. R. E. Little said the robber entered the West home about 9:30 Tuesday night. He wore sunglasses and a mask that covered his facial features.

"He came into the house and looked it over," said West. "Mrs. West and I sat on a bed and I put a chair in the hallway for the robber. He sat there and cocked and uncocked his pistol several times."

At 5 a.m. Wednesday West and his wife were ordered to dress their two little girls, one six years and the other nine months, and drive to the bank.

When bank employes began arriving, the bandit admitted them and warned, "just follow instructions and no one will get hurt."

He also warned that a bomb had been left at a nearby school and could be set off by remote control. The school was evacuated and searched later but no bomb was found.

When Bob Tolleson arrived for work he noticed something amiss and called police.

Minutes later a policeman approached the front door. The masked man aimed his pistol at Mrs. Suzanna Ingle, a 24-year-old teller, and said "you're coming with me." She went out the back door with him.

"On his orders I ran some red lights but didn't drive at more than about 40 miles per hour," Mrs. Ingle said. "My main thought was how to get out of the car. I even considered wrecking it."

Finally the car was halted by a gathering force of patrol cars while the helicopter hovered overhead giving directions.

The bandit released Mrs. Ingle, shaken but unharmed.

"Just as we stopped," said patrolman R. S. Norton, "He dived back into the car, mashed the accelerator with his hand and roared away with his feet sticking out the door."

Norton and two other officers fired at the car, other police vehicles closed in and the man surrendered.

Republicans Do Not Agree on Policy Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is what some Republican leaders are saying in the continuing debate over the party's leadership:

Dean Burch — "The policy statement issued by the Republican governors' association is one which I and every other responsible Republican can endorse without hesitation. . . . I pledge that as long as I am privileged to serve as chairman of the Republican National Committee I will make every effort to assure the Republican party the broadest possible base of support."

John Grenier — "I herewith submit my resignation as executive director of the Republican National Committee."

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, chairman of the Republican Governors Association — "I believe that the national committee will not accept these protestations of moderation now. They will read Mr. Burch's statement for what it is . . . a hollow and shallow promise to quit doing what has been done."

Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon — "I would think it would be very difficult to carry on in a more inclusive manner, which is so badly needed now for the party, until some very specific acts have been made (by the Burch administration) which would demonstrate more than just words — actions as well as words."

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado — "I hope this will lead the way toward a greater unification of the party than we presently have. . ."

Gov. Cliff Hansen of Wyoming — "I am pleased with Dean Burch's statement in which Sen. (Barry) Goldwater agrees. I think it reflects a realistic attitude that will and must characterize the leadership of the Republican party. . . ."

CENTER FOR METHOD

NEW YORK (AP) — Establishment of a center here to teach actors the Stanislavski Method is being planned by Sonia Moore, a drama coach who trained at the Moscow Art Theater.

"There are a great many talented people here," says Mrs. Moore, "but it is mastery of technique which turns talented people into artists."

By STEVE TILLMAN

By STEVE TILLMAN

WASHINGTON — (Special to the Gazette Telegraph) — Next move on the part of the Secretary of Defense will be made known in the form of a formal announcement of the merger of certain Reserve Air and Army units with National Guard units, as previously mentioned here some months ago. Formal word awaits final action on the details between the Pentagon and various State officials.

Six divisions, nine separate brigades and 120 separate battalions are expected to be involved. There is expected to be thirteen Army Reserve Training Divisions de-activated.

The Reserve lobby is literally tearing its hair out over the proposal but just as in the case of the closing out of military bases Defense Secretary McNamara is not expected to play politics with the merger program.

Before the end of calendar year 1965 word may be available on the merger of several old line setups in the Services such as a single Pay Corps, single Judge Advocate General Department, and a single Corps of Chaplains.

The retirement law of 1962 governing Civil Service employes provides that annuity increases become automatically accorded whenever living costs rise 3 or more per cent from the last annuity increase. Since 1962 the living costs have risen about 2.5 per cent so that if the index is up to 3 per cent in 1965 the Civil Service retirees will receive a 3 per cent increase. The law for increases in military retired pay is somewhat different.

There are several bills to be introduced in the new Congress for a general annuity increase for the retired employes. This would be in addition to the 3 per cent automatic increase. Some budget planners, expressing favorable support for the overall increase, anticipate that the increases in 1965 could amount to as much as 8 per cent.

Since increases in military benefits generally follow the increases given to Federal employes, retired military leaders will watch the next few months with great interest.

The next Congress is expected to approve the long-sought measure to give present and future Federal employes full retired pay on completion of 30 years of service without any reference to the age of the potential retiree.

A list of the first of fifteen military bases to be closed out overseas includes Ft. Brooke in Puerto Rico (with headquarters of the Antilles Command moving to Fort Buchanan in 1966) but the retention of Rodriquez Army Hospital on an active basis.

The new Drill Sergeant Schools established for the active Army will be available to Army Reserve Training Division personnel.

A change in Army Regulations 140-11 permits a delay to finish High School when an individual enlists in the Army Reserve program for two years' active duty to compete for an appointment to West Point. The applicant must have in his possession an official notification from TAG that he is academically and medically qualified at the time of enlistment.

Military retirees traveling or living abroad are finding rules governing purchases at commissaries and px's very confusing. Only retirees under court-martial jurisdiction have this privilege in England. The Pentagon Word on this says retired Reservists are not under court-martial jurisdiction but failed to make clear whether the application was to Reservists retired under Title 11 and Title III of PL 810 or just Title 111.

The end of the technical services of the Army is seen in the reorganization now going on with respect to field Army combat support activities into functional lines rather than by department. Known as COSTAR, the new approach will embrace, on a world-wide scope, traditional concepts of the Quartermaster, Communications, Transportation and similar technical agencies.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Terry's questions are just as appropriate for the usual doctor, clergyman and writer of business letters, so scrapbook this case. And be sure to send for the booklet below, for it will reveal original data from the tachistoscoope never published by any other scientist.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D.

CASE U-445: Terry F., aged 22, is the journalism student who wanted to know how to increase the interest value of printed copy.

Yesterday I gave you some unpublished data which I derived many years ago while I was director of our Psychology Laboratory at Northwestern University.

For I used the tachistoscope (quick exposure machine) to test printed pages, prior to launching this "Worry Clinic" column.

And while I was located at Smith College, I did similar testing of school children, using two identical stories but with different print layouts.

And I found that children (as well as adults) picked the story that was set in short paragraphs in preference to the long paragraphs. Why?

Well, long paragraphs are linked with textbooks and editorial copy.

Short paragraphs are typical of novels and narration. They suggest dialogue.

Many people will thus race through an entire novel in one evening by skipping the long, dry paragraphs of descriptions and reading only the short paragraphs, usually dialogue in quote marks.

For quote marks indicate conversation.

Since you seldom talk to yourself, dialogue means at least TWO people!

And when TWO people get together, almost any conceivable dramatic action may occur, ranging from assault to love, murder to kidnaping, seduction to salesmanship, etc.

YOUR PAPER
U-445

And until we know what the dialogue is about, we all tend to be motivated by the old "gossip" urge.

Quote marks thus arouse curiousity and stimulate greater interest.

So launch your story or even a scientific essay with a quotation, or open with dialogue.

Socrates made the dialogue his major teaching strategy and we should follow his example far more today in our schools.

But when you open with a quotation, be sure to break it up so you can get THREE sets of quote marks in the first line.

Contrast the next two openings:

"Dr. Crane, you ask, "how can . . .

"Dr. Crane, how can a writer add more interest value to the printed page?" you ask.

Since quote marks are the most dramatic print symbols that makind has ever invented, then THREE sets of quote marks on your opening line excel a single set!

Because newspaper and magazine columns are so narrow, you must do a fast break to get those there sets on one line!

"Yes," Terry said, "But how can I use quotes when I am writing a serious essay about something that isn't dramatic?"

Well, dig up a relevant quotation from some ancient authority.

Or use the typical "flash back" method of the movies and TV, where the opening scene depicts fighting or dangerous conflict that really takes place later in the play.

And you medics, dental surgeons and other scientists, should take note of this "print psychology" clinic I'm offering you today, for nothing is more dry and boresome than the usual medical or dental convention.

So send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. Preachers, too, need it!

Plush New Bus Service Is Proposed

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Plush bus service with stewardesses, direct home-to-office transportation and free magazines has been proposed for Peoria.

Authority to operate two new bus routes with the special service was asked for Wednesday from the Illinois Commerce Commission by Peoria City Bus Lines, Inc., and the University of Illinois. The commission took the proposal under advisement.

Passengers wouldn't have to scramble for a seat on the 45-passenger buses. Each passenger would be guaranteed a seat with payment of $9.25 for a monthly ticket for a ride of 3½ miles one way. Stewardesses would make sure each passenger had a monthly ticket.

The university plans to lease up to eight buses and operate them for a six-month trial period over an express route from a residential district to downtown Peoria and on a local crosstown route. Peoria City Lines would continue to operate its 40 buses over regular routes in this central Illinois city of more than 103,000.

Under the new system, the buses would pick up passengers within a block of their homes in the morning and take them to their places of work. In the evening, they would be given the return trip home.

The buses would wait for a passenger up to one minute, said Michael A. Blurton, director of the university's transit ridership improvement project.

Blurton said he hoped the service would be started within two weeks. He said if it is a success, Peoria City Lines would take over operation of the buses.

The project has been approved by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency and involves federal funds.

Professor James Coke, director of the office of community development at the university, said the bus service was designed to "compete with the private automobile in terms of speed, comfort and personal convenience."

Patients Are Kept Afloat on Jets of Air

LONDON (AP) — A London research center says it is making progress in keeping hospital patients floating on jets of air.

Already a man has been kept afloat for five hours.

The next step is to see if a person can be so suspended for 24 hours without ill effects.

If the experiments succeed, they are expected to lead to a major advance in treatment of multiple burns, medical authorities say.

Pain would be reduced, since the patient would not be in contact with any solid material.

The experiments started in 1961, with "flying pigs."

They are continuing with human volunteers at London's Institute of Orthopedics with backing from three government-sponsored organizations.

A cushion of air at relatively low pressure is contained within a curtain of air from high-pressure jets. The patient floats on the lower pressure air inside the invisible curtain.

The apparatus looks something like a casket without a lid. The patient is placed inside naked on a plastic mattress. When the fan and jets are turned on, the patient rises on the invisible cushion.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I paste each "Heloise" in a large magazine that has "heavy, slick" pages.

Starting on the left hand side, I can usually get three whole columns on one page. I paste these columns across the pages sideways, not up and down.

My magazine is getting fatter, and I am pleased with my Heloise scrapbook. This is the most useful way I have found to keep these precious clippings. —Mary Spina

Ladies:

So many women have written in asking how to file hints they want to save, and this seems to be the best answer yet:

Those who are just starting this method may like to take five magazines (these magazines don't cost a cent now, as we have already paid for them and read them) . . . Put kitchen hints in one magazine, sewing hints in another, laundry hints in another, and so on. This way, you won't have to thumb through the entire magazine to find what you're looking for . . . Label 'em "Kitchen, etc."

Thanks, Mary and I send my love, Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Your instructions on how to wash fiberglass drapes are great!

As I was re-hanging my pinch-pleat drapes (all damp and droopy and wondering how they'd look when dry) my neighbor suggested that I pinch the pleats together with my fingers and push an ordinary clothespin over them.

I did this, and the pleats are perfect! —Betty Shurie

Dear Heloise:

Clip clothespins firmly along "one outside edge" of your dish drainer for the unbreakable plastic glasses, cups, etc.

The pins may lean, so place your plates in the drainer first and let the glasses lean forward.

Makes extra space. Oh, how much more you can drain . . . —Mildred Kieffer

Letter Of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

You may not think this is a very nice gift for a bride, but don't judge too quickly. It brought many a laugh at the shower, and many smiles and only an occasional groan during the first few weeks of our marriage. It holds a tender place in our memories, and we've never forgotten the gift or the giver.

The gift Thirty-six cans of fruits, vegetables, etc. individually wrapped with pretty paper and a bow — and "all the labels removed!" —Surprise Supper "Bride and Groom"

Dear Heloise:

We bought a home that is about ten years old. The kitchen cabinets have a varnish finish. I find that the four doors used the most are sticky only around the handles. No amount of elbow grease and different cleaners have removed this. Does anyone know the cause, and what can I do about this —"T"

Gals: Does anyone know the answer to this frequent problem on cabinets these days. If so, please write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. We get so many letters like "T's". Sure wish some sweet gal would help us solve it. —Love, Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When my little girls come down with flu or colds, in order to make them drink their liquids, I prepare tea parties with their own little tea sets.

They think this is real fun, and it takes their mind off their illness for a while. Besides, you should see how much liquid they gobble down! —Mary C.

Dear Heloise:

We have all kinds of sprays to discourage household odors, but most smell too much like perfume.

When my mother burned something on the old coal and wood range, or if household odors built up, she just sprinkled ground cinnamon on the hot surface. Try it! —C. H. Krueger

I tried this in my own oven. And it works beautifully! Thanks a million! I later looked for the apple pie . . . but couldn't find it! —Heloise

Opening lead: Ten of ◇

West's composure while being subjected to severe pressure led to the defeat of a slam contract when his opponent was on the threshold of triumph.

West opened the ten of diamonds and the king was played from dummy, so that declarer could take a finesse in trumps. West was in again with the king of spades and he returned another diamond to declarer's ace.

South could count 11 top tricks at this point—four spades, three hearts, three diamonds, and one club. The issue apparently boiled down to the club finesse, but declarer decided to apply some pressure against the opposition first.

A spade was led to the jack to clear up the trump situation, and the queen of diamonds was cashed on which South discarded a club. Declarer now proceeded to run the balance of the spades, and West was obiiged to make three discards.

The latter realized that he could not afford to let go a heart if South had the queen. To give up three clubs, however, would also prove fatal if declarer had the ace and queen of that suit and became aware that his opponent was in difficulties.

West was able to part conveniently with the three and five of clubs as South ran the spades. When East discarded a small heart, it became obvious that West must hold onto all of his cards in that suit. He, therefore, steeled himself as the last spade was led and calmly parted with the eight of clubs.

Declarer played the queen of hearts followed by the ace and king. When the suit did not break, he fell back on the club finesse. West took the last two tricks with the king of clubs and the ten of hearts. Needless to say, had he shown any reluctance to discard his clubs, South might have been sufficiently alerted to refuse the finesse in that suit and play to drop the king.

Florida Racial Law Struck Down by Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down today a Florida law making it a crime for a Negro man and white woman, or a white man and Negro woman, habitually to occupy the same room at night.

Justice Byron R. White, for a unanimous court, said the Florida law represented "an exercise of the state police power which trenches upon the constitutionally protected freedom from invidious official discrimination based on race."

A Florida law prohibiting marriages between Negroes and whites was attacked in the same case, but White said the court was not expressing ony view about that law in today's opinion. The court dealt solely with the statute dealing with persons of different races using the same room at night.

Explaining the court's ruling, White said that, because the section as to persons using the same room applies only to a white person and a negro who commit the specified acts — living together — and because no couple other than the one made up of a white and a Negro is subject to conviction upon proof of the elements comprising the offense it proscribes, "we hold (the section) invalid as a denial of the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the 14th Amendment."

Two to Be Sentenced On Espionage Charges

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — John W. Butenko and Igor A. Ivanov are scheduled to be sentenced Dec. 18 for conspiring to commit espionage.

The charge, on which they were convicted Dec. 2, carries a maximum penalty of death.

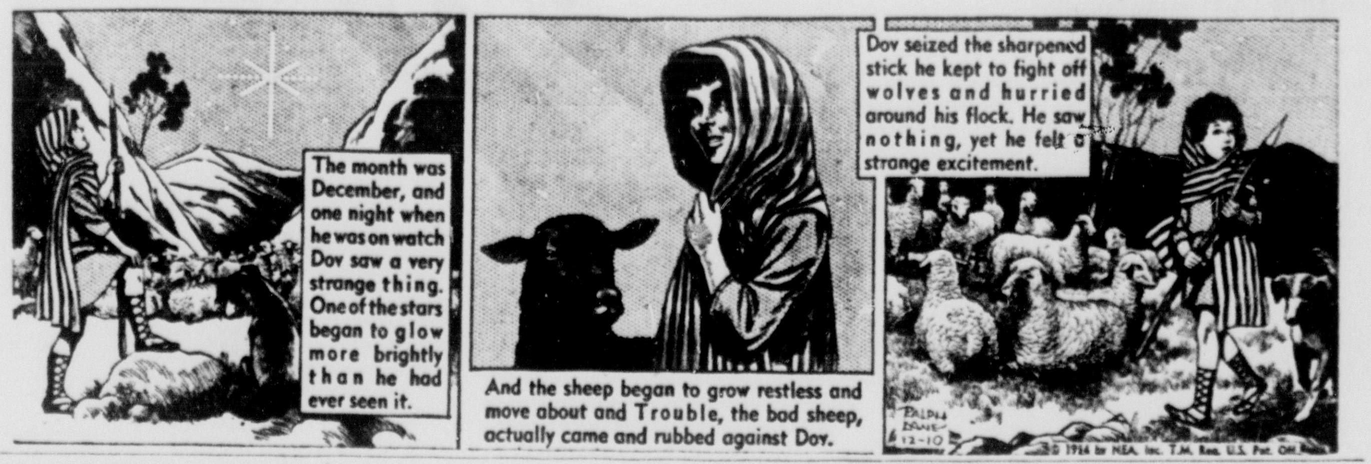
U.S. Dist. Judge Anthony J. Augelli, who presided at the pair's trial, announced the sentencing date Wednesday.

Butenko, 39, an American engineer, and Ivanov, 34, a Russian chauffeur, were convicted of conspiring to relay U.S. Air Force secrets to the Soviet Union.

Both also were convicted of conspiring to violate the law requiring registration of foreign agents. On a third count against Butenko, he was found guilty of acting as an unregistered agent for Russia. These charges carry maximum sentences of five and 10 years imprisonment, respectively.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS

By Ralph Lane



The month was December, and one night when he was on watch Dov saw a very strange thing. One of the stars began to glow more brightly than he had ever seen it.
And the sheep began to grow restless and move about and Trouble, the bad sheep, actually came and rubbed against Dov.
Dov seized the sharpened stick he kept to fight off wolves and hurried around his flock. He saw nothing, yet he felt a strange excitement.

LBJ Won't Wear Top Hat at Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will dispense with the traditional top hat and morning coat at his inaugural, taking the oath in a black suit and four-in-hand tie.

The word on what the President will wear Jan. 20 came Wednesday from his wife's press secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter. She also said the President planned to appear in dinner jacket and black tie at the four inaugural balls to be held in the capital that night.

The School Christmas Party for the boys and girls will be held at 2 p.m. Dec. 23. Each girl is to bring a gift for a girl and each boy is to bring a gift for a boy. Santa will be on hand to give out the goodies.

The Black Forest Room mothers held a meeting Dec. 1 at the Black Forest School and at that time arrangements were made for the mothers to meet at the school at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 21 to sack the candy. They are to bring their measuring cups for this get together.

A daughter was born to Spec. and Mrs. Charles McNeal Nov. 28 in Germany, where the McNeals have been for the past eight months. Mrs. McNeal is the former Rita Hatch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Hatch of 6 Clay Lane of the Black Forest and was a graduate of the Air Force Academy High School, class of 1963. They have named the baby Angela Starr McNeal. Congratulations to the parents and grandparents.

All Girl Scout Troops of the Forest will meet Dec. 15 to participate in a program on Greece. The program will be held after school in the Parish Hall of the Community Church. Brownie Troop No. 108 will perform the opening flag ceremony. Junior Troop No. 1 will present an imaginary tour of Greece and pinpoint the country on a world map. Senior Scout, Vance Mendenhall, will show the Greek flag. This flag has been paid for by the Girl Scouts of the Forest and will be presented with many other flags made by the International Friendship Patrol of Senior Troop No. 289 to the City of Colorado Springs. Junior Troop No. 279 will perform a Greek folkdance and Brownie Troop No. 109 will hold the closing for the program. Kourabiedes, Greek cookies, and grape juice will be served after the program. A special treat for the youngsters will be Santa Claus who will arrive at 1 p.m. and leave at 3 p.m. Be sure to bring the youngsters to see Santa and shop around for some of those special gifts.

Christmas vacation for the Black Forest Elementary school will begin Dec. 23 after the Christmas party and classes will resume on Jan. 4.

"Twist me and turn me and show me the elf" — this was the phrase that thrilled the new Brownie Scouts on Nov. 4 at their investiture ceremony. The 19 girls who were invested are: Roxanne Easter, Pamela Thomas, Dianne Hannasch, Kathy Heddings, Terry Mozley, Anne Arnesen, Shelly Lohse, Lynn Johnson, Barbara Hatch, Neddy Sandels, Rose Marie Chartier, Kathy Hatchcock, Pamela Mason, Cherryl Gardino, Carol Brown, Jeannie Schultz, Celeste Woodruff, Bonnie O'Day and Cindy Kimes.

Eight girls received a membership star for belonging to a Brownie Troop last year. These girls are: Jeanne Munns, Becky Harris, Deirdra Theibaud, Kathy Truett, Lisa Gaines, June Pettigrew, Jaylenne Walls, and Margaret French. The girls enjoyed gingerbreadmen cookies and punch after their investiture.

There are two Brownie Troops of 2nd and 3rd graders in the Forest this year. Leaders for Troop No. 108 are Phyllis Johnson and Bess Munns. Leaders for Troop No. 109 are Myra Woodruff and Reva Heddings. The Brownies meet on Wednesday afternoon at the Community Church and both troops are sponsored by the Women's Fellowship of the Church. The Brownies have made situpons this fall. Troop No. 108 enjoyed making miniature pumpkin pies at the home of Mrs. Munns on November 25th. The girls will make bird feeders in January.

The Pals of the Pines 4-H sewing group will meet at the home of Mrs. Bernice Paxton at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Badge work, dancing, games and songs are keeping members of Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 279 busy this winter. The troop held a candlelighting investiture and Rededication Ceremony, Nov. 10. New scouts who were invested were Terry Walker, Cindy French, Gayle Marshbank, and Mary Lou Holton. Girls who rededicated themselves to the Girl Scout Promise and laws were: Nancy Alkire, Donna Carpenter, Kathy Clark, Barbara Truett, Candy Ervin, Joan French, Jeannie Gardino, Kathy Gardino, Lucy Grier, Beth Griffin, Ruth Ann Hendricks, Christine Hidy, Janelle Rowland, Royanna Ingersoll, Vivian Leonard, Paula Lohse, Jennifer Ludeke, Kay Maris and Vonnie Colburn. These girls also received a membership star for having belonged to a girl scout troop the previous year.

Three Patrol leaders, Barbara Truett, Nancy Alkire, and Royanna Ingersoll were presented a patrol leader cord. They have chosen the pansy for their troop crest. A decorated cake, nuts and mints, and punch were served from an attractively set table. Coffee was served to the mothers attending the ceremony.

Pin cushions have been made at a troop meeting to fulfill a requirement on the "my home badge." The juniors are trying to complete this badge by January. A scouts own ceremony on the true meaning of Christmas will be held this month. A court of Awards will be held in January. The Black Forest Men's Civic Association is the troop sponsor and is helping to provide a meeting place for the troop. Leaders of Troop No. 279 are Joyce Lohse and Margie Ervin.

Planners meeting for cub scout Pack 70 will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Marlene Murphy, 40 N. Black Forest Road.

Pack meeting for the cub scouts Pack 70 will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 18 at Hardesty Hall community church building. Be sure to remind those parents to attend with you. There is a surprise in store for all.

The Home Extension Club workshop will be held at the home of Virginia Rusk, at 10 p.m. Dec. 17. Candy making will be on the agenda. If you would like to use your own recipe to make candy, please bring all the necessary items you will need and the ingredients.

The Black Forest Laundromat remodeled their shop and held a grand opening Dec. 5 with serving of coffee and doughnuts. The shop, owned and operated by Mrs. Mary J. Whale, is located on the corner of Burgess and Black Forest Road. The laundromat was first opened about a year ago with only eight pound capacity washers. The new modern machines now installed will carry up to twenty pounds. There will be eighteen machines in all, along with four large clothes dryers. This is a great help to the Foresters with the weather like it is.

Mr. Laud L. Walters, of Seguin, Texas, father of Marlene Murphy visited with his daughter Saturday and Sunday. Dinner guests of the Murphys' Saturday evening included, Mr. Walters; son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Walters of Denver; daughter in law Mrs. Elinor Walter of Colorado Springs; and the eight grandchildren.

Don't forget the gift stars for the girl scouts. They are saving gift stars to obtain camping equipment. If anyone has any gift stars they wish to donate, they may send them to Mrs. LaVonne Hidy, 81 N. Black Forest Road, or give them to a girl scout to take to her troop meeting.

Mr. Vern Hannasch of E. Shoup Road has attended the National Home Builders convention in Chicago this past week.

The Black Forest Pals of the Pines 4-H Club met Dec. 4 at the Community Church with Larry Kingery, president, presiding. Don McAllister gave a report on the County Council meeting, and the club was reminded of a Leaders meeting Dec. 28.

The project meeting schedule was given as follows: horse, 1:20 p.m. Dec. 13 at Rose's; sewing, 10 a.m. Dec. 12 at Paxton's; foods, 4:30 p.m. Dec. 9 at Knapp's; electricity, 7:30 p.m. Dec. 5 at Weaver's; leathercraft 7:30 p.m. Dec. 16 at McAllister's; forestry, 7:30 p.m. Jan. 13 at Scott's; and first aid, 4 p.m. Jan. 6 at Scott's.

The club decided in lieu of a Christmas party, they would furnish a Christmas basket for needy families, and also sing carols. The committee for this project is Larry Kingery, Don McAllister, Ricky Knapp, Jeff Rowland, Kathy Weaver and Michelle Kirchhofer. Dec. 20 is a tentative date set for caroling.

The club decided to have square dance lessons, to be held at Weavers home with the time set by Mr. Davisson as to when he can teach them. The next business meeting will be Jan. 8.

Demonstrations were given by Jeff Rowland, "Basics of Electricity;" Cynthia and David Ervin, "How to Care for a Saddle and Blanket;" Larry Kingery, "Parts of a Beef;" and Margaret Knapp, "How to Place a Pattern for a Blouse." Refreshments were served by Wayne Barton, Bryce Davis and Cynthia Ervin.

Central City Gambling Test Trial Slated

CENTRAL CITY (UPI)—Trial for three men appealing $100 fines for gambling in a test of Central City's right to legalize gambling will be held Dec. 21.

Gilpin County Judge A. Sterling Gilbert set the trial date Monday on an appeal filed by Lakewood attorney Marshall Quiat.

Gilbert fined the three men Nov. 27 for holding a dice game in an empty building in Central City Nov. 12.

The men are Monty Salisbury, Davis Vick and Robert Okey.

The men were gambling under a license issued to Robert Nye, an Indianapolis businessman who owns Nye Metals in Gilpin County.

The license was issued by the Central City Council under provisions of a territorial charter granted the historic mining town by the Territorial Legislature in 1864.

Quiat contends that Central City has a right to gamble under the city licenses issued under the territorial charter, which he said has precedence over any state laws passed after Colorado became a state.

Bizarre Kidnap Tale Featured In New Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movies about kidnaping are uncomfortable to watch, which may be why none has been very successful. "Seance on a Wet Afternoon," a bizarre kidnap tale, is not likely to win a wide audience because of this apparent distate to view children in jeopardy. But it can be recommended for those seeking a completely engrossing, if unnerving, two hours of film.

The British-made film begins with an expedition into the occult and ends with one. In between is a period of unrelieved starkness as two dispossessed individuals plot and carry out their diabolical scheme.

Their motive is clear to them, if not entirely to the audience. The idea seems to be that a passe but still practicing medium and her compliant husband figure to abduct a rich man's daughter, then help solve the crime as public proof of her ertrasensory powers.

There may be deeper meanings involved in the character interplay, but most moviegoers will have enough to do just anticipating the next turn of events. That's how engrossing the film is.

Kim Stanley makes one of her too-infrequent film appearances as the unhappy medium, and she plays it for every shade of dementia. The final trance, in which she contorts herself through childhood scenes, is the kind that makes Academy consideration imperative.

Richard Attenborough, who doubles as producer, plays the husband with such deftness and sympathy that you almost find yourself pulling for him to accomplish the job.

"The Americanization of Emily" is another disturbing film, on an intellectual rather than emotional level. It takes all the standard cliches of Hollywood war movies and maims them with cynical disdain.

Lt. Cmdr. Charlie Madison is a dog-robber, an admiral's aide who can commandeer the best steaks, booze, broads and other necessities for the smooth functioning of the high command in London before D-Day. He is also a devout coward. When called upon to become the first Navy man to die on Omaha Beach as a public relations gimmick, he naturally rebels.

Charlie has an English girlfriend named Emily, who is appalled and yet fascinated by his total lack of morals. Despite her ingrained sense of duty and honor, she falls madly in love with him.

James Garner as Charlie does his best screen work so far, playing a wider range than he has exhibited before. Julie Andrews is down-to-earth as Emily, who has such un-Poppins-like lines as "Oh, Lord, I hope I don't get pregnant," and, "I don't mind making love to a scoundrel, but I think it immoral to marry one." This one is not for kiddies.

Court Won't Rule on Desegregation Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to rule on Justice Department efforts to compel desegragation of public schools near military installations in Alabama and Mississippi.

The department appealed to the high tribunal after the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans threw out suits contending war powers could be used to prevent school boards from racially segregating children of members of the armed forces and of civilian employes of the military.

The Circuit Court stated: "No occasion can arise for the suggested unprecedented and extremely dangerous exercise of the war powers to effect the operation of the public schools of the state."

The case involved the Redstone Arsenal in Madison County, Ala.; the Keesler Air Force Base and a Veterans Administration hospital in Harrison County, Miss. school districts affected received federal "impacted area" funds because children from nearby military bases attend the public classes.

HAD OTHER INVENTIONS

First patent taken out by Thomas Alva Edison was for an electrical vote recorder. He also devised stock tickers, duplex, quadruplex and automatic telegraph systems and an electric pen, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

TURNPIKE LANDING

DENVER (UPI)—A small airplane with engine trouble landed on the busy Denver-Boulder Turnpike Saturday. Pilot Myron Porter of Denver said he lost power after taking off from the Jefferson County airport and had to land on the turnpike. Jefferson County airport and had to land on the turnpike. Danny Fox, 22, of Denver, was a passenger in the single-engine plane. The plane banked over the turnpike, flew under telephone lines, landed on the highway and taxied about 200 feet to a stop one mile west of the tollgate.

'Retired' Executive Still Finds Plenty of Projects

By JESSE BOGUE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harold D. Anderson retired about the start of this decade, from presidency of a Bluefield, W. Va., road construction firm to raise flowers.

He still is raising flowers, but he, and a number of other "retired" associates, also have raised a shopping center which is making a profit.

Anderson, 65, interrupted a full round of golf at the halfway point the other day to discuss the 27-store Cape Coral Shopping Plaza at Cape Coral, Fla., the west coast community started by Gulf American Land Corp. there.

"Primarily, we started it because we felt it was necessary," said Anderson in discussing the birth of Citizen's Mutual, the corporation which formed the shopping center.

"First, my daughter and son-in-law decided to move here and open a supermarket. But the community was growing, and a group of us had a feeling that we'd need more than just that. So Gulf American, through their attorney, helped get a group of us together.

"There were 14 in all. Most of us had been in business, but none of us had had rea sholpnone of us had had real shopping center experience. We included an importer, a retired general, a grocer, a painter, an electrician.

"We organized a corporation, at first with stock going just to the original group. But since then we have expanded the stockholders list, all among owners of Cape Coral property, and we now number about 75. The project began to get under way in July, 1960."

The venture was capitalized at $300,000.

"It has proven out," he continued, "because of the way this place has grown. If you leave for 60 days, when you come back you don't recognize it. And don't get the idea it's a 'retirement' place—it seems to me it's full of children."

Population of Cape Coral is now about 4,000, and rising. It was started on a 52,000-acre tract on the Caloosahatchee River in 1958.

"Maybe I'm retired, but that doesn't mean I've stopped working," chuckled Anderson.

COLOR-CODED WATER

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Fire plugs in Hopkinsville come in a variety of colors — red, green and yellow.

It's not the decor, but rather a code to let firemen know the size of the water main serving the hydrant.

Plugs served by large mains are green, the ones on medium size lines yellow and those on small lines are red.

Drew Pearson Wins Oil Case Damage Suit

DENVER (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Hatfield Chilson awarded Drew Pearson, Washington newspaper columnist, a $2,000 judgment today against a Fort Collins oil firm and two officials.

Pearson and four others in 1961 sued the Brack Oil Co. of Colorado Inc. and Henry B. and Leland E. Brack concerning an oil well contract for properties in Kansas and Colorado.

Under a judgment the defendants had agreed to pay Pearson a $2,000 settlement by last April 23.

Supreme Court To Rule on Case of Estes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decided today to rule on whether live television coverage of the trial of Billie Sol Estes on a charge of swindling violated his rights under the U.S. Constitution.

Estes, the Texan whose financial bubble burst with heavy losses by lending companies, appealed to the high tribunal from his conviction by a state court jury in Tyler, Tex. He was sentenced to eight years imprisonment.

The Supreme Court, in announcing it had granted Estes a hearing, said it would be restricted to the Texan's comlaint against requiring him to "submit to live television of his trial."

The announcement said the hearing will be limited to this question:

"Whether the action of the trial court, over petitioner's (Estes's) continued objection, denied him due process of law and equal protection of the laws under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, in requiring petitioner to submit to live television of his trial, and in refusing to adopt in this all-out publicity case, as a rule of trial procedure, Canon 35 of the Canons of Judicial Ethics of the American Bar Association, and instead adopting and following, over defendant's (Estes's) objection, Canon 28 of the Canons of Judicial Ethics, since approved by the judicial section of the integrated (state agency) state bar of Texas."

The antics of the yellow-headed blackbird should be familiar to parents of some teen-agers. According to the National Geographic Society's new "Song and Garden Birds of North America" — "The yellowheads sing a harsh jumble of notes ending in a rasping buzz. The songs are accompanied by twisting and writhing as if the birds were in agony."

Congressmen To Review Interest Rate Increases

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional review of the recent British and American discount rate increases was promised today by Chairman Henry S. Reuss of the House international finance subcommittee.

The Wisconsin Democrat for years has advocated an overhaul of the West's monetary system, which now assigns the major role in international payments to the dollar and the pound sterling. Reuss and other critics say the United States and Britain should not be forced periodically to adopt measures bad for their domestic economics in order to preserve their currencies' international position.

"The need for a change is more urgent than ever now," he said in an interview. "I think the events of the past few days have brought the situation home to more people and created a better climate for some action."

Fighting a worsening balance of payments, Britain boosted its interest rate. Th U.S. Federal Reserve System, fearing further dollar drains if better returns were available abroad, put into effect a smaller increase in the discount rate here. A chain of interest rate hikes began, some of which were canceled by banks after an appeal by President Johnson.

Reuss said he does not think the Federal Reserve action in this country was necessary.

"The Federal Reserve once again was looking for an excuse to hike interest rates," he said.

Similar and stronger criticism of the Federal Reserve has come in the past few days from Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, of which Reuss' group is a branch. Patman estimated the interest increases would cost Americans $10 billion a year.

Reuss said "a decent monetary system," with firmer provisions for cooperation among a number of national monetary authorities, would have protected the pound.

"When the other countries acted, the speculation against the pound was checked." he said. "But damage had already been done. Next time the others may delay even longer. But if a firm system were in existence, speculators would know in advance there was nothing to gain from attacking a currency, and all the unfortunate consequences we have seen would have been avoided."

Reuss said his subcommittee will conduct hearings on the situation soon after Congress reconvenes in January and that he also will raise the subject with U.S. fiscal officials when they appear before the Joint Economic Committee in January for the annual economic review. He is a member of this Senate-House fact-finding group.

How Children Fail

by JOHN HOLT

Copywright 1964 Pitman Publishing Co.
(Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

We agree that all children need to succeed; but do we mean the same thing? My own feeling is that success should not be quick or easy and should not come all the time. Success implies overcoming an obstacle, including, perhaps the thought in our minds that we might not succeed. It is turning, "I can't" into "I can, and I did."

We ought also to learn, beginning early, that we don't always succeed. A good batting average in baseball is .300; a good batting average in life is a great deal lower than that. Life holds many more defeats than victories for all of us. Shouldn't we get used to this early? We should learn, too, to aim higher than we think we can hit. "A man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a Heaven for?"

Of course we should protect a child, if we can, from a diet of unbroken failure. More to the point, perhaps, we should see that failure is honorable and constructive, rather than humiliating.

It is tempting to think that we can arrange the work of unsuccessful students so that they think they are succeeding most of the time. But how can we keep secret from a child what other children of his own age, in his own or other schools, are doing?

One day I talked to a class about what happens when you don't understand what is going on. We had been chatting about something or other, and everyone seemed in a relaxed frame of mind, so I said, "You know, there's something I'm curious about, and I wonder if you'd tell me." They said, "What?" I said, "What do you think, what goes through your mind, when the teacher asks you a question and you don't know the answer?"

It was a bombshell. Instantly a paralyzed silence fell on the room: Everyone stared at me with what I have learned to recognize as a tense expression. for a long time there wasn't a sound. Finally Ben, who is bolder than most, broke the tension, and also answered my question, by saying in a loud voice, "Gulp!"

He spoke for everyone. They all began to clamor, and all said the same thing, that when the teacher asked them a question and they didn't know the answer they were scared half to death. I was flabbergasted—to find this in a school which people think of as progressive; which does its best not to put pressure on little children, which does not give marks in the lower grades; which tries to keep children from feeling that they're in some kind of race.

I asked them why they felt gulpish. They said they were afraid of failing, afraid of being kept back, afraid of being called stupid, afraid of feeling themselves stupid. Stupid. Why is it such a deadly insult to these children, almost the worst thing they can think of to call each other?

Even in the kindest and gentlest of schools, children are afraid, some of them almost all the time.

(NOTE: If you would like to read all of "How Children Fail," consult your local bookseller or send $4.50 to Pitman Publishing Corp., 20 East 46 St., New York, N.Y. 10017.)

Model Boats Worth $600,000 Are Stolen

By JOHN D. MCCLAIN

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Metropolitan police, acting on an informant's tip, seized seven persons Monday and charged one with stealing scores of ornately carved model boats valued at $600,000 from a St. Louis millionaire's home.

The other six persons, four men and two women, were being held for questioning. They were not identified.

Police charged Wyson Hornburg, 31, a home-repair racketeer who had been on parole from a fraud conviction, with the theft. Only one of the 50 to 60 miniature boats — of jade, ivory, gold and silver was recovered.

Hornburg told police Monday night he "might be able to help" find the missing boats. He denied committing the burglary.

The boats were stolen Oct. 26 from glass display cases in the swanky home of Harold J. Stiers overlooking Forest Park.

Stiers, a retired contractor, directed construction of a tunnel through the Continental Divide in Colorado and once presented the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt with a lengthy handwritten book on boats.

Police said Hornburg orally admitted the theft to an officer posing as a buyer of stolen goods.

Detective Cpl. Oliver Wahl, who acted as a buyer of stolen property, said Hornburg "told me how he broke into the Stiers' place and described the theft in detail. He also told me how many (glass) cases had been broken into, why he had left behind some of the collection and what the inside of the house looked like."

Wahl's meeting with Hornburg had been set up by an informant. Detectives William Cox and James Schultz gave the informant $150 in marked bills to purchase from Hornburg two watches stolen from Stiers' home and a tape recorded.

Later, Wahl agreed to lend Hornburg $20,000 for 90 days on condition Hornburg would put up the boat collection as collateral and in that period arrange to sell it for $250,000. However, several meetings failed to materialize and police finally made the arrests after learning Hornburg had been tipped off.

Officers with search warrants went to Hornburg's home in suburban Maplewood and finally uncovered a miniature jade boat from the Stiers collection in the blower of Hornburg's furnace.

'Red Informant' Restricted in Teaching Job

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) —An alleged informant for the Soviet Union was restricted to non-teaching duties today at Cornell University as the school began an investigation of her activities.

University President James A. Perkins announced the investigation after a copyrighted story from Washington appeared in the Syracust Post-Standard claiming Russian language instructor Natalie Binestock, 28, admitted she supplied information to the Soviet Union from April, 1962, to February, 1963.

The newspaper said she filed statements with the Justice Department in October. The information allegedly involved American efforts to cause defetions among Russian stage performers visiting the United States under a cultural exchange program.

She said she had made a "mistake, a terrible mistake," according to the paper.

Boyle Is Given More Answers in Sex Dispute

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — How can you tell the sexes apart?

They have become more and more alike, as the result of the modern cult of togetherness, the campaign for equal rights, and the present passion for conformity.

Recently I listed some remaining differences between the sex that would enable a close student of the subject to tell one from the other. Since then a number of readers have sent in suggestions on other ways that the sexes are differentiated — although no one knows how long this will hold true.

Here are a few you may find helpful:

If it complains bitterly about its luck while winning in a poker game, it is a man. If it hums to itself when it is 25 cents ahead in a gin rummy game, it is a woman.

If it takes exercises to take off a pot belly, it is a middle-aged male. If it gives up desserts in order to remove weight from around the hips, it is a middle-aged female.

If it likes to burn steaks in the backyard until they turn to charcoal, it is a husband. If it has to clean up the mess afterward, it is a wife.

Does it hold an umbrella over itself? Put it down as a lady. Does it hold an umbrella over the one it is with? Mark him as a gentleman.

If it hates to remove its hat in the theater, it is feminine. If it hates to remove its hat in a crowded elevator, it is masculine.

When you see it help an old lady across the street, you can be sure it is a Boy Scout. When it rings your doorbell and asks how many boxes of cookies do you want, it is a Girl Scout.

If it frets about losing its hair, it is a man. If it frets about losing its looks, it is a woman.

If it can't remember where it left a needle, it's a wife. If it can't remember an anniversary, it's a husband.

By these signs you can usually tell a him from a her.

On the other hand, if it wears toreador pants, it may be either a young lady or a bull fighter. And if it wears skirts above the knees, it could be either a young lady or a visiting Scotsman.

Sometimes you just can't be sure. The gender of the sexes is getting more mysterious every year.

TV Show Helps Supper Club Featured Singer

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Monique Van Vooren finds that occasional, carefully selected appearances on television have a tonic effect on her career as a supper club singer and as a star in dramatic and musical stock.

Her favorite area of television exposure is panel or game programs.

"Telvision chews up material fast," she mourned." "If you are a singer playing the clubs, you can't expect the public to pay to listen to the same performance they have already seen — for nothing — on television."

On the other hand, she has found that the public likes to see in person the performers they have seen on the small screens.

"So the panel show is perfect," she continued. "The public has a chance to know you. It is painless — no material to learn, no rehearsals — and your act is still fresh for the live audience.

Financial rewards of the panel show are hardly startling by show business standards. The average professional signed for five daytime game shows usually gets $1,000 for the week's work. A one-shot guest appearance on a nighttime show pays the same amount.

The "Tonight Show" under Johnny Carson's benign reign pays the same $230 it maintained during the turbulent Jack Paar days. But Carson exposure is great for performers and they welcome invitations to appear.

The big, full dress variety shows like "Hollywood Palace" pay around $7,500 for a guest appearance, but an act with all the elaborate trimmings is required.

"It is the kind of show that does a performer some good," Miss Van Vooren explained. "They give you time to establish a mood and do something with the audience."

It cost her almost $25,000 to build an act for a Manhattan supper club engagement.

"We didn't make a cent," she said. "It went for music, arrangements, choreography, special lighting, my wardrobe — one jet dress cost $5,000 and was worth every cent. The act went well and once it was set, we used it in other clubs, But television helped open all those doors."

Maurice Chevalier, looking perhaps a little older, was back exerting his ageless charm in a delightful telephone hour on NBC Tuesday night.

He sang some of his famous songs, even did a little dancing. The show — which was live — was a dandy and full of musical contrasts, from Pete Fountain's clarinet to Stanley Holloway's music hall songs.

"That Was the Week That Was," preceding it, was in fine fresh form too. It took deadly aim on Philadelphia, Miss. and the cast of the Bobby Baker hearings, was funny on the subject of television ratings — but perhaps was a little cruel to Lynda Bird Johnson.

The oldest known apple orchard in America grows at Manzona, N.M. Originally planted in 1676, when New Mexico was Spanish territory, the orchard has 150-year-old trees that still bear fruit.

COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

How to Get Rich Via the Taxpayers

We knew it. Someone was bound to do it. And that someone turned out to be E. Joseph Cossman, who has written a book entitled, "Get Up to $50,000 in Free Government Services Every Year." Recently, a huge ad appeared in the National Observer in an effort to speed sales of this classic.

What a commentary on the times.

Sure, we've all known that if a person doesn't have any moral concepts, is a born bloodsucker, wants to nick the taxpayers every time he can, the way was open for him to do it through our boundless, scintillating, effervescent government. But now comes Mr. Cossman to get the facts organized so that you can throw away all the ethics and rules by which free enterprise operates and join forces with the politicians for dollars in your pocket right away.

To give you an idea of the depth to which Mr. Cossman goes, here's a line-up on his chapters:

1. "Uncle Sam as your business partner. Starting your own business with government help."
2. "Uncle Sam as your business adviser. Running your own business with government help."
3. "Uncle Sam as your sales promotion man. Building your business with government help."
4. "Uncle Sam as your overseas assistant. The world your oyster with government help."
5. "Uncle Sam as your idea man. Increasing your profits with government help."
6. "Uncle Sam your best customer. Selling your biggest account with government help."
7. "Uncle Sam is your boss. A lifetime job working for the government."
8. "Uncle Sam as your protector. Safeguarding your business with government help."
9. "Uncle Sam as your servant and host. Living the Good Life with government help."
10. "Uncle Sam's bargain store. A treasure of information. . . from government publications."

That just about sums it up. Here is a book calculated to turn you into a legalized thief, "with government help."

The worst of it is that there are undoubtedly hundreds of men who face difficult decisions, who find their businesses competing too keenly to be comfortable, who are fearful of the future in the world we live, who will leap at the chance of getting the government in on their side. As we have indicated before, businessmen themselves who do not understand the economics of a free market are often one of the major problems to be confronted in trying to preserve the American concepts of private property and private management of business.

There is only one bright note we can see in this particular book. If enough people "take advantage" of the government goodies as itemized by Cossman, the tax burden will become so high and prices will rise so astronomically, that the whole house of cards will come tumbling down and then we can start over.

Those of us who believe in private property, the sanctity of a man's right to manage his own affairs and to be free of government interference and help, are placed, at the moment, at a tremendous disadvantage. This does not mean we are wrong. But it does mean that moral principles become more and more important as fewer and fewer people pay attention to them.

Men like Cossman, who spend their time trying to figure out how to get into the public trough and how to encourage others to do it, are as serious a burden to this nation as a card-carrying communist. Indeed, it is just this idea of "something for nothing" via the government, that provides the lure within the Marxian dogma.

Choice and Action

Each man comes under the influence of thousands of conflicting forces, deriving from heredity, environment and other sources not yet classified. But despite these influences, each man controls his own energies and is thus fully responsible for his choices and actions.

Why Have FEPC?

The recent ruling that Motorola, Inc., in Chicago must pay $1,000 to a Negro job applicant who failed an employment examination shows something of the illogic of the do-gooders in government.

The Illinois Fair Employment Practices Commission has ruled Motorola was guilty of discrimination, but it does not say how, where or when the purported discrimination took place, or what the company did which was wrongful.

It will be remembered by readers of these columns that a hearing examiner for the state commission ruled that a company test for ability was discriminatory. He ordered the firm to discontinue using the test of ability and to hire the job applicant, Leon Myart.

But the commission overruled the hearing officer and said the fairness of the test was outside the purview of the commission. Instead, it ordered Motorola to pay Myart $1,000 for the claimed discrimination against him and the "embarrassment" he is said to have suffered.

Said the Chicago Tribune:

"If the ability test was not discriminatory, as the reversal of the examiner's findings indicates, how was Myart injured and why was the company penalized? It is impossible to make any sense of this ruling and it is inconceivable that the circuit court will uphold it on appeal.

"The main issue in this case from the beginning has been the fairness of the ability test. The hearing examiner found that it was unfair to 'culturally deprived and disadvantaged groups.' At hearings before the full commission the company presented overwhelming evidence that the test was non-discriminatory.

"By this time the case had attracted national attention and had become an issue in the debate in Congress over the fair employment section of the civil rights bill. An amendment to the bill was adopted providing that it is not an unlawful employment practice for an employer to give ability tests, provided that they have no discriminatory intent other than to disclose job suitability.

"The Illinois commission thus found itself with no possible excuse to find that the Motorola test was discriminatory or illegal. But instead of facing the issue squarely, the commission ruled that the fairness of the test was outside the purview of the commission.

"On what, then, did the commission base its ruling that Motorola had been unfair to the job applicant and must pay him $1,000? And if an allegedly discriminatory practice is outside the commission's purview, how can the commission ever decide what is discriminatory? Why have a commission?"

It seems to us the Tribune has asked an important question: "Why have a (Fair Employment Practices) commission?"

Nation's Press

A Story of Contrasts

From Ft. Lauderdale (Fla.) Daily News

There were two stories on the press wires last week that were diametrically opposite in their news content. But when they were seen together, they told the story of the difference between private enterprise and government operation.

One story related that the Federal Communications Commission had ordered Bell System telephone companies to reduce long-distance telephone rates by some $100 million annually, the biggest cut in history for that service. About 75 per cent of the new rates are to be effective Feb. 1, and the remainder on April 1.

Frederick R. Kappel, chairman of American Telephone & Telegraph Co., said the rate reductions will be "larger than we think justified at this time."

The FCC, however, blithely ignored this estimation by the head of one of the nation's most successful and profitable firms and said the cuts were made possible "by the high level of business activity and increasing efficiencies in telephone operations.

While this statement may have been intended to justify the FCC order, it also was a probably unintended tribute to the successful operation of a private enterprise, even though it is subject to federal controls in a most sensitive area, the price structure.

The other story concerned the operation of a government enterprise; one plagued by chronic difficulties and one having a government-set price structure that has been raised — not reduced — from time to time although it, too, has enjoyed "a high level of business activity."

This story concerned the U.S. Post Office Department and the disclosure by Postmaster General John Gronouski that President Johnson wants a study made of the possibility of raising some mail rates and of closing several hundred small "fourth-class" post offices.

There are the contrasts that tell a simple story: a private enterprise providing more service more efficiently being directed to cut its rates, and a government operation, also having increased demands for service, facing the prospect of having its facilities reduced further and some of its prices raised again. The estimate for fiscal 1965 is that the post office will have gross disbursements of some $5.1 billion on which it will lose about $475 million.

The President's Order also calls for a study on whether it would be cheaper for the postal department to build its own post offices rather than lease them from private businessmen. According to testimony before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, a spokesman reported the department paid about $69 million in rentals in 1962; about $90 million this year and will pay about $99 million next year. This amounts to a 43 per cent increase over a span of three years, which is a sizable figure.

Surely the President is to be commended for his directive to search for economies in the post office. It is to be hoped, however, that they will not be false economies, coming at the expense of reduction of services to the general public, or at the expense of postal personnel.

In his instructions to Gronouski, Mr. Johnson also suggested that savings might be found in reducing excessive overtime, and the postmaster general said some employes work as many as 60 hours a week. This being the case, there obviously must be somethings amiss in work schedules and personnel deployment.

Unlike most other federal agencies, the postal department is subjected to direct influence of the general public and its operations are affected by public habit and whim. Daily mail handling has its peaks and valleys and it understandably is not a simple matter to have a constant in the work force, although it should not be impossible.

Here again is a parallel to the Bell Systems. They also have their daily peak loads and slack periods and must make personnel adjustments accordingly. The telephone systems are highly automated, of course, and are not handing tangible materials, as do the postal workers. But the post offices also have been increasingly automated and mechanized.

Considering the contrast in the operations of the two enterprises, the one private and the other public, it might be suggested that the postmaster general call for some help from telephone management, and from other segments of private enterprise, to conduct the study ordered by the President.

After all, there's nothing that succeeds like success, and an agency of the federal government gave its testimony to the success of the telephone operation by saying they were doing so well they could afford to cut prices.

The Local Scene

The Dear Departed

By RUFUS L. PORTER

"An aching void," "A vacuum waiting to be filled," "An unsightly mess," "Nothing can ever take its place," "What will the tourists say?" "Colorado Springs will never be the same," "It shouldn't have been allowed!" — all these exclamations and many more of like nature will be heard over and over between now and the time when the fine new buildings will be completed in the place from which the Antlers Hotel so recently disappeared.

And the old spot certainly does look different and, for the time being, at least, the difference is not for the better. But wait until the new buildings start going up, they are going to be magnificent. Not many cities the size of Colorado Springs are going to be able to boast of anything equal to the Antlers Plaza when it is finished.

Stop in at the First National Bank and take a long look at the scaled-down models of the plaza as it will look on completion. Grand is the word for it. The tourists are going to be thrilled. So will the natives.

The Antlers Hotel served its purpose and lived out its life. For more than half a century it was the pride of the town and its fame was worldwide. Its memory will be treasured for another generation and its splendors will be told of in the histories of the region for generations to come.

True, other towns have hotels many years older than the Antlers that have lasted longer and show no evidence of dying off, even though they were not equal to the Antlers in internal richness or external beauty. But that is neither here nor there. The Antlers had ceased to attract customers in paying quantities — and they are the lifeblood of hotels. Hotels are a business and, like other businesses, they thrive on profits. It was just a happy coincidence that its location appealed to other entrepreneurs who were willing to gamble that it would prove profitable for them in another kind of business or businesses.

Great cities arise from the rubble of small towns, as the phoenix rose from its ashes, or as the Antlers Plaza will rise where the Hotel stood. Growth cannot be achieved without change. And with the population explosion to worry about, growth in business and industry is certainly to be desired. And it couldn't happen to a nicer town than Colorado Springs.

So, though we will miss the Antlers Hotel and many will mourn its passing, it is good to know that a bright future will be made brighter still by the addition to the scene of the proposed Antlers Plaza.

Many old timers say, "But I liked the Springs the way it was. It was just right before it grew too big for its britches."

I liked it then, too, and so did many others who still like it today and will go on liking it so long as it retains much of its traditional character. It was, after all, the character of the place that we had learned to love — not the physical appearance but the spiritual values.

Before we condemn growth and expansion out of hand, let's wait and see if the old place doesn't remain just as attractive spiritually as she ever was.

Colorado Springs was, and is, a "friendly" town. Ask the tourists, they will tell you she is as friendly, or more so, as she ever was. The scenery we boasted of was the natural scenery, and it's still with us. The healthful climate is healthful still. The cultural climate, though excellent in the past, has steadily improved. The only mark of distinction we no longer have is "our pure mountain water," which we were so fond of extolling some 40 years ago. Our water now tastes as "doctored up" as any other city's, which, they tell us, is all a part of progress.

Anyhow, the Antlers Hotel is dead, long live the Antlers Plaza.

DISARMAMENT

To the Editor:

In the Question Box section of the Gazette on December 7, a question was asked regarding the reason Defense Secretary McNamara closed so many military bases in 1961 and has now announced the closing of 95 more. The question was, "But what has happened to make all these facilities and people unneeded?"

Unless I am greatly mistaken, the editor does not answer these questions. All the editorials I have read have been concise and left no doubt as to meaning. I felt that the answer to this question was very unclear. My answer would have been that total disarmament "happened" to make strategic overseas bases, U.S. bases and men, weapons and everything else vital to our protection "unneeded."

The closing of all these bases has very little if anything to do with economizing. On September 25, 1961, the late President Kennedy, in a speech to the opening session of the United Nations, proposed a plan for the general and COMPLETE DISARMAMENT OF THE UNITED STATES. This speech was backed up a few days later by publication of State Department Document 7277, entitled, "Freedom from War: The United States Program for General and Complete Disarmament in a Peaceful World." Please note this does not say world disarmament, it says United States disarmament.

After the President's speech and subsequent to the issuance of this document, Congress passed Public Law 87-297 creating another agency. It was created to manage disarmament negotiations, conduct technical research in the disarmament field and to conduct a public relations campaign to "condition" (brainwash) the American people to accept disarmament.

If we will think about it, we are well into step two of this insane plan. But the whole thing is being done gradually with each step being given logical justification. This time they claim they are economizing and the majority of the people seem to believe it. If our government truthfully explained they were methodically working toward disarming us all, they would have more problems. So they give us fine reasoning that sounds logical and at the same time affords them the least problems.

Even the right to have individual firearms has been under attack. The reason for this has been given also. President Kennedy has been shot, so do away with all guns. Does this ring any bell when you think of total disarmament? Some well meaning and ill informed people are trying to have the federal firearms act amended so as to outlaw individual weapons. Or are these actually people who know exactly what they are doing?

Step three of the disarmament plan is the worst to come. We are making ourselves helpless before an organization whose majority vote is either communist or leaning so far in that direction they are in the process of toppling. Do we honestly feel that Russia or any of her satellites in the U.N. are disarming?

In a speech on January 29, 1962 Senator John Tower of Texas said: "At a time when Western civilization is confronted by an extreme militaristic threat looking forward to world conquest, I think it is naive and unrealistic to be preoccupied with the question of disarmament. We know that the communist conspiracy has no intention of co-existing with us. We know that they are bent on domination of the whole world."

Anyone interested in really seeing for themselves may write to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C., and ask for Document 7277 as described above.

MEANINGS

To the Editor:

In reply to Olive Vivian of Greeley, Colorado, who seems to be mixed up in regard to wages and profits, wages is never considered as profit. If you are in business hiring workers to help you run that business, what you gain over and above what you pay out in wages, and other overhead expenses is your profit.

If you look at your income tax report you could save yourself the trouble of writing the Gazette. There is a book called a dictionary, in which you may find the true meaning of words. Seldom will you find the true meaning in a Gazette editorial. When you file your income tax report, you don't say you paid so much profit to my employees, you say you paid so much in wages. The word exploiter is never used in referring to the wage earner, except in the Gazette propaganda page. Of course, the word profit has more meanings than one, depending on what you are trying to convey. One may profit by good advice, and here is mine. Look up the meaning of words in the dictionary, and for the meaning of isms, in the encyclopedia.

LAND TAKING

To the Editor:

I am a newcomer to Colorado Springs, but from the very first copy of the Gazette Telegraph I have liked the paper very much, also your "Open Parliament." I hope to write a few lines to you once in a while. I am not good at writing any more (never was very good) as my fingers are all crippled up by neuritis, but I believe I can contribute some things (or thoughts) for the good of the public if they wish to listen (or read) and learn.

By the enclosed clipping which I am sending, you can see I came from a part of the country which did and still does believe in "freedom" — Acton, Massachusetts, the town where "U.S. freedom was born."

One side of the clipping refers to the taking of land under government eminent domain, as "495" is an interstate highway.

I know something about government land taking as in June, 1940, I signed an option to sell some land and buildings to the government, but did not get any money until November 1943. Four years and six months, and then I did not get what I should have gotten as per agreement. I thought you would be interested in this because of the land taking at Fort Carson.

The American Way

No Royal Road

By GORDAN VAN B. KING

Proclus, a Greek philosopher and author, wrote a story about Ptolemy I, King of Egypt during the fourth century B.C., and Euclid, one of the early developers of the science of geometry, who founded a school in Alexandria and wrote the "Elements," a series of thirteen books on geometry and mathematics.

According to the story, Ptolemy heard about the books and decided he would like to know all about geometry. So he graciously invited Euclid to teach him. Who could resist such an opportunity to expound his theories and principles to the ruler of an entire nation? Euclid jumped at the chance.

ONE SHORT LESSON

At the start of the first lesson, however, Ptolemy explained that he was a very busy man and could allocate only a few minutes of his valuable time. But this would be adequate for him to learn all about the subject because he was an all-powerful king and therefore already knew almost everything worth knowing. All he needed was a concise statement, properly worded, on one sheet of papyrus, and he would understand the whole subject thoroughly. He explained that he was really very interested, and recognized the vital importance of geometry in building a better world — but he simply could not afford more time from his crowded schedule of duties.

So Euclid had the very unpleasant task of telling his ruler: "There is no royal road to geometry."

It is easy to visualize him there before the king, with his thirteen books and probably many other papers and pamphlets, ready and eager to impart the knowledge he had spent so many years in acquiring.

If only Ptolemy would allow him just one hour a day for a few weeks, the king would gain a basic grasp of the principles so that he could discuss geometry intelligently and be able to answer questions about it clearly and convincingly.

But, of course, that was too much to ask or expect from an important personage. Poor Euclid did the only thing he could do, with honesty, under those circumstances.

SALES SENSE

Why repeat this sad tale?

Just to point out how woefully inadequate Euclid was as a salesman. Perhaps if he could have shown Ptolemy the BENEFITS of understanding geometry . . . what geometry could do for HIM . . . Ptolemy might have cancelled all his other appointments and given Euclid all the time needed to expound his theories.

The moral of the story: When "selling" freedom, sell the benefits to be derived; spending as little time as possible on the evils to be corrected.

The Poor

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

While politicians make war on poverty, it might be wise for us to take a look at the poor — cause and effect, definitions and cures, if any exist, in fact. First, what is a "poor" person?

Imaginatively, we may envision a poor person in rags, dirty and starving, roaming the streets in a snow storm, soaked with rain, buffeted by high winds, peering through the windows of an eating place, lost, alone and forlorn. With the same imagination, we see Uncle Sam in all his vast omnipotence, appearing on every street corner in the nation at the same time, loaded with food, clothing and the means of providing warmth and shelter, soap and hot water and a tooth brush.

During the worst of the depression I worked 72 hours a week in a service station at a salary of $16 and my wife and I lived very well. I encountered people who wanted to charge a couple of gallons of gasoline, a man who left his car as security for the loan of $1.00 because it was cheaper to ride the street car and he was looking for a job. Our neighborhood grocer and a druggist carried so many accounts on their books as to make it difficult for them to remain in business. Oddly enough, there were a great many jobs available for people who really wanted to work and many ambitious people managed to get started in some small business enterprise which eventually made them wealthy.

Yes, there were the helpless and irresponsible poor, preferring to stand in a bread line instead of looking for any kind of work. Private and religious charitable organizations managed to take care of these people, just as private charity helps many people today.

A man was out of work. He owed his grocer a few dollars, a little to his druggist, two months' rent to his landlord—maybe $100, or $150, in all. He was poor, the situation was mighty difficult but he could become solvent in a very short period of time. Government didn't steal 20 per cent or more of his earnings and his rent was low because landlords were not plagued with confiscatory property taxes. The poor man could get well in just a few months. At the worst, his balance sheet looked something like this: Debts — $150; assets — a willingness to work.

Today, "the poor" are on welfare. They are not encouraged to find jobs by welfare workers who depend upon a large case load for their own livelihood. Welfare payments may range from $150 to $400 and more, depending upon the number of children in the family, and these doles are TAX FREE.

But, take a look at Mr. Jones, an engineer in a government-subsidized defense plant. He draws a good salary, for years he felt secure in his position. Every member of his family has a car, they live in a nice tract house complete with swimming pool and patio and he may owe a total of from $25,000 to $40,000 and on the day before pay day, he and every member of his family are flat broke. Believe me, this man and his family are precariously poor. People in this position will become poverty stricken in a hurry if the foolishly inflated economic bubble bursts, as it surely will eventually. Are these the people politicians are worrying about? Are politicians actually concerned about anything but their own political future?

Now, take a look at the poverty-stricken family with an earned income of $3,000 a year or less. Have the politicians exempted them from income taxes, social security taxes, sales taxes, taxes on taxes? You know the answer. Politicians steal what they can from the poverty stricken. Somebody has to pay for that huge raise in pay they voted for themselves and their cohorts, and the poverty stricken must pay their "fair share." Sure, many povery - stricken people without a taxable income will be forced to pay increased social security taxes this year, and there's no end to these increases in sight.

So, what's the answer? The cure rests with every individual trying to become as self-responsible and self-sufficient as possible. Us poverty-stricken folks can't afford to do business with politicians.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

ARTIE SHA WWILL VISIT TOWN FULL OF EX-WIVES

HOLLYWOOD — Artie Shaw will be here this week for the opening of "Seance On a Wet Afternoon," the film he's distributing. He has many ties in our town, but I don't believe they're very close: ex-wives Lana Turner, Betty Kern (Jerry's daughter), and Martha Kemp. Shaw also went to the altar with Nurse Margaret Allen, Ava Gardner, Kathleen Winsor (author of "Forever Amber"), Doris Dowling, and Evelyn Keyes. She's still his Mrs. What a film he could make with all these dames. Van Johnson, out from New York to play the father of a teen - ager on "Ben Casey."

Hugh O'Brian set up two $500 scholarships for acting at U.C.L.A. He'll hand out the first ones in January to a deserving sophomore and junior at the university where he was once a student.
from the bay area with Bing.

Kathy Crosby's commuting and guesting again with Bob Hope.

It was a lovely party, but when I saw Jimmy Roosevelt, Gov. Pat Brown, Sen. Pierre Salinger, and Sen. Abraham Ribicoff posing for photographs, I thought maybe the election wasn't over. Jacqueline Kennedy was the only cancellation at the dinner that raised 7.5 million dollars is a single evening for the Cedars - Sinai center. I've never seen so many generous people — 1,400 were present.

I congratulated Pierre Salinger on the $125,000 advance Doubleday gave him for his book on JFK. He said, "O, no, that's for the book. The advance was much smaller."

I told Jimmy Roosevelt I couldn't vote for him for Mayor of Los Angeles — I live in Beverly. He said, "My neighbor Corinne Griffith promised to be my campaign manager." I never know if he's kidding.

When Whitey Saul gave Al Hart a check for $15,000, his wife said, "If you kiss me, I'll give you ten more." "This is the first time I've got paid," said Al.

Emcee Bob Hope couldn't resist the crack that when Ribicoff ran for the senate he actually lived in Connecticut. Jack Benny told Mrs. Dick Van Dyke she was a naughty girl for not coming on the show he did with wives of the famous. "I was too scared," she said.

Frank Sinatra had Joey Bishop sub for him in Las Vegas so he could say a few words. The crowd was disappointed when he didn't sing. Danny Thomas did, and Benny played his violin without words. Tony Martin gave his usual exciting rendition of two numbers, and Nancy Wilson was a big hit. Johnny Green's orchestra was tops.

There wasn't time for Dean Martin, Andy Williams, Eddie Fisher, Vic Damone, and Tony Martin to sing Sammy Cahn's special Lyrics. For Jacqueline Kennedy he wrote new words to "It's a Lovely Way to Spend an Evening." When she bowed out, he did new lyrics to "Because of You" and made the audience the star. It sure was. As Hope said, "It's cheaper to be working here tonight than to be in the audience." Dinner for two cost $5,000.

"Funny Girl" closes Dec. 14 to 19 so Barbara Streisand and her husband can have a week off. Ray Stark was going to get a substitute but had so many cancellations, he gave the whole cast a holiday.

Del Webb bought the Thunderbird in Las Vegas and got Milburn "Doc" Stone and Clint Eastwood for a big celebration. They'll give away 10 mink coats, 7 Honda scooters, two 16-foot boats, and a '65 Thunderbird. About time somebody in Las Vegas started giving something back.

Ellis Island, gateway for generations of immigrants to America, soon will be a national historical site.

Robert Taft Jr. Calls for GOP Reorganization

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr. called today for reorganization of Republican party machinery but said he is not interested in becoming GOP national chairman.

Taft, defeated for the Senate last month when Ohio went overwhelmingly for President Johnson, brushed aside as "rumors" reports that some party members seeking to oust National Chairman Dean Burch may rally behind him as a possible replacement.

The Ohio congressman said in a telephone interview he has not concerned himself with the matter of the chairmanship because he feels it is much more important for Republicans to set up a continuing organization.

"We should set up a continuing party organization that gives all power centers and organizational units a part in policy formation," he said. "We can't get along just organizing the party for a presidential campaign every four years."

In this connection, Taft backed a proposal unanimously approved by GOP governors in a Denver meeting last week for formation of a policy council on which they, the National Committee, congressional leaders and others would be represented.

Burch, who faces a vote of confidence test at a Jan. 22-23 National Committee meeting, has endorsed the governors' proposal to expand the party leadership. He denied, as they indirectly charged, that he had practiced as chairman any policy of "exclusion" of party progressives.

A scheduled New York meeting today between Sen. Barry Goldwater, the defeated presidential nominee, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower may produce some suggestions for party reorganization.

Taft, who did not subscribe to some of Goldwater's views in the campaign, said he thinks differences between Republicans have been exagegrated.

"I think there is general agreement on the basic philosophy that there is real danger in continuing to build up the federal government," he said. "What differences there are about that are a matter of degree and emphasis."

But Taft said that he thinks there is one issue on which party differences cannot be compromised.

"Our party must continue to maintain a strong position on civil rights," he said. "Those who don't like that are going to have to lump it."

A continuing organization is needed, he continued, to establish a national position on the issues of the day so that candidates can be chosen in 1966 and 1968 who represent that position.

"The way things are now," he said, "a man can become a candidate and then go against the party policy."

Burch got praise Tuesday from Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, head of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, for his financial cooperation with that group and the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

Morton wrote Burch that there have been reports "indicating a lack of full cooperation between the Republican National Finance Committee and the two Capitol Hill committees."

"You and I know the facts," he said. "You inherited a situation in which a deficit existed and to your credit you finished the campaign with a deficit."

New Iron Ore Plant Dedicated in Wyoming

SUNRISE, Wyo. (AP)—A new multi-million dollar iron ore beneficiation plant at the Colorado Fuel and Iron Mine was dedicated over the weekend.

The plant was started in October by Stearns-Roger Co. of Denver. It is expected to be in operation in the middle of this month.

The new plant will process and upgrade all the ore produced in the mine and will also furnish a more uniform material for the firm's smelters at Pueblo, Colo.

Ford's Theater, the red-brick playhouse on Northwest Washington's 10th Street, is going to be outfitted as completely as possible, from presidential box, orchestra seats and box office to the simulated flickering light of gas chandeliers.

Chipita Park News

By MRS. JENNIE WYATT
684-9612

Sandy Isele, who is attending college at Trinidad, Colo., came home to be with her parents over the Thanksgiving holiday and weekend.

Funeral services were held for the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Burns at the Catholic church in Woodland Park, at 10 o'clock on Monday. The Burns family are well known in this community and our heartfelt sympathy goes out to the family.

Miss Edna Sullivan, of Garden City, Kan., spent the weekend a house guest of Mrs. Daisy Mitchell. She left by plane Monday afternoon for her home.

The library has several new books available, both for adults and children. The three new adult books are "A Song of Six Pence", by A. J. Cronin; "The fields of Noon", by Sheila Burnsford; and "The Great Gates", by Marshall Sprague. The children's books recently made available are: "The Mystery Angel", by Gean Bothwell; "The Boy Who Shook Hands With the President," by co-authors Edith Otchis and Bee Winkler; Leonard Shortall; Rabbitt Hill by Robert Lawson.

The District managers of Avon Products Inc., Frontier division, held their annual Christmas banquet in the Century Room in the Hilton Hotel in Denver, Dec. 3, at 7:30. There were forty-two managers from Colorado, Kansas, Wyoming, Montana, New Mexico, and parts of Texas present for the banquet and the two days business conference. William Anderson, Manager of the Frontier Division; Robert Brandon, District Manager, and Mason Cooper, City Manager all of the Kansas City Branch office were the hosts. At the formal dinner and party, three honored guests were presented; they were: Mrs. Caroyln McAdams, of Woodland Park; Mrs. Alice Keller, of Colorado Springs, and Mrs. Daisy Mitchell, of Chipita Park, all three retired district managers of Avon. Mrs. McAdams retired nine years ago after 21 years of service to the company, in the state of Missouri. Mrs. Keller retired three years ago and Mrs. Mitchell retired last year, both of them having served Avon in Kansas. They were each presented with a white orchid and a gift presented by Mr. Wm. Anderson on behalf of Avon in appreciation for their years of service.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harper and family, of Sylvia, Kan., who built a cabin here this summer, came for the holiday weekend here last week. The Harpers are teachers at Sylvia.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Knull, caretakers at the south watershed on Pikes Peak made their last trip down for supplies as they will be snowbound for some time. They stopped at the Donut Shop to visit with the Shores as they returned home.

Rev. Burback, who owns a cabin here and has had a pastorate in Colorado Springs, has accepted a charge at the Trinity Nazarene Church in Neosha, Kan., and will be moving there soon. He was in town Monday doing some winterizing on his cabin.

Mrs. Betty Reasonover is presently in Penrose Hospital for observation and treatment. Her room number is 1104.

Mrs. Daisy Mitchell, Mrs. Alice Keller, of Colorado Springs, and Mrs. Carolyn McAdams, who attended the Avon formal dinner and party at the Hilton Hotel in Denver, spent Thursday night at the hotel and spent Friday shopping in Denver. They were accompanied home by Miss Edna Sullivan, who was a guest of Daisy Mitchell over the weekend.

Court Will Decide In Propaganda Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule on constitutionality of a law permitting the postmaster general to destroy asserted "Communist political propaganda" from abroad unless an addressee indicates a desire to receive such mail.

The ruling was asked by Corliss Lamont, publisher, who appealed from a decision by a special three-judge federal court in New York City. The special court said the Post Office Department had delivered a copy of Peking Review to Lamont after he started his suit, and so held the case was moot, meaning there was no issue left to decide.

In the United States, the total annual fish "harvest" amounts to about five billion pounds.

Boy Will See Operation of Air Force Base

By ROBERT HOLTON

VALLEY STREAM, N.Y. (AP) — The jet-age wonders of a busy Air Force base will be felt and heard Thursday by an 11-year-old Long Island boy.

Russell Isaacson, however, will see nothing during his special tour of the military installation in Suffolk County near Southampton Beach. He has been blind since birth.

Russell was invited Tuesday to make the tour by Brig. Gen. Roy W. Nelson Jr., commander of the Air Force Weather Service with headquarters at Scott Air Base, Illinois.

In a letter, punched out in Braille — the touch language of the blind — Gen. Nelson said:

"I was most interested to read the recent Associated Press story about your fascination for weather. It is an interest I can easily understand for I have been fascinated by weather for most of my life."

The general then invited Russell and his family a — twin brother, a sister and his mother and father — to be guests of the Air Force at the Suffolk base.

"Gee, I couldn't believe it, almost," Russell said. "When they told me I was going to go to the base and sit in the jet planes and feel the controls and hear them take off, I hardly didn't believe it."

Russell and his family will be taken by special car from their home to the base where they will be guests of the base commander, Col. Francis S. Gabreski, the nation's top living war ace.

"Gosh, I can't even salute," Russell said. "But I'm not scared that the colonel and the rest of the men out there will mind. I think they'll know."

Russell will be taken to the base control tower where he will give the signal for several jet fighter planes to take off in a mock scramble to meet a mythical enemy.

He also will be given a weather instrument that had been sent more than a hundred miles into the air on a balloon to gather weather and other information.

Early last month, Russell was taught how to dial a telephone by touch. Soon after, he learned the special telephone company number for the latest weather reports.

Later, he learned that by dialing area code numbers, he could get weather data in cities as far away as Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. The result was $20 toll bill before his parents found out.

The telephone company volunteered to drop the toll charges and Russell promised to keep his calls local.

"Gosh," he said, "I was feeling pretty bad about running up those bills. Then the telephone company paid for them and I felt lots better."

"Now this comes along and I feel wonderful. I know I'll never be able to fly a plane. But how many kids can get to your big base?"

West Germany Okays Multi-Nuclear Plan

BONN (UPI)—The chief officer of West Germany's army said today he approves the Multilateral Nuclear Force (MLF) for NATO because it would tie the United States to Europe. He said Europe cannot defend itself alone.

Lt. Gen. Ulrich de Maiziere, inspector general of the German army, expressed the view in an interview with United Press International.

His view as a military man is parallel to that of the political leadership of Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

"I believe," De Maiziere said, "that the MLF has considerable military and political importance, because it would tie the United States and Europe ever closer together.

"Even a united Europe can not defend itself without the aid of the United States," he said.

"Let me put it this way," he went on. "There can be no European security without an American presence in Europe. There can be no American presence in Europe in the absence of European unity. There can be no European unity in the absence of German-French friendship."

LOCKS UNDER KEY

HAYS, Kan. (AP) — When a display of locks arrived at Forst Hays State College nobody had a key to open the case.

The exhibit of 274 locks couldn't be put on display until a key arrived from the American Federation of Artists in New York City.

McDermott Quits Government to Resume Work

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward A. McDermott is leaving the government because he feels he owes it to his family and to his profession.

To stay on longer as director of the Office of Emergency Planning would entail "considerable financial sacrifice," he said Monday night. And, he added, for a lawyer to stay away from the practice of law for four years is "detrimental."

McDermott was interviewed after he had confirmed reports that he would quit his $29,500-a-year government job at the end of the year. He will join a Washington law firm — Hogan and Hartson, it was learned from other sources.

McDermott took leave from his Dubuque, Iowa, firm — O'Connor, Thomas, McDermott, Wright — in early 1961 to take part in a Civil Defense study ordered by President John F. Kennedy.

It resulted in transfer of Civil Defense operations to the Pentagon and creation of the Office of Emergency Planning to handle non-military preparedness programs and, among other things, look after the national stockpile of strategic materials.

McDermott, who had been deputy director of the Office of Civil Defense, was named director of the Office of Emergency Planning by Kennedy in early 1962. His job since then has been to prepare for the ultimate disaster, nuclear war.

A young man with a growing family — he is 44 and has four children, 11 to 17 — McDermott says it was a "great opportunity and a great privilege to serve" the late president and his successor, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Now, he says, personal considerations dictate that he leave. He is going out as he came in, working 10- and 11-hour days.

Not the shirt-sleeve type, this meticulously dressed 6-footer bosses a staff of 300, of whom 100 are deployed in eight regional offices around the country. He operates from the Executive Office Building Annex that overlooks the White House.

McDermott probably is as well known in Alaska as he is in Washington or in Dubuque, having made six trips to the state since a disastrous earthquake struck last March.

Last Thursday was "Edward A. McDermott Day" in Alaska, and about 500 Alaskans honored him with a testimonial dinner in Anchorage. He was in Alaska to check on reconstruction projects under way and to review contracts that await spring building.

Operation of the federal disaster assistance program is a major responsibility of McDermott's office.

He also is proud that in his administration Washington extended to the states "for the first time in history" the capability to assume the responsibilities that might have to be taken after nuclear attack: allocation of resources, food rationing, rent control and the like.

McDermott, his wife Naola, their children and a boxer named Shamrock live in a five-story brick Colonial house in suburban Maryland.

He remembers Dubuque as "attractive and pleasant," but is happy to remain in Washington because of its "cultural opportunities."

Oil Shale Land Suit Described Premature

DENVER (AP)—Government attorneys argued in U.S. District Court today that a suit involving claims to 12,000 acres of oil shale lands in Western Colorado was premature.

The contention was made in the government's answer to a suit filed by the Oil Shale Corp and Energy Resources Technology Land, Inc., of New York.

U. S. Dist. Judge William E. Doyle refused last month to dismiss the suit.

The companies attacked in their suit an Interior Department decision barring patent applications for the 12,000 acres.

The government's brief said proceedings by the department questioning the validity of some of the companies' claims are still pending.

The government also argued that claims referred to in the suit, located in 1920 or earlier, was held void in 1930 and 1931, and that the companies never before have challenged the decision.

BOMBAY — India plans to make the import of farm machinery easier.

Income Tax Is Collected More Rapidly

DENVER (AP) — The state of Colorado is collecting income tax more rapidly than it did last year, but Revenue Director Hugh Weed Jr. says he is worried that a lot of it may have to be given back next spring.

Weed reported today that net cash collections for the five months staring July 1 and ending Nov. 30 were $35,164,141 compared with $33,025,449 for the same period a year ago.

The increase this year is 6.4 per cent, about what state of-said.
ficials had estimated, Weed

Approximately $1.9 million of the increase comes from higher payments under the witholding provisions, he noted.

The revenue chief said many workers have decided their federal withholding may not be enough to cover their entire federal tax liability and are dropping the number of exemptions. This has the effect of increasing the amount of federal tax withheld, thereby helping avoid any supplemental payment next spring.

However, Weed pointed out, this also means that the state withholding on the individual is increased. As a result, he said, large refunds may be due the tax payer from the state when he files his return next April 15.

"We can't tell yet what the taxpayer's actual liability will be," Weed said.

He also reports November collections of sales and use tax and the ton mile tax on trucks increased over the same month a year ago but noted a drop in motor fuel tax collections. Cigarette tax collections also showed a leveling off from October.

November sale and use tax collections totaled $4,908,475, a 7 per cent increase over the $4,589,350 collected in the same month a year ago. For the first five months of the current fiscal year sales tax collections totaled $27,040,283, up 6.5p er cent from the same months of 1963 when $25,383,783 was paid.

Collections are running slightly higher than anticipated when estimates were made up," Weed said. He reported a 5 per cent increase had been predicted.

Motor fuel tax collections for November were $3,471,653, down from $3,789,480 in November last year. For the first five months of the fiscal year, however, they show a 3.5 per cent increase totaling $20,705,046 compared with $20,009,771.

Ton mile tax collections for November, paid by trucks, were $740,433 up from $699,014 in November, 1963. For the five months of the fiscal year ton mile taxes paid total $3,944,884 a 3.8 per cent increase over the $3,801,190 paid in the same months last year.

Cigarette tax collections for November amounted to $548,026 bringing the total collections to $3,150,823 since the 3-cent-a-package levy became effective July 1. Weed said he thinks the stocking up effect noted when the tax was started no longer is a factor in the payments. He suggested that the November payments are probably lower than the monthly average will be for the year because November is one of the less active business months. Weed said the state is substantially ahead of the $6 million a year which legislators are counting on the tax to raise.

Ruling for Hughes Set Aside by Court

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today set aside an administrative ruling that would have permitted industrialist - financier Howard Hughes to resume control of Trans World Airlines (TWA).

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) had said Hughes could resume control of TWA if the Hughes Tool Co. would divest itself of control over Northeast Airlines.

The court decision said in part:

"On the principal issue we hold that the board (the CAB) should have held a hearing before issuing its order that that the declaratory ruling was an abuse of the board's discretionary power."

It remanded the case to the board for "action not inconsistent with this decision.

The CAB order resulted from a motion by Hughes Tool Co. for its acquisition of TWA sinking fund notes of $92.8 million from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

Horse Population Of U.S. Is Rising

DENVER (AP)—The United States' horse population is rising. It is estimated there are now seven million horses in this country, compared to about three million during World War II.

The estimate was made by an official of the American Associatin of Equine Practitioners, a veterinarians' organization, opening its three-day convention today.

Dr. William McGee, association president from Lexington, Ky., in a region noted for its thoroughbred farms, said one big problem is to keep the country's racetracks supplied, with sound horses.

Office Christmas Party In Danger of Extinction

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The office Christmas party today is in about the same plight as the whooping crane.

It isn't extinct — but it's in danger of becoming so.

Many young people aged 25 to 30 have never seen a real old-fashioned office Christmas party.

"What were they really like?" they ask curiously about this time of year. "Were they really as wild as the old-timers say they were?"

That depends. The memories of the survivors of office Christmas parties are as undependable as those of the veterans of any other war, and a tendency to gory up the picture develops as the years pass.

Actually, in the old days — say a quarter of a century ago — many office Christmas parties were so sedate that not one member of the staff wound up with a black eye or broken bone. You might not even have had to call the cops.

But the classic, old-fashioned office Christmas celebration — at least as it is fondly recalled by many — was somewhere in between a Roman orgy, a Sioux scalping raid, and the attack on the Bastille.

Some, or all, of the following events might happen:

Somebody fulfilled the dream of a lifetime and put gin in the office water cooler.

At least 15 employes went up to the boss and told him what they really thought of him — and the boss made a mental note to start off the New Year by giving 15 merit decreases in pay.

In attempts to break up one fist fight, four more would start.

Six middle-aged married men suffered ankle sprains chasing the girls from the stenographic pool from desktop to desktop.

By 10 p.m. — the party was supposed to end by 7 o'clock — the place looked like it had been hit by a hurricane, and the office boy was sent out for four more bottles.

By midnight, the boss was wearing mistletoe in his hair, had his arm around the janitor and was promoting him to exective assistant .

At least five husbands didn't get home until Christmas morning.

One fellow had to be dissuaded from trying to cool off by hanging from the windowsill by his fingertips.

Another fellow wouldn't be heard of until the third of January. Then a telegram would arrive from Montreal or Rio de Janeiro saying: "Where am I? Please send money."

The old-fashioned office Christmas party served many useful purposes in its heyday.

It gave the indoor peasants one day on which to blow off 364 days of accumulated steam. It enabled the boss to find out who really loved him for himself, and who merely gave him lip service the rest of the year. It made the girls feel more like girls and less like typewriting robots.

The question arises then as to why these annual staff frolics have practically died out.

Some say it was because of the objections made by wives. Some say it was because of a growing tendency by employes to file suits against management for injuries and other mishaps suffered at the parties or on the way home afterward.

But others find a simpler explanation for the doom of the old-fashioned office Christmas party: the younger generation just doesn't have the stamina to endure them, and the older generation doesn't have the strength left to enjoy them properly.

Ellender Will Oppose New Farm Proposals

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee today served notice he will oppose much of the new farm legislation the Johnson administration is expected to sponsor in 1965.

Ellender said he "agrees wholeheartedly that government interference in agriculture should be kept to a minimum. But if the government is called on to support the price of any agricultural commodity, then the government should be protected from excessive costs."

Ellender added, however, that he thinks the administration's current wheat program is working well and will be continued. He said Congress will make a broad review of all farm programs in 1965 since many major crop programs are scheduled to expire next year.

The Senate farm leader spoke here to the 46th annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF).

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton,, a contender for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, took his own turn at laying down an outline for national farm policy in another speech to the convention today.

Scranton called for a gradual movement away from government controls in agriculture, but added this does not mean overnight cancellation of all farm price supports. "The thing to do is to avoid further controls and gradually begin to remove government activity over . . .a long period of time," he said.

Girl Decides to Go Back to Poland

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A girl's love for her mother and father has triumphed over that for her adopted land.

Henia Wysocki, 13, who ran away rather than return to Poland with her parents, has decided to join them.

The pretty, flaxen-haired seventh-grader left Hartford by train Sunday for Quebec. On Tuesday she'll sail alone on the Polish liner Batory to be with her parents in a Warsaw suburb by Christmas.

The Bartory is the same ship that took her distraught parents — Leon, 43, and Jadwiga, 40 — back to Poland Nov. 13.

Wysocki spent two sleepless days looking for the girl after she disappeared Nov. 11 from their home.

She is the Wysockis' only child. Two younger brothers died of illness in Poland before the family came here in late 1961.

With $2,000 invested in ship tickets, the Wysockis finally decided to sail as scheduled and leave Henia's welfare in the hands of relatives.

Afternoon TV Schedule to Be Shaken Up

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The dust kicked up by Monday's new national Nielsen report had not even begun to settle when ABC announced a plan to shakeup its weekday afternoon schedule starting Dec. 28.

In the process of reshuffling its time spots and, adding a new soap opera called "Flame in the Wind," plus what are euphemistically called "seelcted re-runs" of old "Donna Reed Shows," two game shows will be removed.

Both are out of the prolific Goodson-Todman packaging shop, but neither has been an outstanding hit: "Get the Message" and "Missing Links."

The past few months have not proved particularly propitious for the game and panel shows, which were in such network vogue a short time back.

NBC recently knocked out Merv Griffin's "Word for Word," while ABC abandoned the evening edition of "The Price Is Right."

"Password," a very healthy CBS daytime show, has become something of a ratings invalid in its Thursday night spot opposite the extremely popular "Bewitched" on ABC.

There was a time when it seemed that all of daytime television was preoccupied with variations of parlor games, played for prizes. But since the big success of ABC's twice-weekly, evening soap opera, "Peyton Place," all networks have been looking at that traditional weary form of housewife diversion with renewed interest.

Television's method of measuring the size of its audience by using estimates by the A. C. Nielsen research organization is often criticized, but after Monday's excitement inside the theree networks there can be little doubt that the findings are accepted as valid. At any rate, all three seemed relieved to find that, in Nielsen's eyes, they were practically tied for audience favor.

Some new programs, however, received disappointing ratings in the report, among them NBC's "The Rogues" and "Man from U.N.C.L.E.," CBS' "Slattery's People," "The Reporter" and "The Entertainers," and ABC's "12 O'Clock High," "Bing Crosby Show" and "Valentine's Day."

Not one of them reached an 18 rating, the magic minimum figure to be considered on moderately safe ground for a renewal next season.

PARLEZ-VOUS LIONEZE?

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Noah would have wished that this had come sooner.

Rangers of South Africa's Kruger Park game reserve are learning to speak Lionese, some Zebra, and — for advanced students — Hippopotamish.

The rangers are taking small tape recorders into the bush to study what animals say to each other and how and when.

If the new scheme is successful, a version of the ultrasensitive machine will be used to send out sounds which, for instance, will draw lions away from water holes so that a timid gazelle can come along and have one for the road in safety.

The rangers have already had an SOS from Salisbury, Rhodesia, airport officials. The storks, not scared of the aircraft, share the runways with them. So the airport has asked the Kruger Park rangers for a guaranteed noise that will tell the storks that they definitely are not wanted.
